The Pursuit of Excellence

Finding your direction in life.

The Modern Olympic Games bring together thousands of young people from different nations, of diverse cultures and different political environments to live, practice and compete together. It's a great thrill to be there on opening day, to see the athletes march into the stadium and come together, waiting for the final relay runner to carry in the Olympic flame that will burn steadily throughout the games.

Los Angeles has the privilege of hosting the 1984 Summer Olympic Games. A chance to host the games in your own country is rare, but to have them in your own area is even rarer.

We felt it only proper that we dedicate our 1984 Escena to the Olympics and to the Pursuit of Excellence.

The paths to excellence in our education have taken many different directions. They have led us to the self-discipline needed to sit down and write a twenty-page term paper. They have taught us to be loyal and caring toward our friends. And they have showed us the dedication needed to devote long hours on the tennis courts, football field or swimming pool, working toward our personal goals.

But, in the end, it wasn't so much the rewards that made everything worth the time and effort, it was the feeling of satisfaction we got, knowing we had done the very best we could. After all, that is the first step needed toward the direction of excellence.

Our Memories Are Worth a Gold Medal.

If there is one thing most of us will remember about our high school years, it will be the fun-loving and carefree adventures we experienced with our closest friends.

Those memorable times were what made the difference on those wearisome days when we thought we wouldn't make it through one more class.

As junior high rivals from Santiago and McPherson, we were united together as one class. Getting to know each other was an education in itself. But by the end of the year, most of us could not even remember who came from either school.

Now we can look back on El Modena with appreciative eyes and toward the future with the confidence and knowledge high school has given us.

The directions many of us choose will be diverse and challenging and leading, we hope, to a happy and successful life.

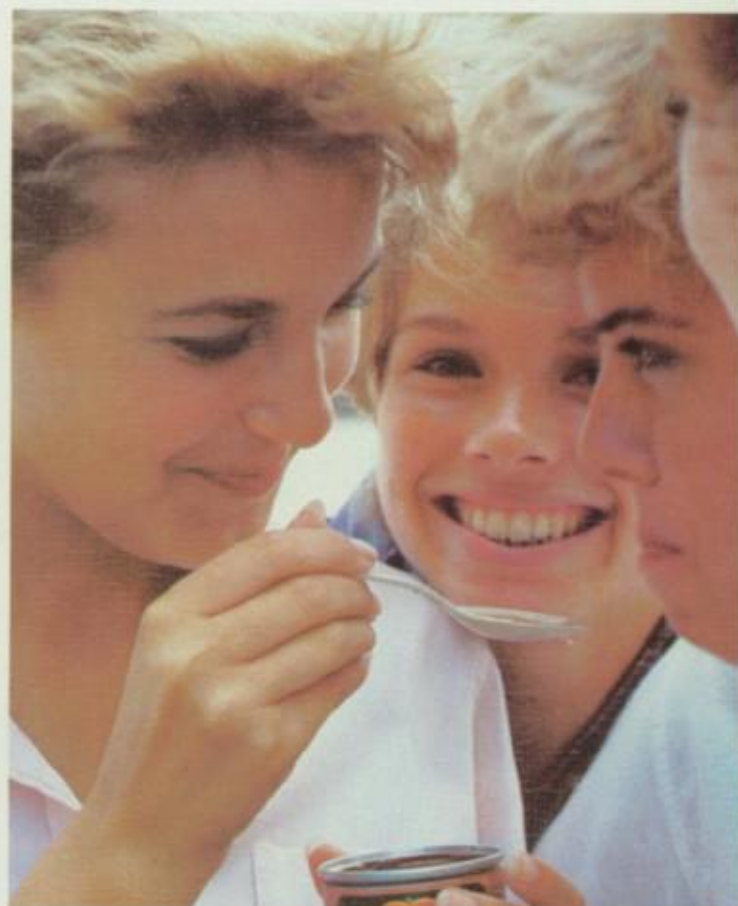

El Mo Locals, alias the varsity cheerleaders, soak up a few rays on Beach Day.

Knowing they need energy for the Canyon game, Peter Pallad and Rod Corn chow down during lunchtime in the Quad.

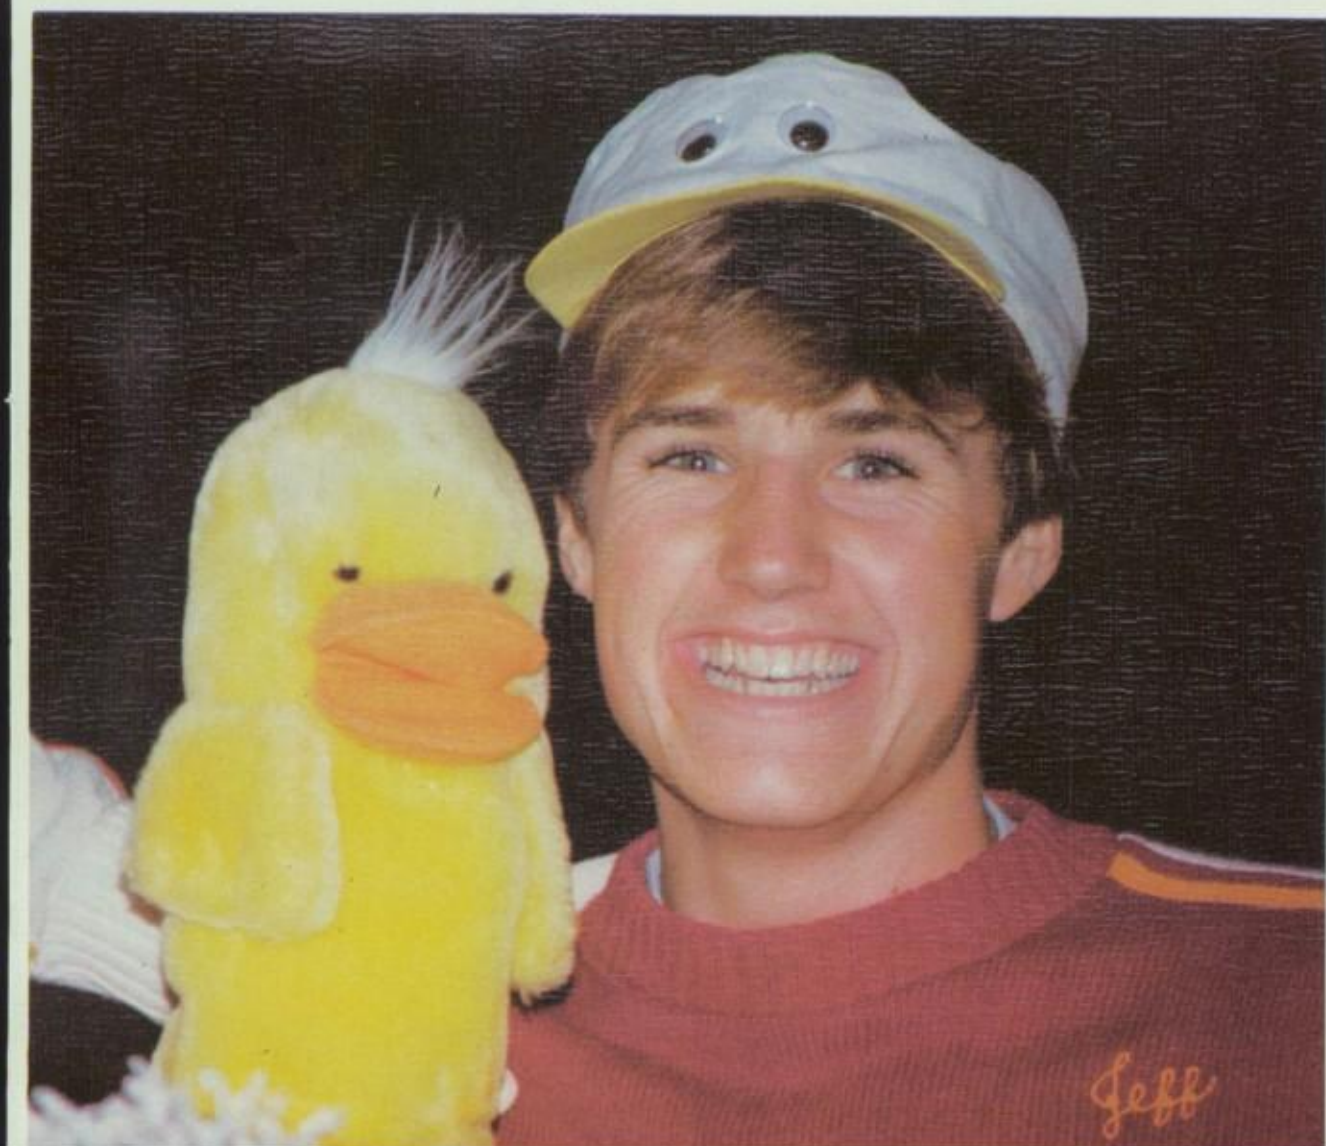

Umbrella and inner tube in hand, Michelle Thomas and Lori Whitney kick up their heels in honor of Beach Day.

Sharing her pudding with friends is part of lunch for Mary Nicolosi.

Mascot Jeff Read and a fine-feathered friend show the cheering section that the "Quack is back."

The Santa Ana mountains provide a beautiful background for the campus.

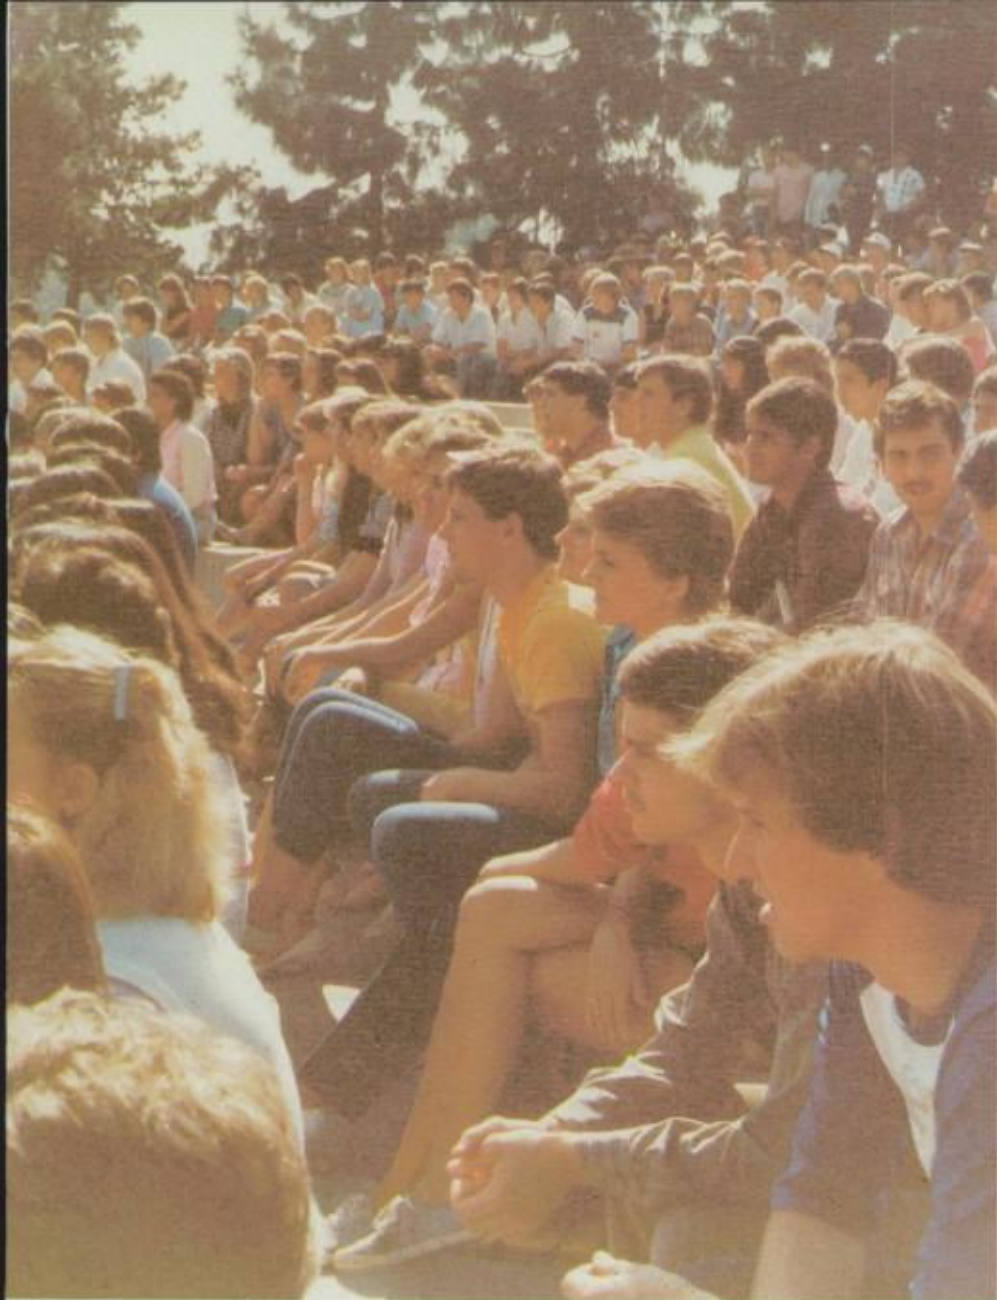

Attentive Seniors keep an eye on the action during the Spirit Week Assembly.

The sun rises on the parking lot as students arrive at school.

Crowded locker hallways create quite a traffic jam for students in a hurry.

The SLALOM Race

Crowded hallways keep students on their toes.

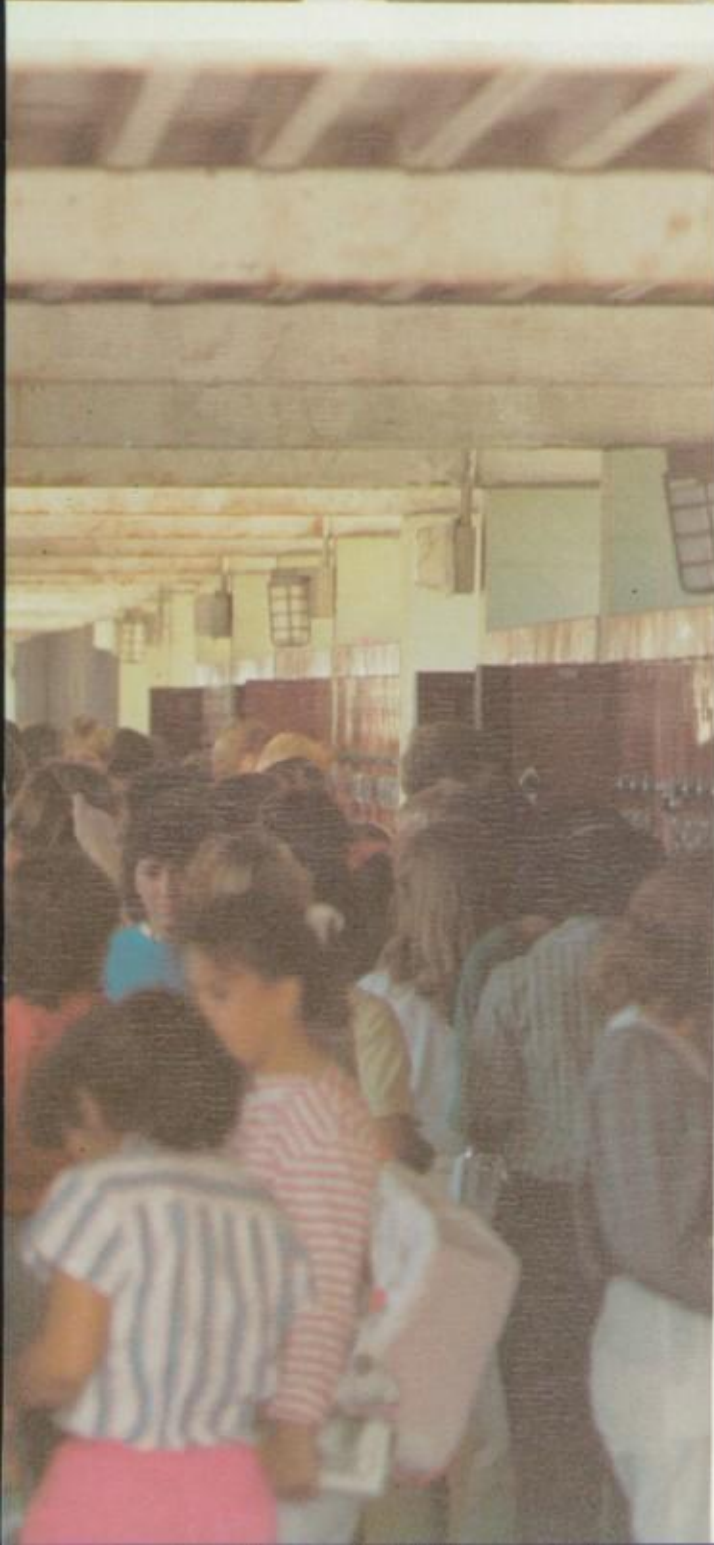

As the ear-piercing and by-now familiar bell signaled the end of the first period, empty hallways and lonely steps suddenly overflowed with half-awake students and teachers.

We all had one goal in mind: to get to our lockers and exchange books or folders, hoping there would be time to swap "hellos" with friends and make it to the next class without a second to spare.

But somehow, there always seemed to be hordes of people talking directly in front of our locker or the book we desperately needed was missing, having been taken home by the friend with whom we shared lockers.

Conquering the hindrance of crowded hallways and parking lots proved quite a challenge to those of us who could not afford one more tardy.

Many of us became remarkably skillful at dodging the varsity linebacker and zipping around gatherings of giggly girls. We would make it to class just in time, staying one step ahead of that dreaded tardy bell.

The eight-to-three school day at El Mo was certainly deceptive! School activities and homework continued long after the last bell of the day had rung. Students spent many hours after school and sometimes whole weekends typing term papers, studying for tests or just keeping up with day-to-day assignments.

Classes such as metal shop and auto shop or bookkeeping provided students with vocational training. The Regional Occupational Program and Work Experience allowed students to explore career fields by on-the-job training while obtaining class credit.

College-bound students were scheduled into college-preparatory courses. In addition to regular academic classes. Advanced placement courses gave gifted high school students the opportunity to earn college credit while still attending El Modena in the following areas: English, history, biology and calculus.

When the school year was over, when the last exam had been taken and the last paper typed, it was time to relax — but not for long. For all but the graduating seniors it starts all over again, soon enough.

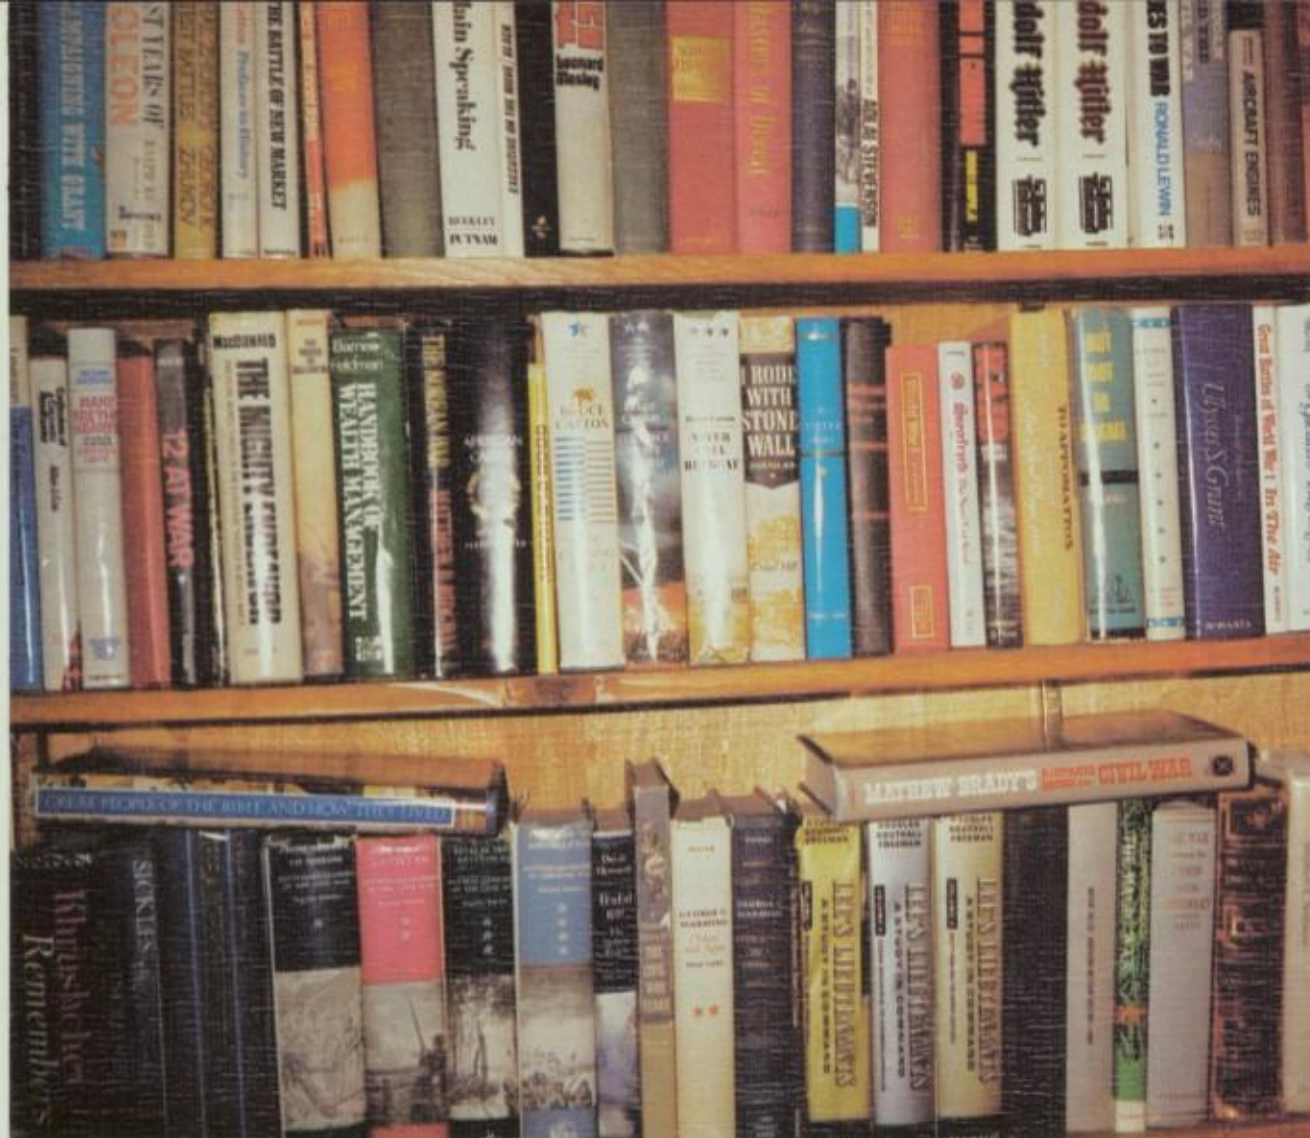

El Modena Lights the Torch of Excellence to Academics

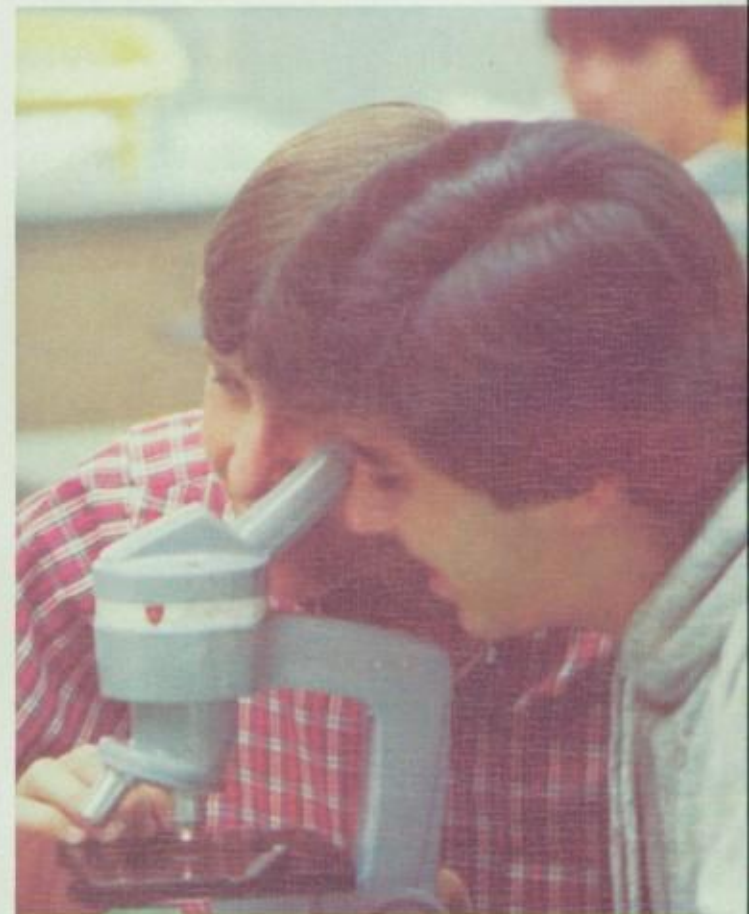

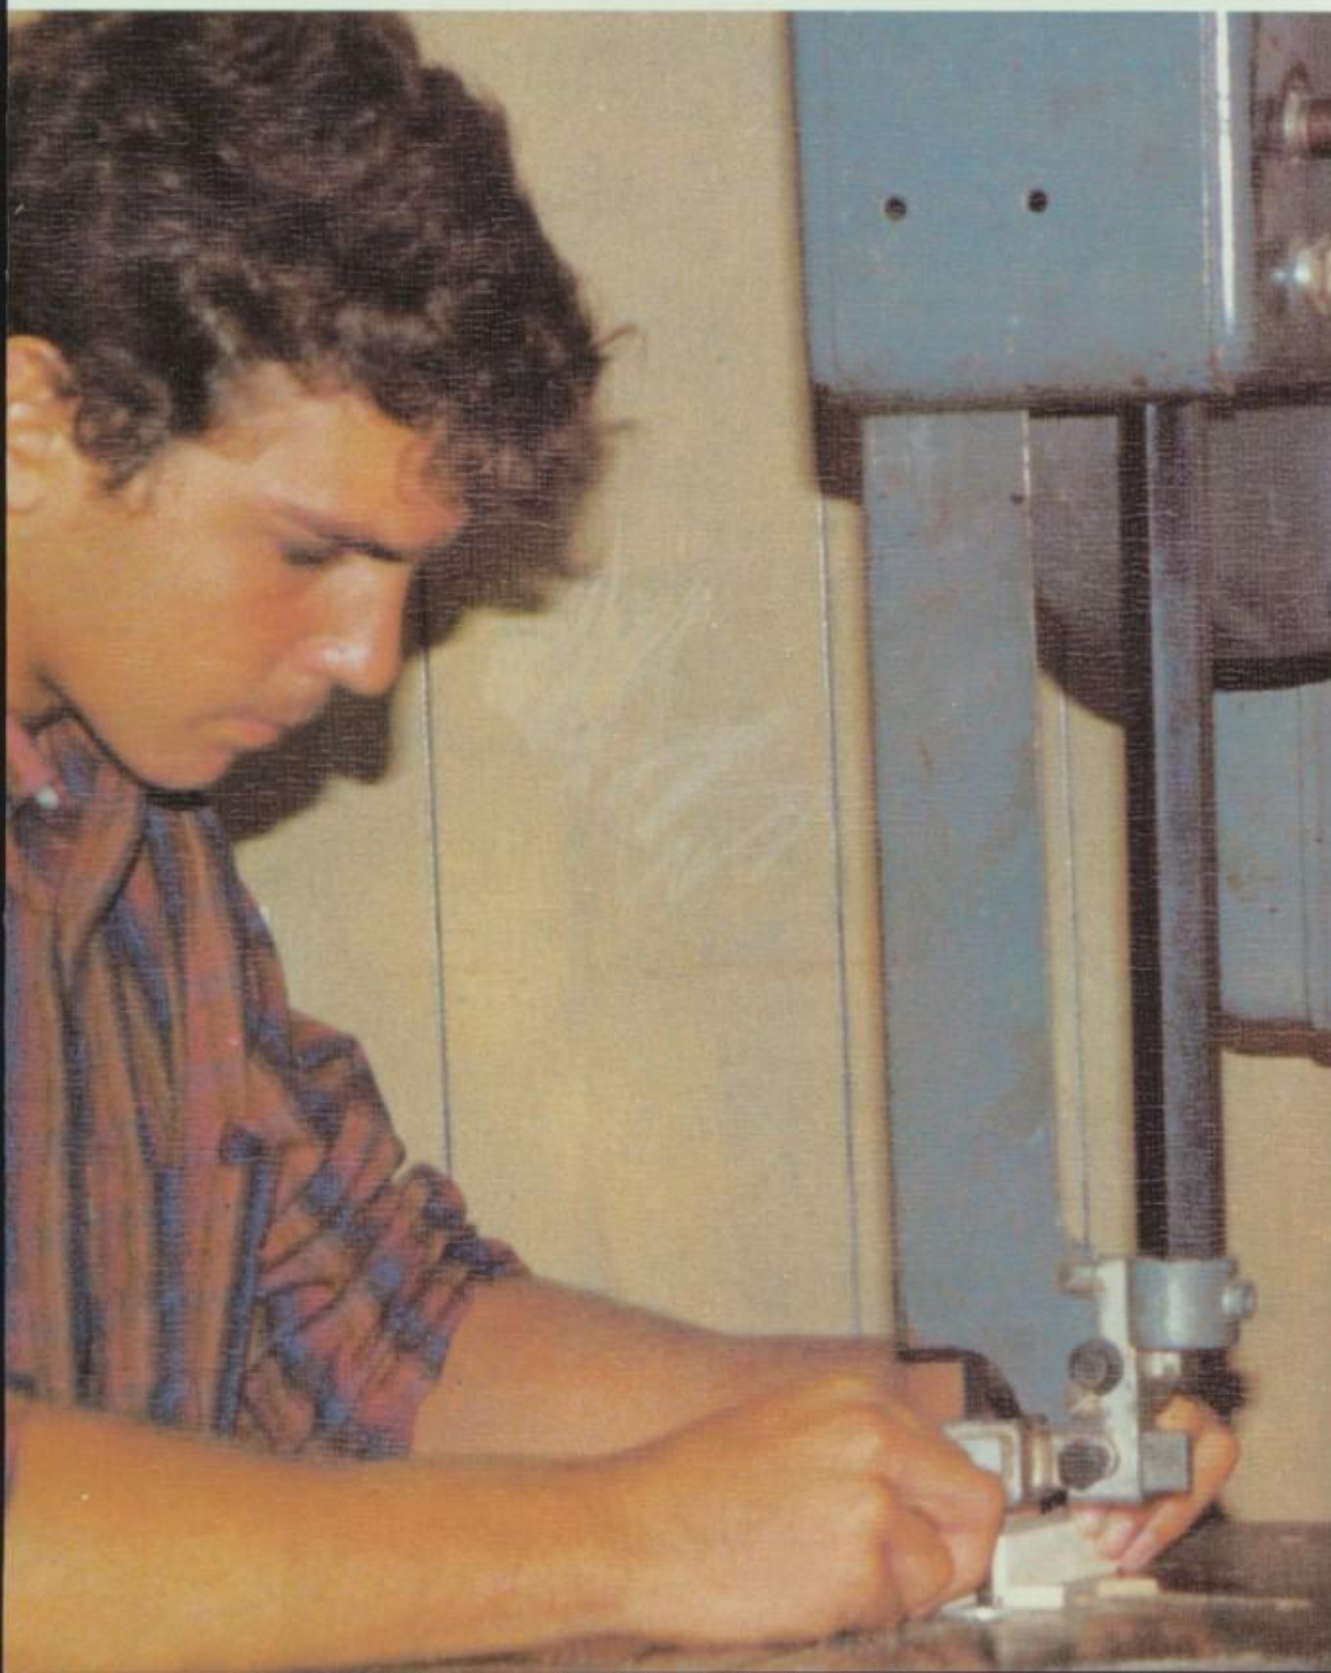

Escena Editor Suzanne Christensen discusses plans for the yearbook with friends.

Library books provide invaluable help to students.

With one eye open and one eye shut, Randy Haynes and Dave Logsdon peer through a Microscope.

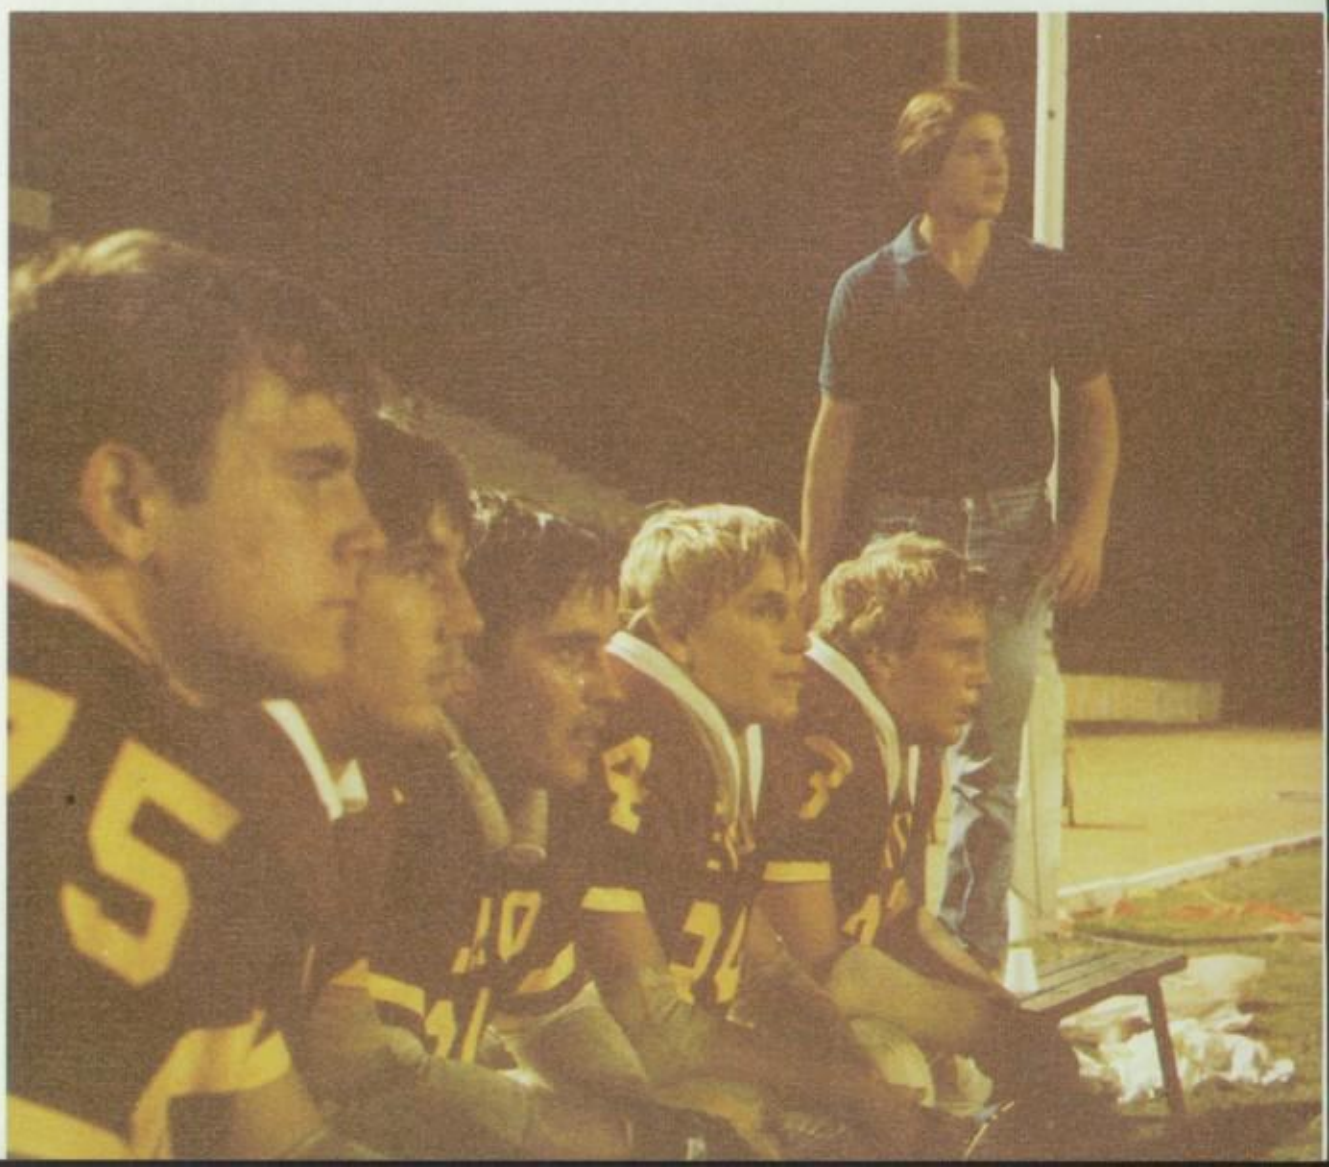

Using his wood shop skills, Pepe Jezek concentrates on perfecting his craft.

On the sidelines, Coach Lester watches intently as the Vikings rack up another touchdown.

An apprehensive mood settles over the El Mo bench as players keep an eye on Canyon.

The Thrill of Victory, the Agony of Defeat

Sports participation provides a challenge to students.

Although most of us will never make the Olympic team, we can still appreciate the elation a person feels when he has won an exhausting game or the let-down after losing, knowing he gave it his best shot.

At El Modena, we had many outstanding athletes putting themselves to the test against the tough Century League.

Working with our coaches and supporting our teammates gave us a feeling of involvement and satisfaction that was hard to match. After finishing a grueling workout under the hot sun, playing in pain or not feeling our best, many times we would ask ourselves, "Why do we do this to ourselves?" To most of our athletes the answer would be a unanimous yes! Because even though winning isn't everything, it still counts for something!

Clashing with the Knights from Foothill, Ed Modena comes away victorious.

With powerful wrist action, Kristi Bistirlich cuts loose her secret weapon.

Swifter, Stronger Higher!

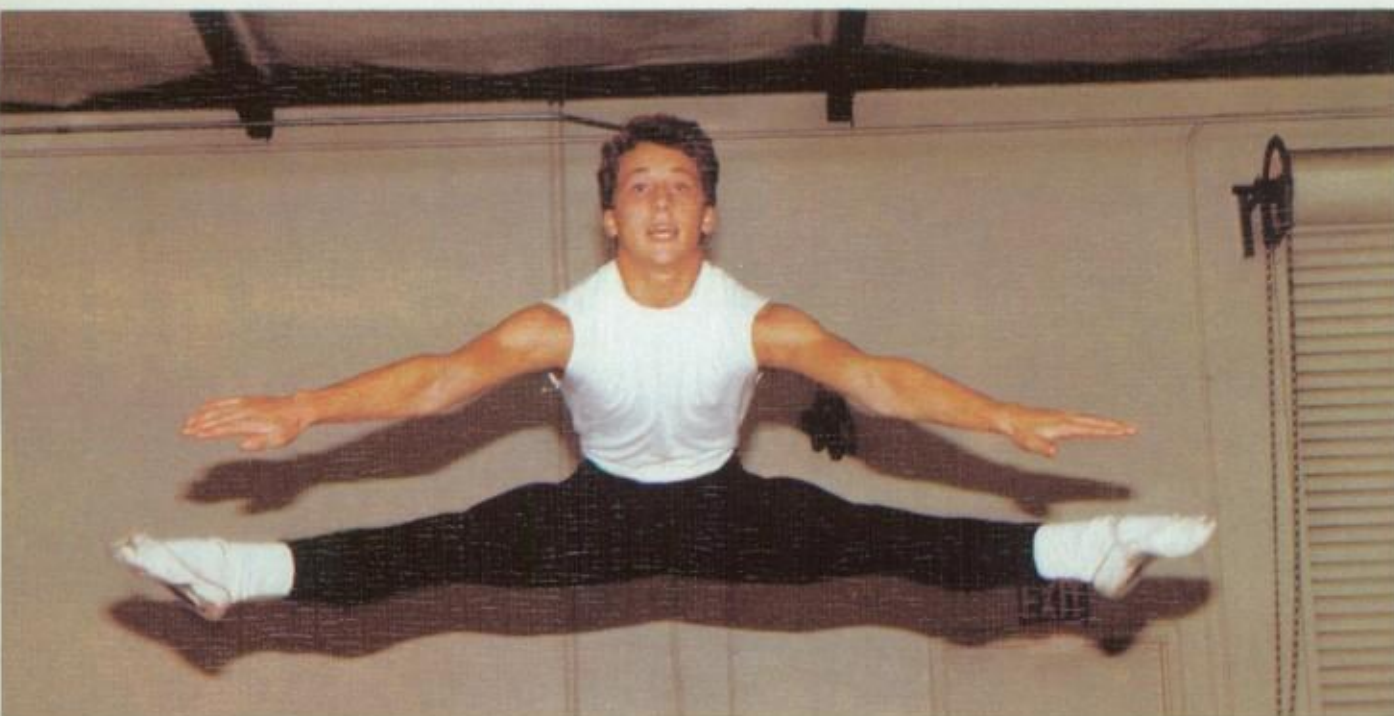

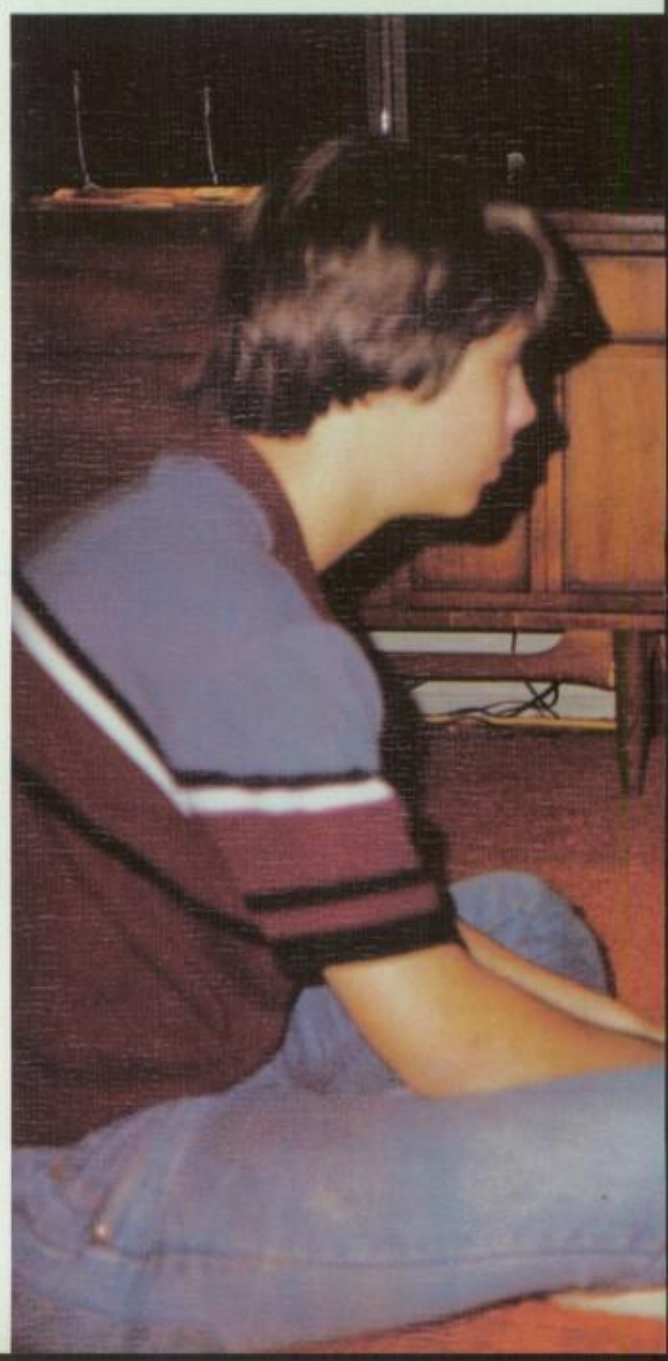

— The Olympic Motto

“The important thing in the Olympic Games is not to win but to take part, the important thing in life is not the triumph but the struggle. The essential thing is not to have conquered but to have fought well. To spread these precepts is to build up a stronger and more valiant and, above all, more scrupulous and more generous humanity.”

Leaping toward a gold medal was Fred Kelly's goal in the 110 hurdles during the 1912 Olympics.

Many of Fred Kelly's trophies and awards are on display at Orange High, where he graduated. Fred Kelly won a gold medal in the 110 hurdles at the 1912 Olympics held in Stockholm, Sweden.

Fred Kelly: (1891-1974)

Orange student was Southern California's first gold medalist.

Fred Warren Kelly was brought up in the neighborhood where our school is located. He attended El Modena Grammar school and graduated from Orange Union High School, the only secondary school in the district in 1911. While a student, he brought many athletic honors to Orange High, particularly in track-and-field competition.

Following his senior year in 1912, as a freshmen at USC, Kelly won his gold medal in the Olympic Games at Stockholm, Sweden, his event being the high hurdles. He earned the gold medal winning the 110-meter event, in 15.1 seconds. He scored in both sprints, hurdles, the broad jump and shot-put. He also captained the USC track team in his senior year and also played football.

During World War I, Kelly entered the service as an Army Air Force flier and after the war made his career aviation. He flew the first air mail plane in the West as the first pilot for Western Airlines, the nation's oldest airline.

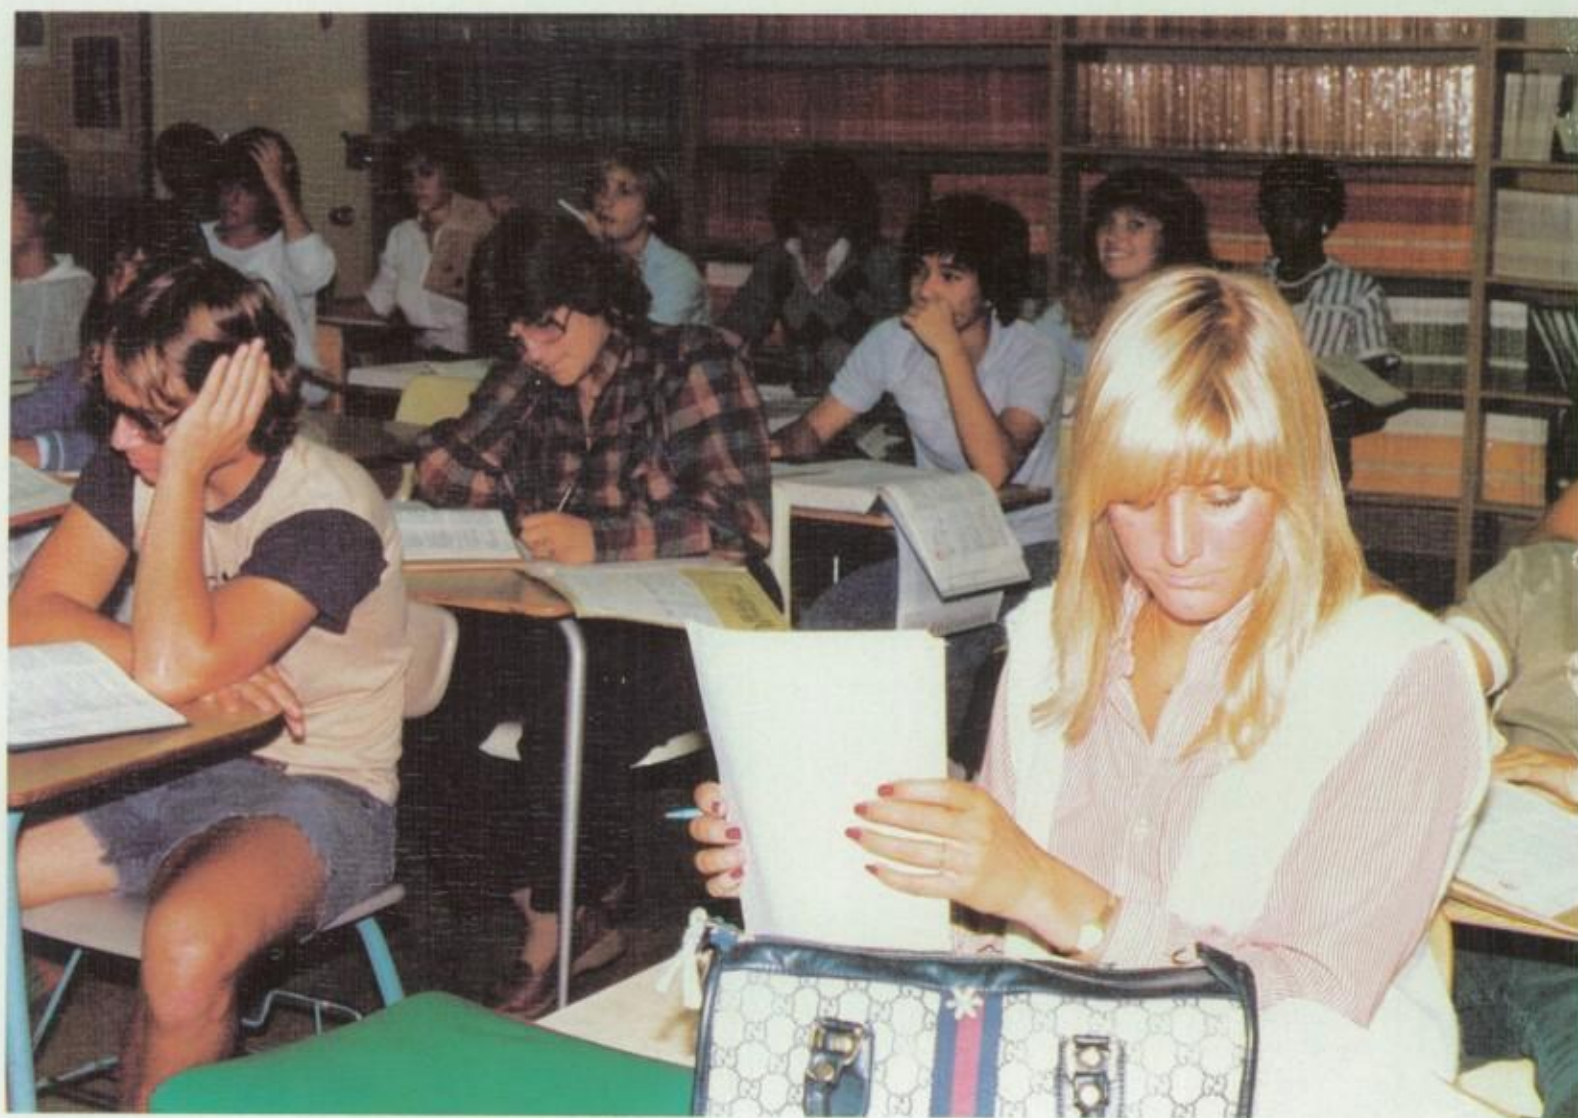

Fred Kelly died in 1974 while living in Applegate, Oregon. Naturally, he acquired many medals and trophies during his athletic career. His entire collection is on display at Orange High School.

To honor our local hero, the Orange Unified School District named its football stadium after Fred Kelly.

Principal Dokos Strives for Excellence

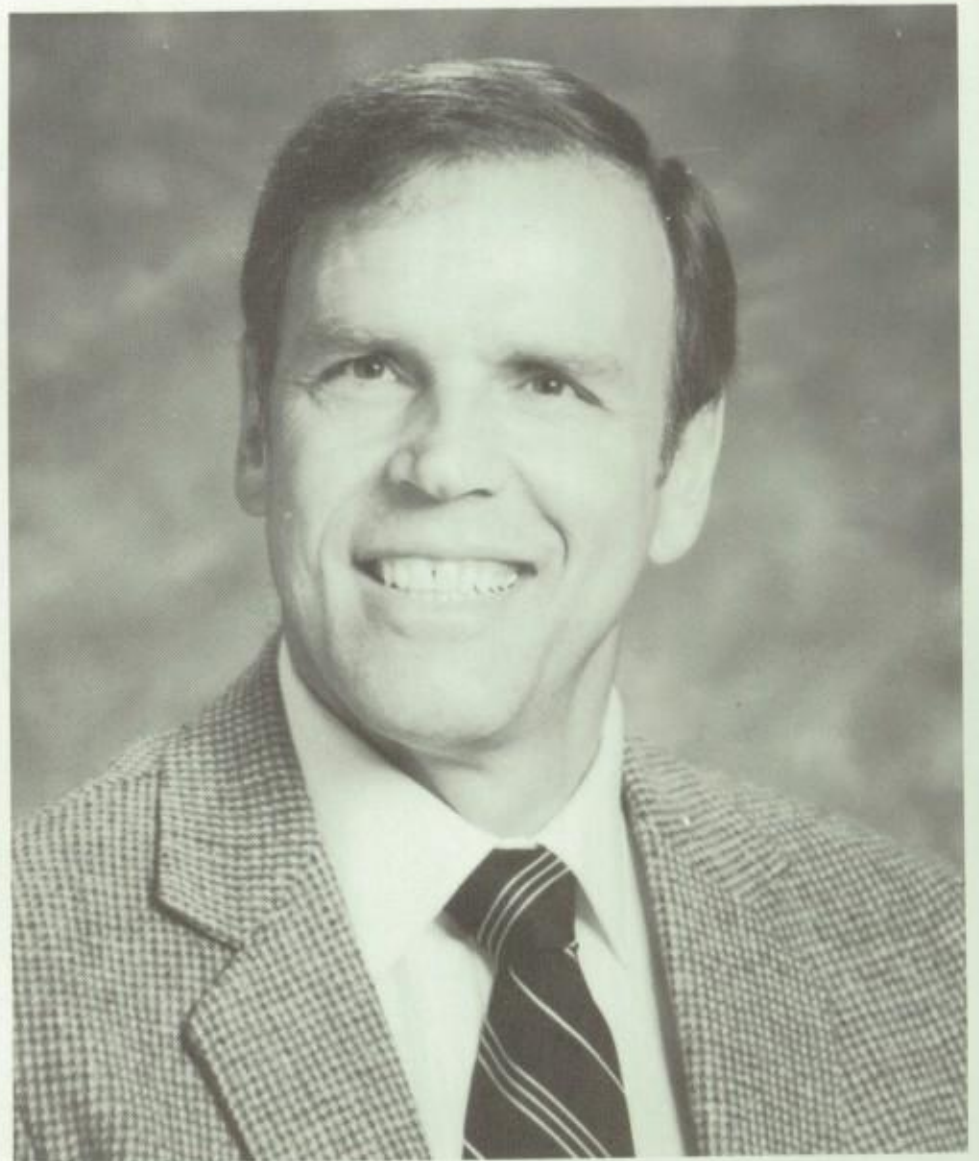

"The main thing individuals need to remember is to govern their lives by what they think is right. Maybe then, their problems can be solved."

Principal James Dokos began the school year with a determination to make the attendance policy, started last year, work even better. These procedures drastically reduced truancy and absences, although tardies were still considered a problem.

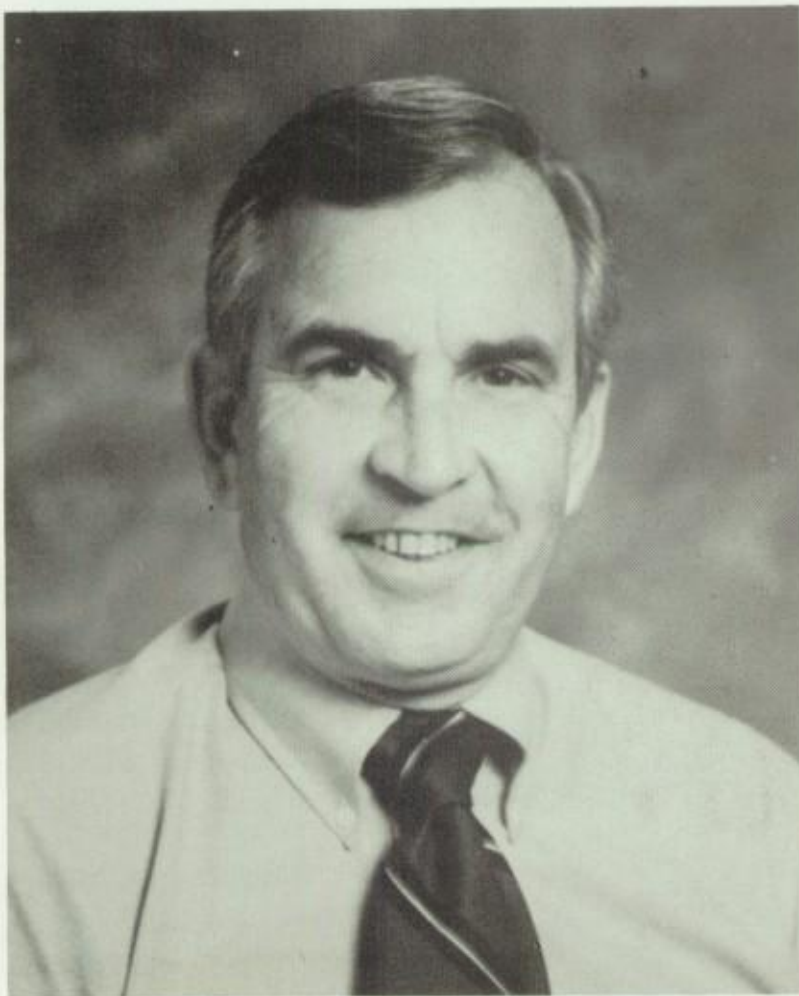

Some of his other duties were to sit in on classes and evaluate teachers as well as counselors.

Both he and the Assistant Principal Mr. Salio shared in disciplinary actions of students, although Mr. Salio was solely in charge of monitoring the attendance program.

Departmental meetings were revamped. Under Mr. Dokos' direction, teachers met monthly to share ideas on school and district curriculum policy.

Gilbert Darwin (1919-1983)

In Memoriam:

Gilbert Darwin (1919-1983)

The Orange Unified School District was shocked and saddened by the death of Board Member Gilbert Darwin in October.

Mr. Darwin was first elected to the Board of Education in 1962 and held the offices of clerk and vice-president. This year he was President of the Board.

He had announced that he would retire when his term of office was to expire in November, 1983.

In making that announcement, he said, "My interest in the community and my interest in the children have given me great pleasure and privilege."

He was a major presence in the phenomenal growth and change within our school district for these past twenty-two years, and he will be sorely missed.

Superintendent, Board Member Retire

Superintendent Gale Pattison

Board Member Bert Skiles

Board Member Bert Skiles announced that he will retire as of the end of this school year.

He served on the Board for twenty-five years and for nineteen years acted as presiding officer.

He has been a lifelong resident of Orange and has received many awards for service to his community, including the County of Orange Man of the Year award.

Mr. Gale Pattison, Superintendent of the OUSD, announced his retirement as of June, 1984.

During his years in the district, he established many outstanding programs for Special Education and for the mentally gifted.

He has seen the student population in Orange grow from 2,836 students to our present number of over 25,000. And to our gratitude, he has been instrumental in bringing about the quality of our educational life.

Mr. Russell Barrios

Mr. Joe Cherry

Mr. Robert Elliott

Mrs. Ruth C. Evans

Mr. Milton Jensen

Mrs. Eleanore Pleines

Mr. William Steiner

O.U.S.D. Board Members

With the retirement of Board Member Bert Skiles and the death of Vice-President Gilbert Darwin, two new members were elected to the Orange Unified School District Board of Education.

Mr. Russell Barrios is currently serving as executive aide for County Supervisor Ralph Clark. Formerly, he was the executive director of Casa Placentia Community Youth Center and has also been the parent training specialist for the Orange County Head Start project.

Mr. William Steiner is the administrator for the Albert Sitton Home, the county emergency shelter for abused and neglected children. He was chosen as child advocate of the year by the Orange County Child Abuse Council. He is currently spearheading the funds drive for the $7 million needed in the construction of Orangewood, a replacement for the Albert Sitton Home.

We at El Modena wish to extend to our old friends on the Board our best wishes and thanks for past support, and to warmly welcome the new.

The new and current Board Members greet the public at the "swearing in" reception.

Counselors Function Efficiently Despite Loss of Staff Members

Answering questions is part of Mr. Bill Prescott's job as the career counselor.

Mrs. Bridgman Was a WAC

Mrs. Connie Bridgman has the rare honor of being one of the few high school counselors in existence whom students look forward to seeing. Her effervescent personality and amiable Southern drawl make her a favorite among students. But as much as they like her, they respect her.

Perhaps it is because they know that when Mrs. Bridgman speaks, it is the voice of experience.

In her youth, she worked on the Bee Branch Farm in Arkansas. Soon afterwards, she joined the U.S. Army and served as a WAC.

It was this involvement that led to what would be considered the ultimate experience: being present at the famous Nuremberg trials of World War II in which the Allies prosecuted high-ranking Nazis for their crimes against humanity. Not everyone has the opportunity to be an observer of such a historic event.

As an observer, she noticed that prevailing statements made by the Nazis on trial was that they were just "following orders."

And that is the story of Mrs. Bridgman. Once a WAC, she is now on the firing line in the counselor's office.

Mrs. Bridgman receives her U.S. Army commission.

Mrs. Blasjo Recalls Life in Africa

Fondness for elephants isn't confined to just the statues in Mrs. Marjorie Blasjo's classroom. For many years, elephants have been a big part of her life.

Mrs. Blasjo has lived in and out of Africa part of her adult life. In Kenya, she worked as a medical missionary and also used her nursing skills while working in a dispensary there. At that time, she had her three-year-old son with her who learned the language quickly and acted as her interpreter.

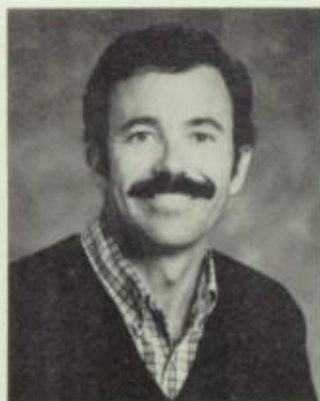

Working as a nurse was just one of the jobs she was involved in while living on the continent. At one time, she raised orphaned baby elephants until they were old enough to be on their own, and her love for these animals has grown through the years.

She was named Mother of the Year by the Southern California Adoption Agency in the early 1960's.

She is presently writing her first book, which will deal with her experiences in Africa.

While living in Africa, Mrs. Blasjo took care of many African children.

Mr. Hunt Captains English Department

The former Captain Edward Hunt, U.S. Navy veteran of three wars, is alive and well and teaching English at El Modena, and is the chairman of the Language Arts department.

A native of Washington, D.C., he enlisted in the Navy in 1942, at the outbreak of World War II. He went through cadet training, and as a brand-new Ensign wound up flying torpedo bombers in an anti-submarine squadron in the Pacific.

It was only the beginning of a career with the Navy which lasted twenty-seven years. He was active duty at sea in the Korean conflict and during the war in Vietnam.

As a Navy man, he has traveled all over the world, sometimes in times of peace with his family. One of the most dangerous predicaments he said he has been in was when he and his wife and family had just finished eating dinner in Rabat, the capital of Morocco. They had just left the restaurant when a terrorist bomb exploded right where they had been eating just moments before.

He says that he likes teaching. What he hopes his students get out of his class is to learn to take on full responsibility for their actions — and their lives.

Mr. Wood: Our Little Rascal

Mr. Jim Wood has had a very intriguing and exciting past. At the age of five, he appeared in an episode of "The Little Rascals," called at that time "The Our Gang Comedy."

"All I said was, 'Come on, gang! Let's go get them!' Yep. That sure brings back a lot of memories," he said.

Though stardom wasn't in the cards, he said that for a walk-on, he did fairly well. During his college years, he worked many and varied jobs such as an oil driller in Oklahoma.

"Those oil rigs are pretty high. You have to be careful, because it's a long way down."

During the Korean war he was a gunnery controller on an aircraft carrier. Honorably discharged in 1956, he received the China Service Medal, the Korea Service Medal, and the Chinese Service decoration.

Mr. Wood has taught at El Modena for fifteen years, and during that time, his golf game had improved tremendously. He has been club champion of Wester Hill Club seven out of the last nine years. His latest success in golf was qualifying for the prestigious Amateur State Championship.

He plans to turn professional in a couple of years and wants to teach golf at a club.

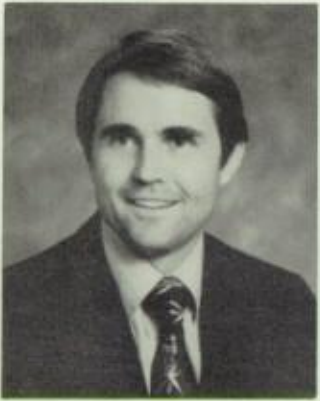

Dressed in his sailor suit during the Korean conflict in the early '50's, Mr. Wood is proud to be a sailor.

Mrs. Lessley: World Class Traveler

Mrs. Lessley comes face-to-face with an African native.

One generally goes to class to learn. But where does one go when one wants a class that is as entertaining as it is educational?

On the El Modena campus, any class taught by Mrs. Suzanne Lessley would probably be a sure bet.

It's little wonder that Mrs. Lessley's classes are in such demand, once one considers her vast list of exciting achievements — especially in the area of world travel. To say that she has been everywhere would be an understatement.

From Paris, France, to the Ecuadorian Galapagos, one can almost always depend on Mrs. Lessley's having been there.

Like any world traveler, she is a teller of interesting tales. She relates one hair-raising tale which took place at the Waterloo train station in London. She, through an unexplained turn of events, trapped her leg on the tracks in front of a rapidly-approaching train. Luckily, a British gentlemen rescued her by pulling her out of the way. Of the incident, she grins and comments, "If he hadn't have come along, I might be just a stump!"

And few can forget her African safari stories once they've heard them. With a sparkle in her eye, she begins talking about "The time I was charged by an elephant in the shade of Mt. Kilimanjaro."

Secretaries Keep El Mo Administration Running

It takes a great deal of work to keep a school running properly. And no one group of people does more to help than our secretaries.

They take the phone calls, and handle a great deal of the paperwork, yet they are always willing and able to assist a student or parent with a question or complaint.

These same secretaries serve as a sort of communication line between the school administration and the students and faculty.

Even though she is busy on the phone, Mrs. Gwen Hart still gives our photographer a warm welcome.

Mrs. Arlene Glass looks up from her work with a sparkling smile.

Preparing breakfast, Mrs. Irene Neimasz gets the sausages ready for frying.

Cafeteria Workers Are Really Cooking!

If it weren't for our vigilant cafeteria workers, El Modena students would really go hungry.

Mrs. Helen Cruikshank, the head chef, and assistant manager Mrs. Adeline Wendorf, along with Mrs. Irene Neimasz, Mrs. Evelyn Decker and Mrs. Evelyn Carty make up our cafeteria staff.

The cafeteria has completely revamped their menu this year. For instance, the new salad bar is a great success.

Another innovation has been added this year: breakfast. Bacon, hash browns, waffles, scrambled eggs and sweet rolls are served every morning.

The cafeteria also continues to maintain a large variety of food and beverages served during nutrition and lunch.

Eat your heart out, McDonald's!

Mrs. Adeline Wendorf counts the profits of the day.

El Mo Honored With Dedicated Assistants

The excitement of team sports wouldn't be possible without the organization and efficiency of the personnel working behind the scenes in the P.E. Department.

Mr. Rex Johnson, the boys' locker room manager, is also the equipment man for our football team, and is the mainstay of the boys' P.E. department.

Mrs. Liz Martin, in charge of the girls' P.E. room, also has the heavy responsibility of keeping track of the many details contributing to the maintenance of order in the locker room.

Outside on the campus, Mrs. Carmen Gonzales in the halls and Mr. John D. King at the front gate are firm but friendly with students who might be inclined to be out and about when they should be in and doing.

Mrs. Martin takes time out from Girls' P.E. to smile for the camera.

Prisoner in the cage, Mr. Rex Johnson manages the boys' locker room.

Keeping students from wandering the halls is part of Mrs. Carmen Gonzales' job.

John King, better known as J.D., guards the gate from escaping students.

Custodians Clean Up El Mo's Act

Even though the student body seems to take it for granted, our high school has one of the cleanest campuses around. No one is more responsible for this favorable status of affairs than our custodial staff.

This year, our staff has a new head custodian, Raul Trevino. Under his able leadership, the custodians help keep our school spotless day and night.

Language Arts Improves Students' Minds

The Language Arts Department (English) is headed by Mr. Ed Hunt, who has been chairman for the past year. The Language Arts curricula consists of Practical English Arts, Speech Arts, Literature and all English language fundamentals.

All students are introduced to English studies in their sophomore year, and are required to take at least one English course each semester until graduation.

Intermediate and Advanced Composition, Literature of the World, Speech, Journalism, and Advanced Placement are among the courses offered.

"Language Arts is an important aspect of education and we hope to make our department one of the best," says Mr. Hunt.

Fine Arts Rate a “10” for Creativity

Drummer Joe Carr pounds out the beat.

The trademark of any good fine arts department is fine performance, something El Modena's Fine Arts department is famous for.

New to our staff of fine art department teachers is Mr. Poole, who will undoubtedly be continuing El Modena's fine tradition of vocal music instruction.

The Drama Department produced many plays this year including the memorable "Man Who Came to Dinner," and continued its fine work in the Children's Theatre.

The El Modena Band received several admirable prizes in grueling competition, as did the Tall Flag team, taking third place and first place respectively at the Sonora Music Festival.

Already in the works are numerous new projects destined to win respect and, of course, applause for our performing artists.

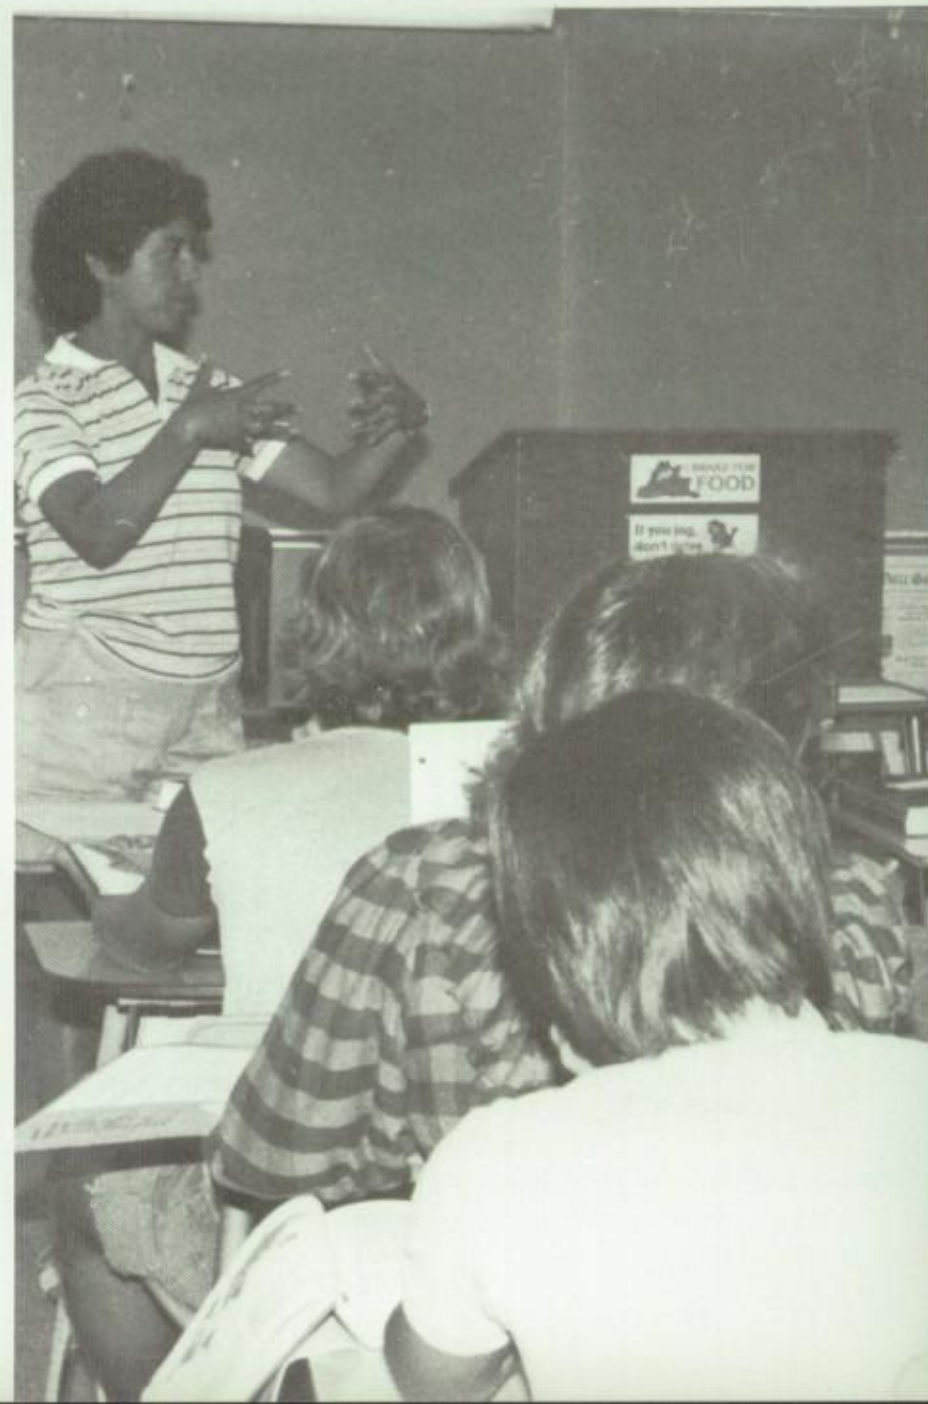

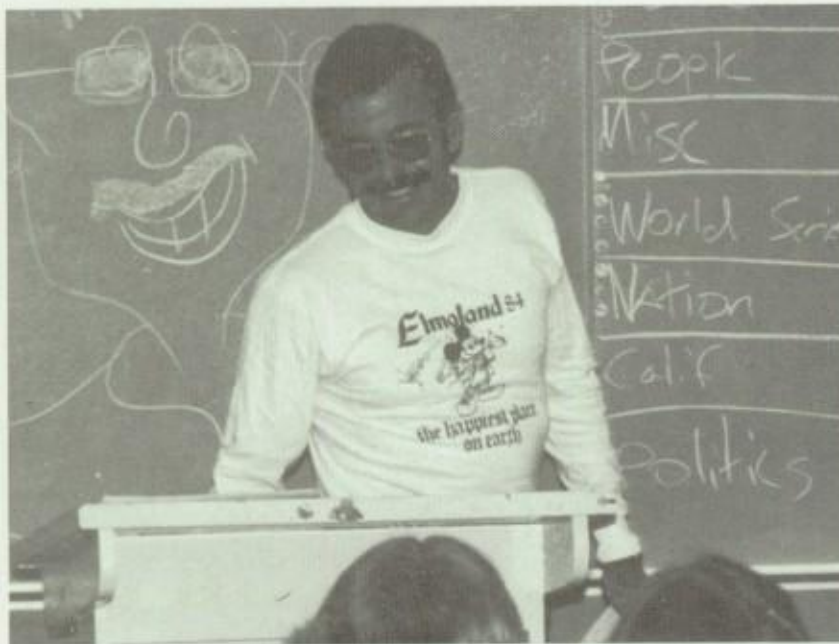

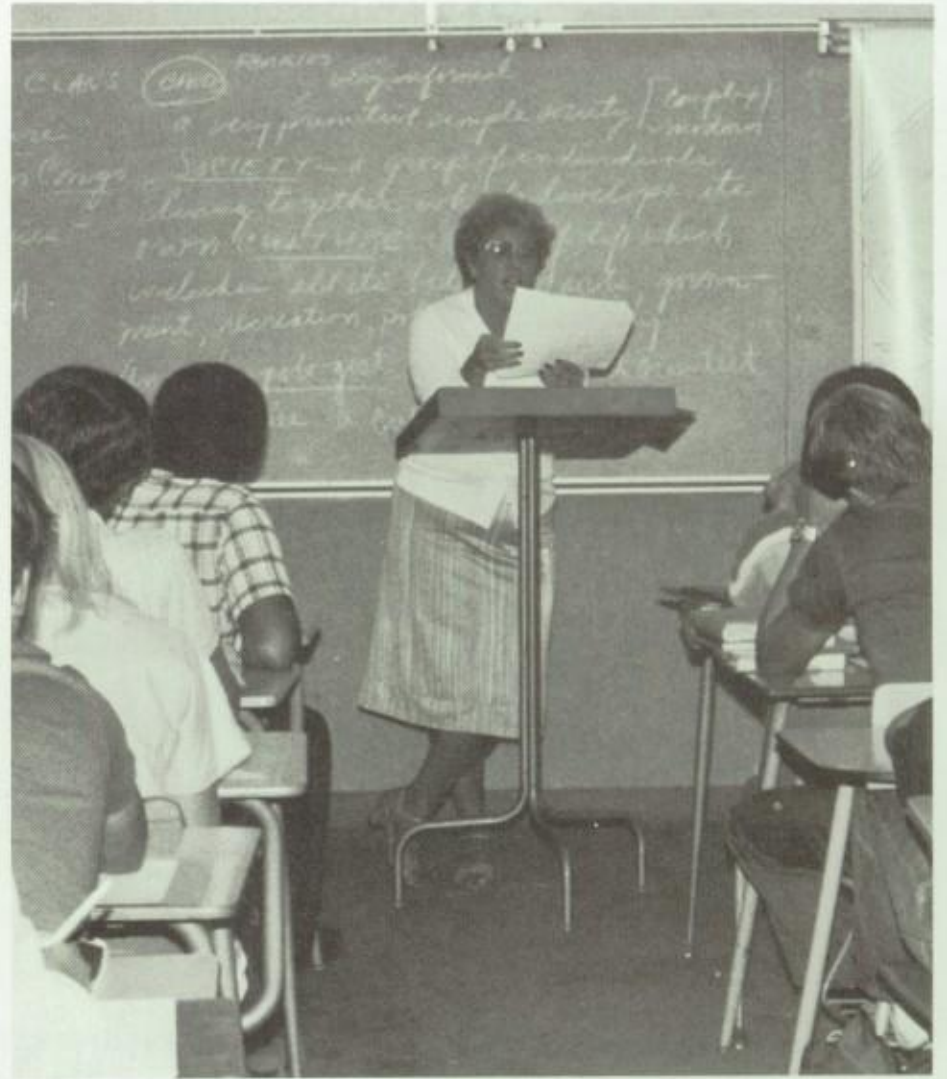

To quote a very proud and pleased Band Director Mr. Bowden, "El Modena has the best fine arts department in the OUSD. This is the best year I've ever had as a teacher."

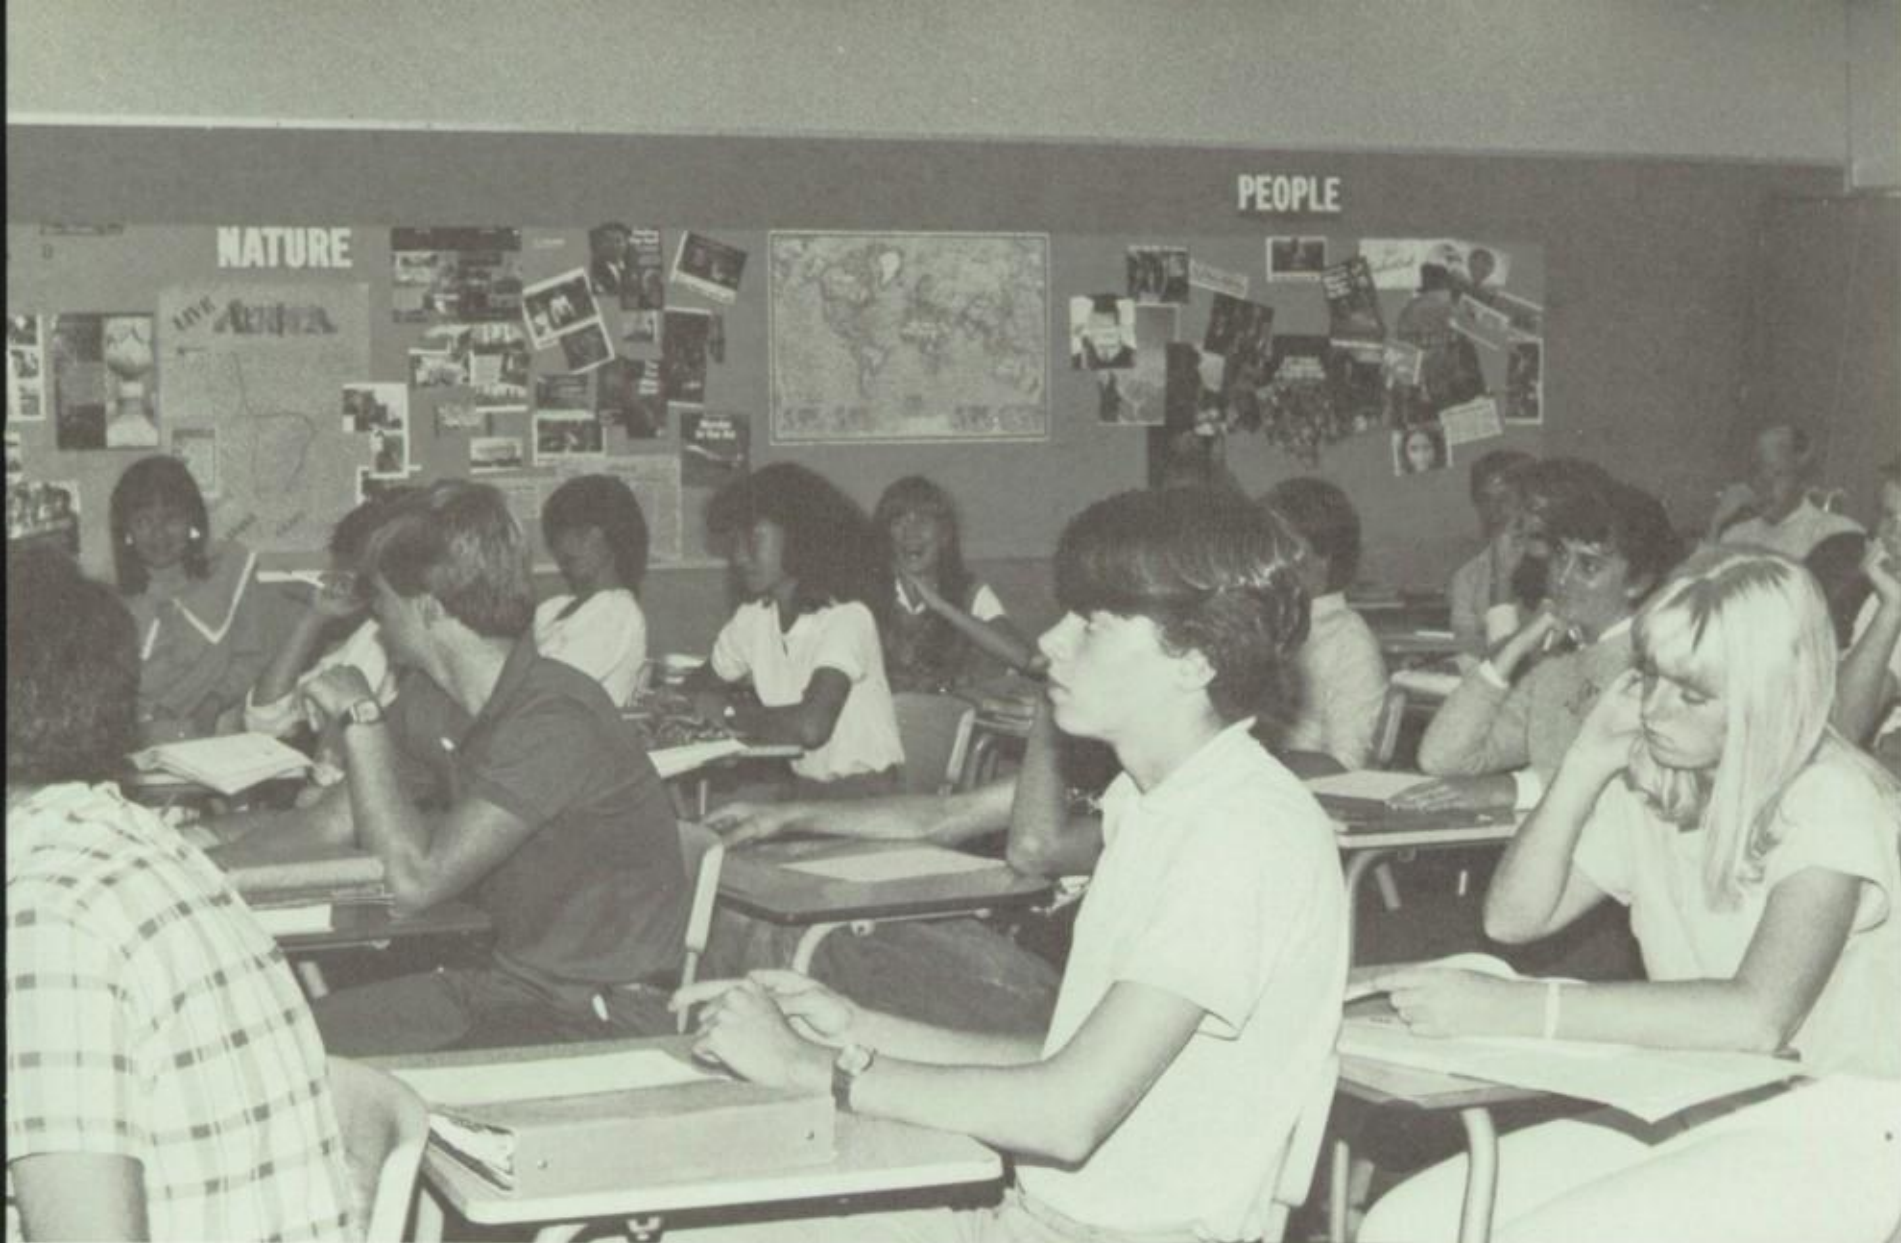

Mrs. Hoetzi lectures on American Democracy.

Mr. Burke is the model for a student caricature, and doesn't seem to mind it.

Mrs. Noble answers a question about U.S. history.

At 1:07, Ms. Cabrera begins a class lecture.

Social Science Department Makes History

Social Studies Department Chairperson Ms. Ann Hoetzel feels that the department is changing for the better. As of late, for instance, all of the classrooms in the department have been connected to the central video system and have been equipped with their own color TV sets.

There was a total of seven classes in the department this year, four of them advanced and honors classes. For the first time, students were accepted for the National History and Government Awards at the United States Achievement Academy, thus making it possible for them to receive scholarships.

There were a total of ten fulltime teachers in the Social Science department. Courses offered were Modern World History, United States History and American Democracy. Of course, there were also honors classes in all these subjects.

The Social Science department plays a very important part in the curriculum. Knowing the history of the world and our own United States opens our eyes to an awareness of the world about us.

Sitting down for a rest, Mr. Buford enjoys class participation.

Board Members Ruth Evans and Mr. William Davenport of the Orange County Water District congratulate Ms. Carter on the finishing touches to the environmental park, which include the wooden sign made especially for the park.

Board Member Ruth Evans addresses audience at environmental park dedication.

Dr. Dill explains the facts of life to confused sophomores in her health class.

Ms. Carter expresses her sense of accomplishment in completing the environmental park.

Science Dept. Dedicates Xeriscape Garden

The Xeriscape Garden took more than a decade and hundreds of student work hours to complete. But finally, El Mo's environmental park has received its deserved recognition with proper pomp and circumstance.

Of course, none of this could have transpired without the able and environmentally-inclined leadership of Ms. Jeanne Carter.

No expose on the Xeriscape Garden would be truly warranted without explaining the underlying reason for the garden itself. "Xeri," from the Greek meaning "dry," is an appropriate name, since all the plants which thrive here are those which are native to California and require little water. Ms. Carter fervently lectures on the fact that the Xeriscape Garden is an example to the entire community; that by utilizing plants indigenous to our arid area, we can landscape our property attractively and still conserve water.

One need only look at the dignitaries appearing at the Xeriscape dedication ceremony to understand the importance of this garden's environmental message. A Sunset magazine writer has described this garden as one of the best in the west, and since the dedication, Mrs. Carter has received many visitors and many letters of inquiry, which underlines the importance of this garden's environmental message.

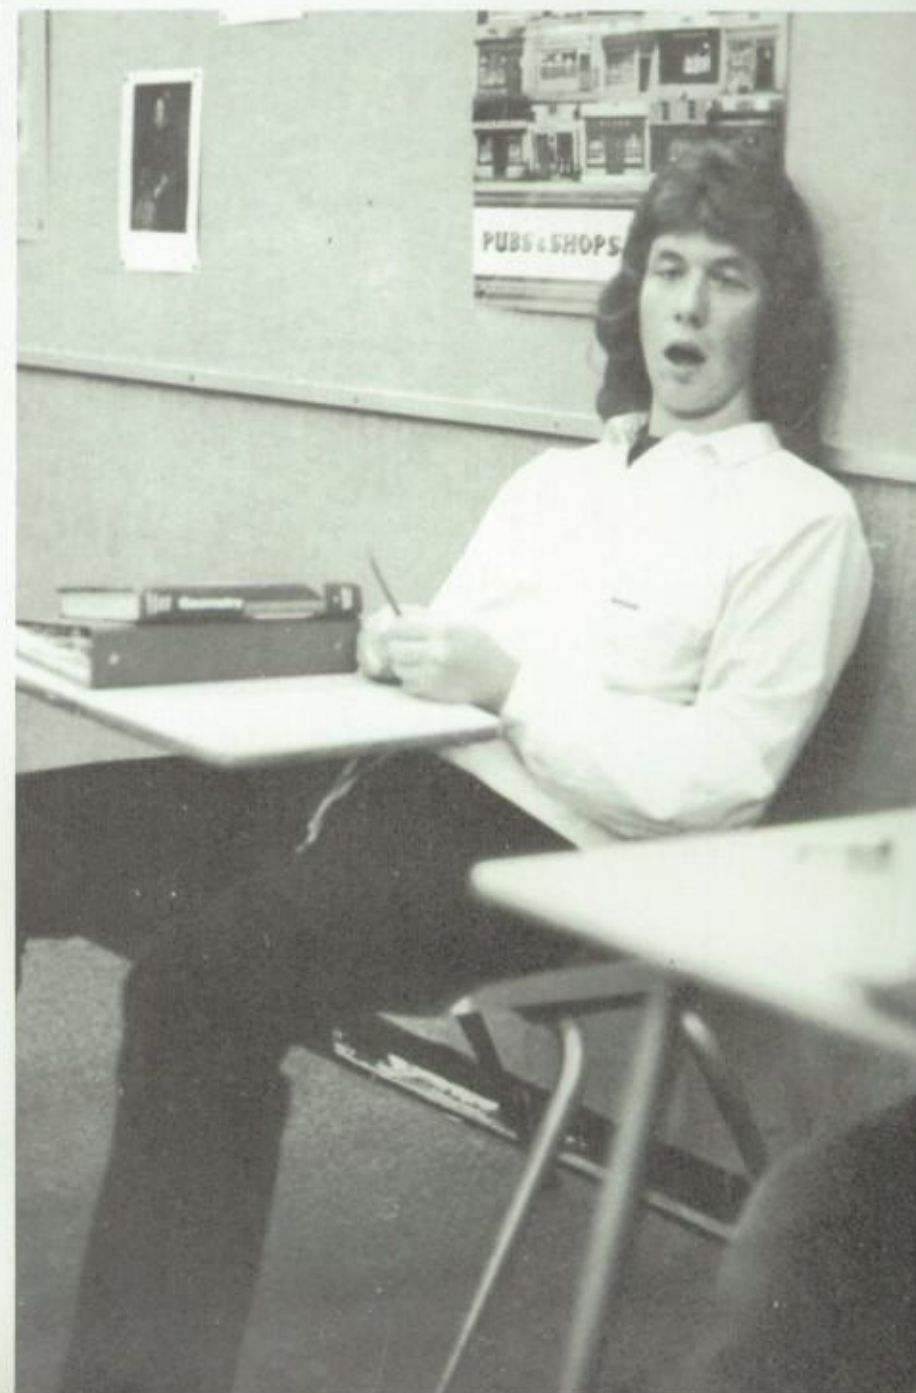

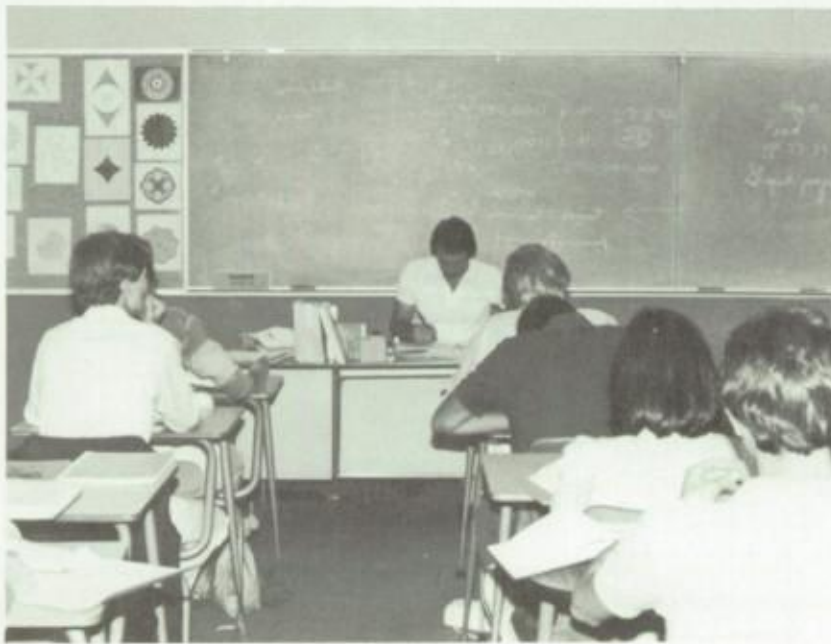

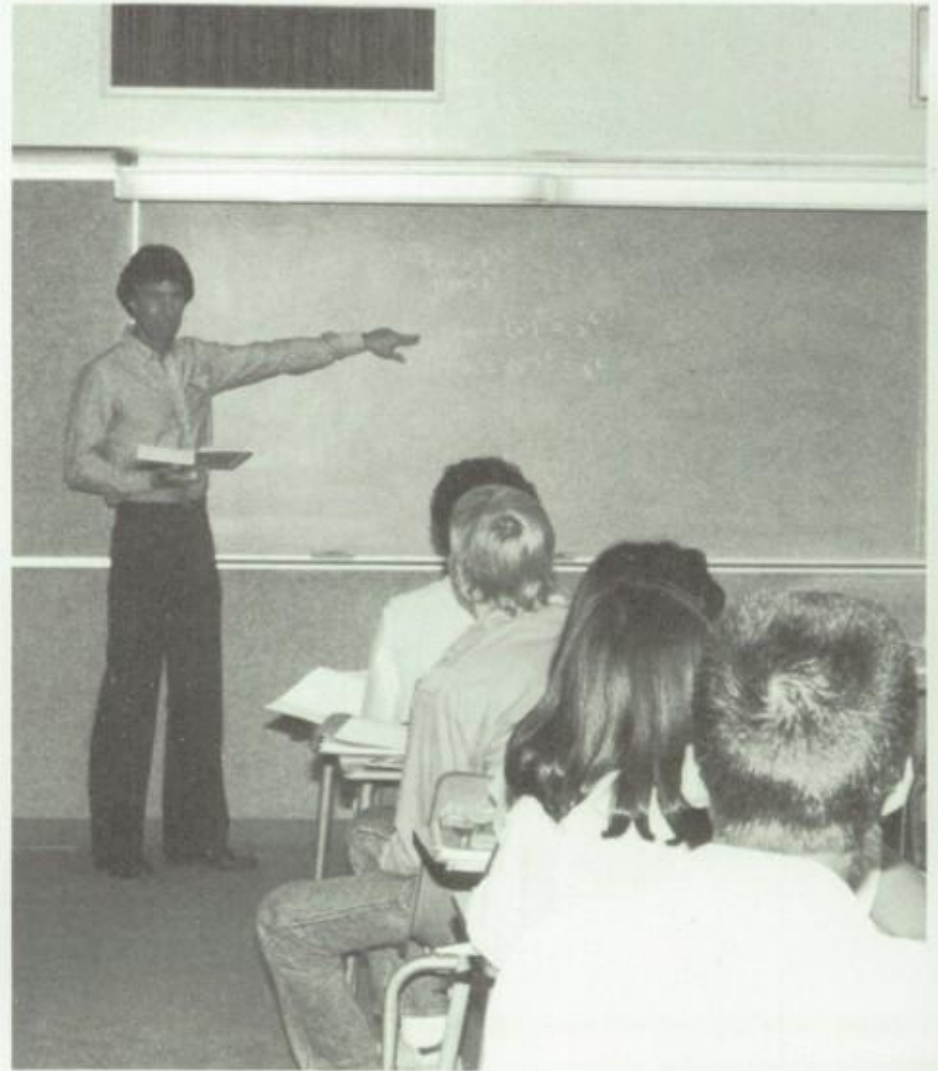

Breaking the christening ribbon in honor of the newly completed park are Mr. Davenport and OUSD Board Member Ruth Evans.

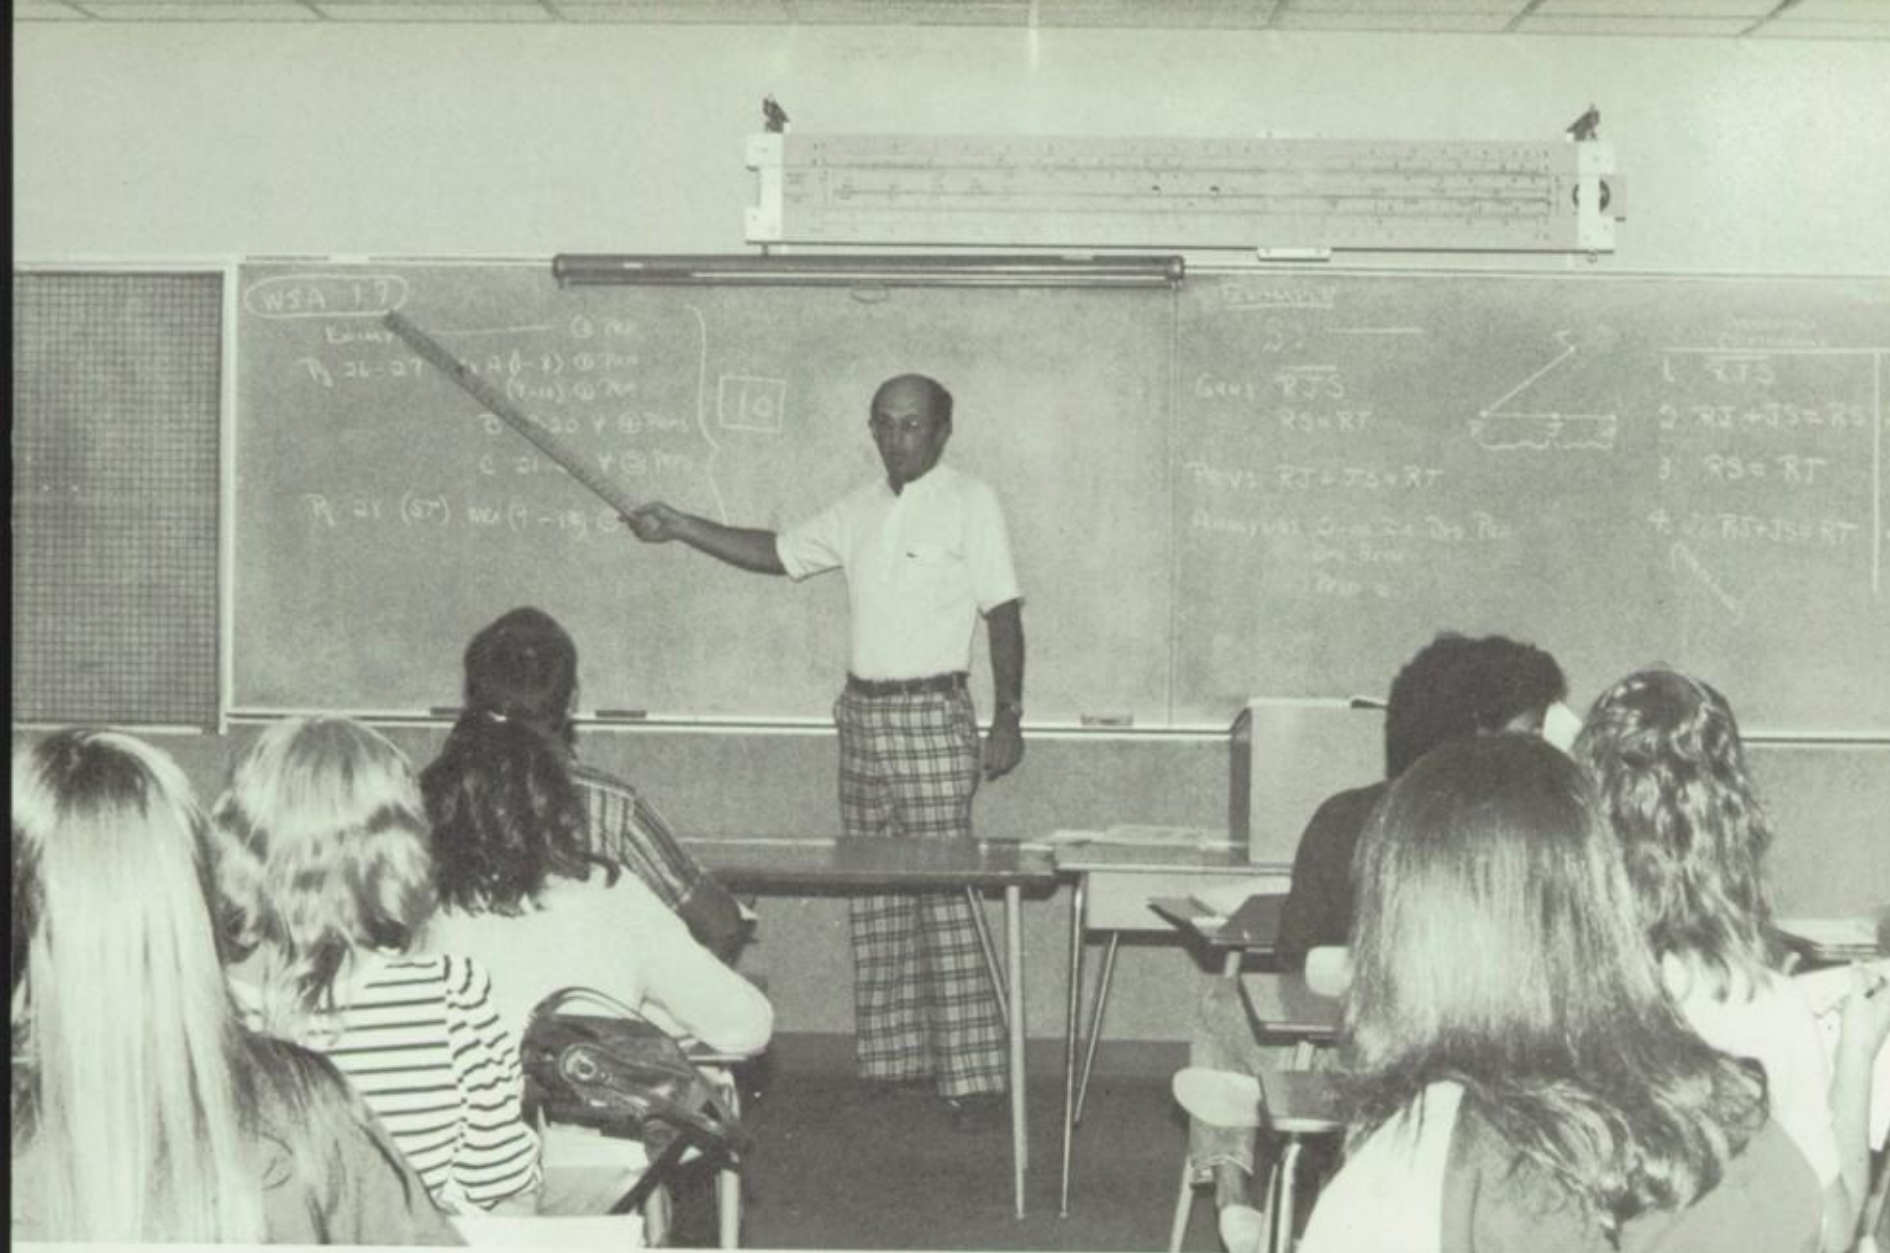

Mr. Thompson explains a new concept.

As Mr. Snyder grades homework, students work quietly on a new assignment.

Algebra II students attempt a difficult math assignment.

Senior Dave Effries relaxes after a grueling geometry assignment.

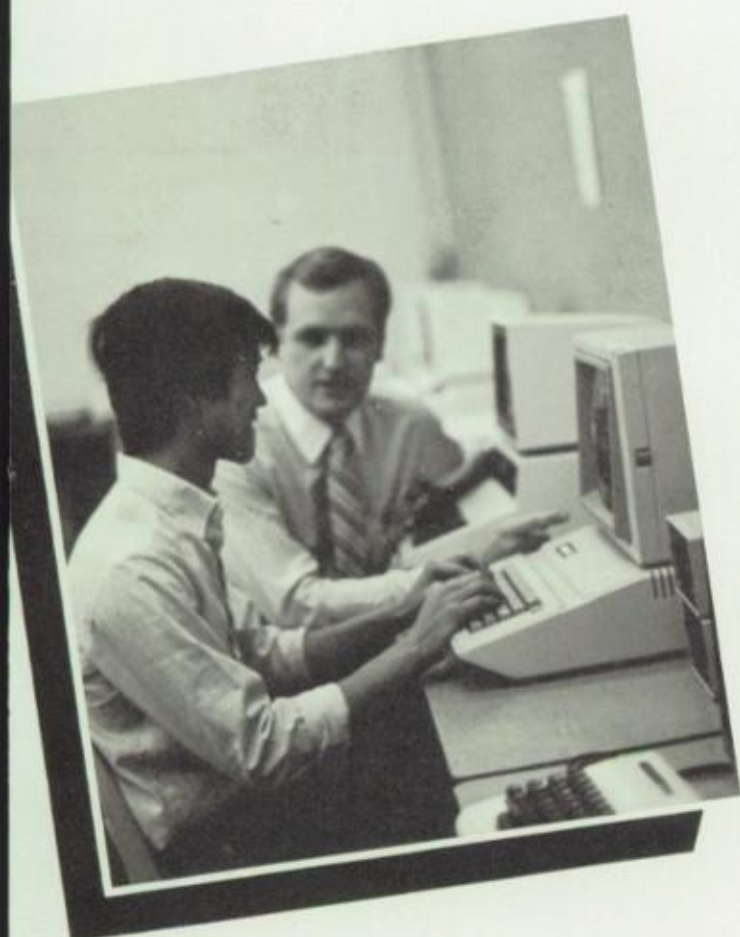

Math Department Adds Up to Quality

An El Modena student can testify to the fact that our math department is responsible for teaching some very sophisticated courses. Although they may not be a student's idea of an easy hour, they are some of the most important steps toward a good college education and possibly a profitable career.

Always ahead of its time, our math department, under the able leadership of Mr. Art Green is moving into the future of applicable math by leaps and bounds.

As we move steadily deeper into the age of computer technology and office technology-related fields, El Modena students will almost certainly reap the benefits of the hours they spent in math classes on our campus.

Mr. Torkelson explains the process of using a computer.

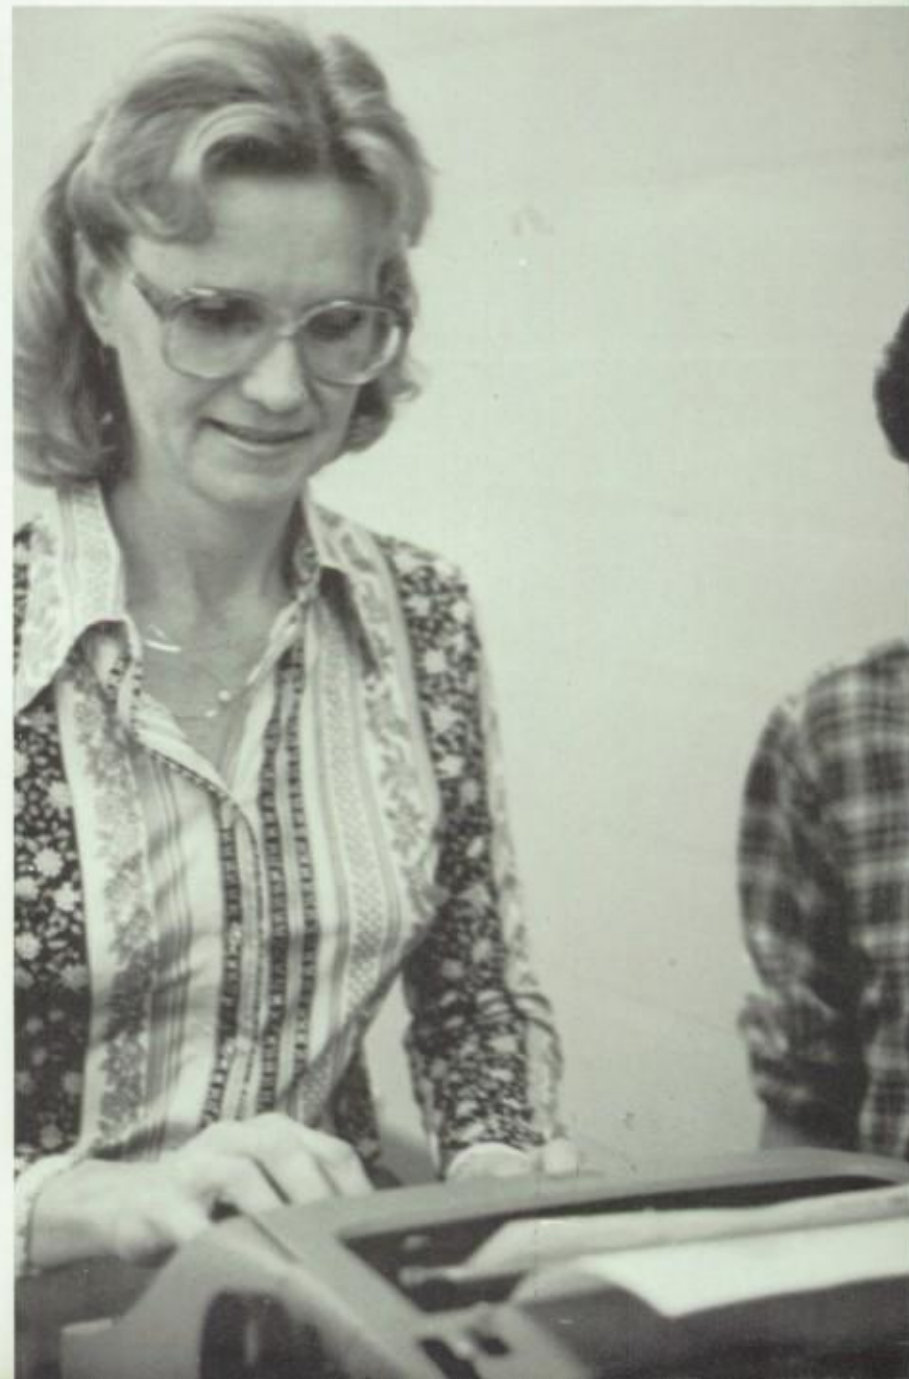

Carefully pinning her patterns to the material, Kim Bystedt works on a sewing assignment.

Mrs. Mac Clyment demonstrates her typing skills.

Practical Arts Gets Down to Basics

In an effort to prepare students for the future, the Practical Arts department provided basic skills useful to students, regardless of their future plans.

Foreign language classes included such diverse choices from Latin, a dead language, to Spanish, French and German — all very much alive.

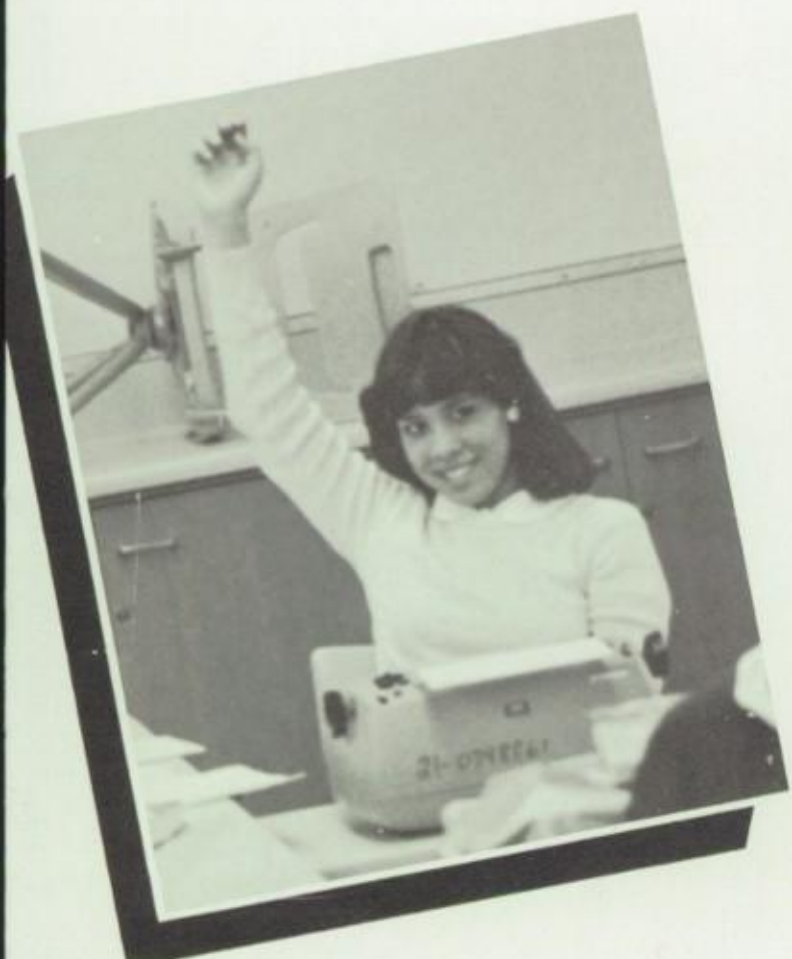

Many students realize that they need basic business skills to survive in the "real world." Among the wide variety of business courses offered were Typing, Accounting, Business Law, Basic Business Skills and a class entitled Junior Achievers, where students organized and operated a simulated business.

In a study of role reversal, the Home Economics and Industrial Arts classes gave students, male and female, the opportunity to learn skills traditionally performed by the opposite sex.

Foods classes as well as Clothing and Consumer Education taught the basic skills needed in food preparation and nutrition, wardrobe planning, sewing techniques and provided an insight into the responsibilities of adult life, such as resumé writing and the purchasing of a car.

Industrial Arts, which included wood, metal and autoshop, gave interested students the needed tools and procedures to use their craftsmanship as a hobby or occupation.

Training in the practical skills was important in creating well-rounded people, whether they decided to go to college or not.

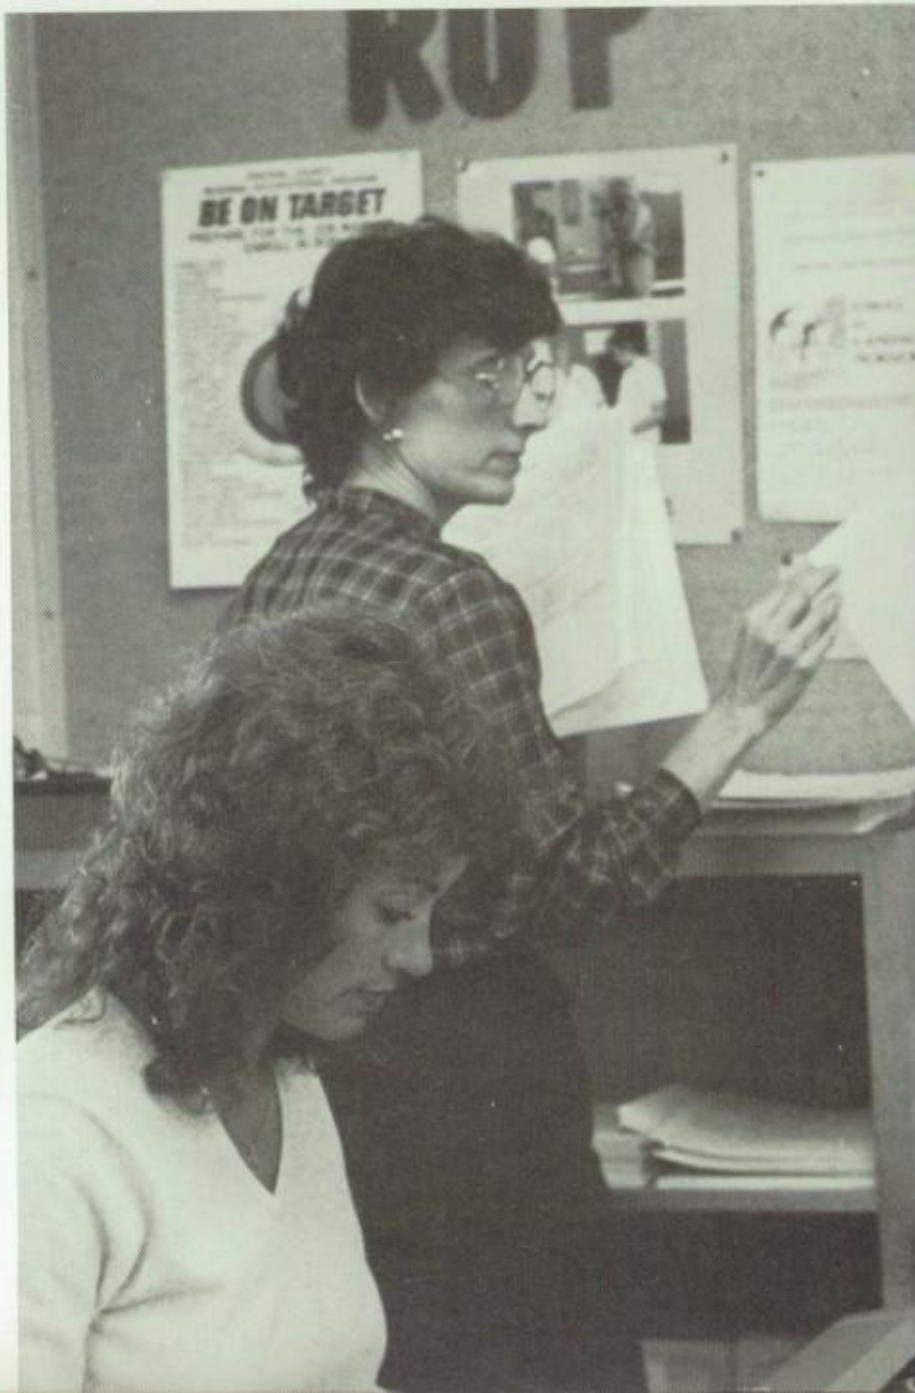

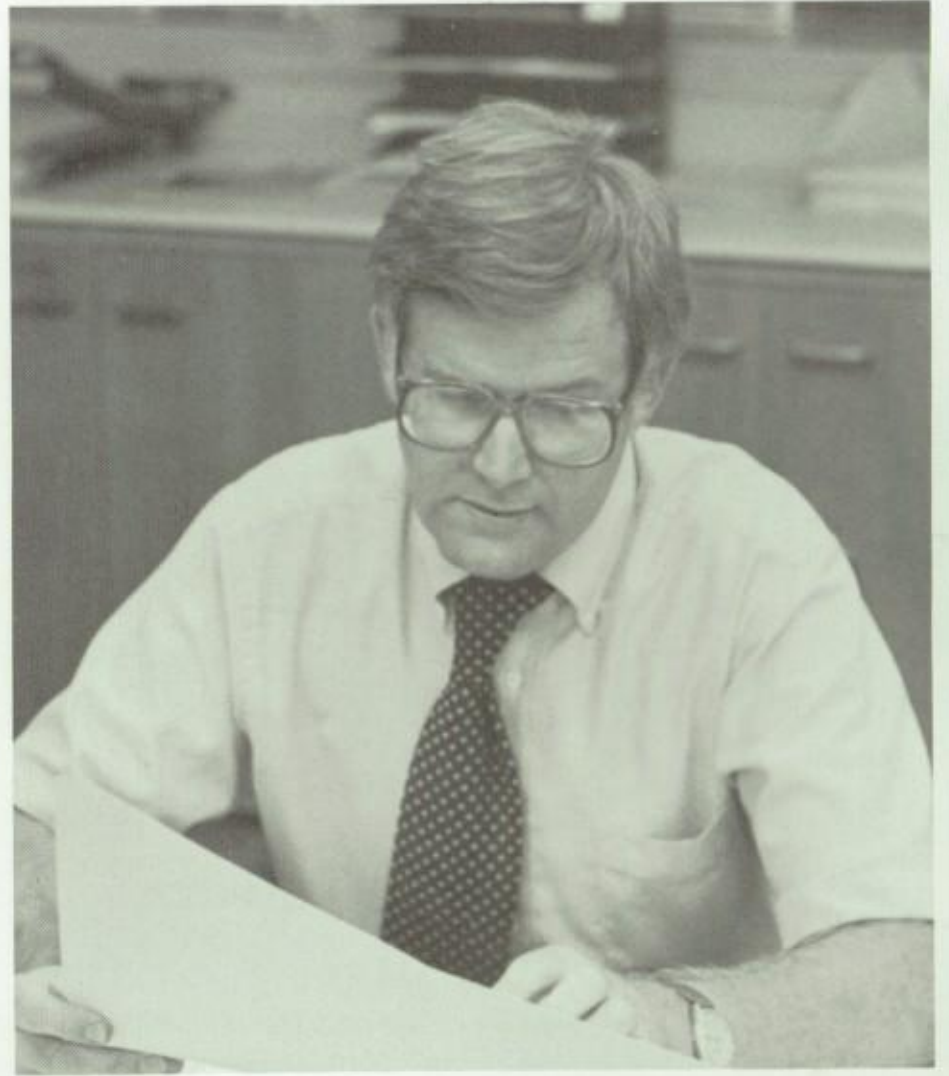

Raising her hand in typing class, Lisa Cuevas signals that she has finished her assignment.

Mrs. Bridgman in the counseling office is assisted by T.A. Chris Gallo.

Work Experience program coordinator Mr. Prescott ponders a problem.

Using the laminating press, Jim Henry puts the pressure on Marcus Allen.

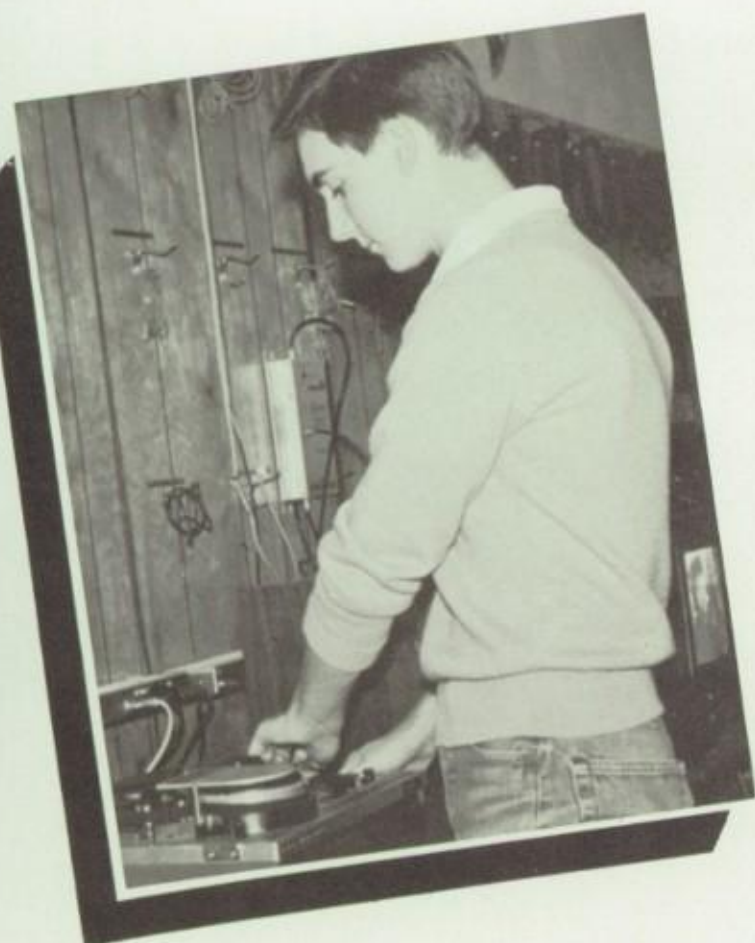

Manager Rex Johnson talks man-to-man with Kenny Mills, Armando Flores and Rod Corn.

Mrs. Meyer and Ms. Venaas go about their daily duties.

Students Gain Through Special Programs

Robert Watson is all thumbs as he loops the tape through the VTR.

The Central County Regional Occupational Program (CCROP) has ended its twelfth year of successful services to members of the Central Orange community.

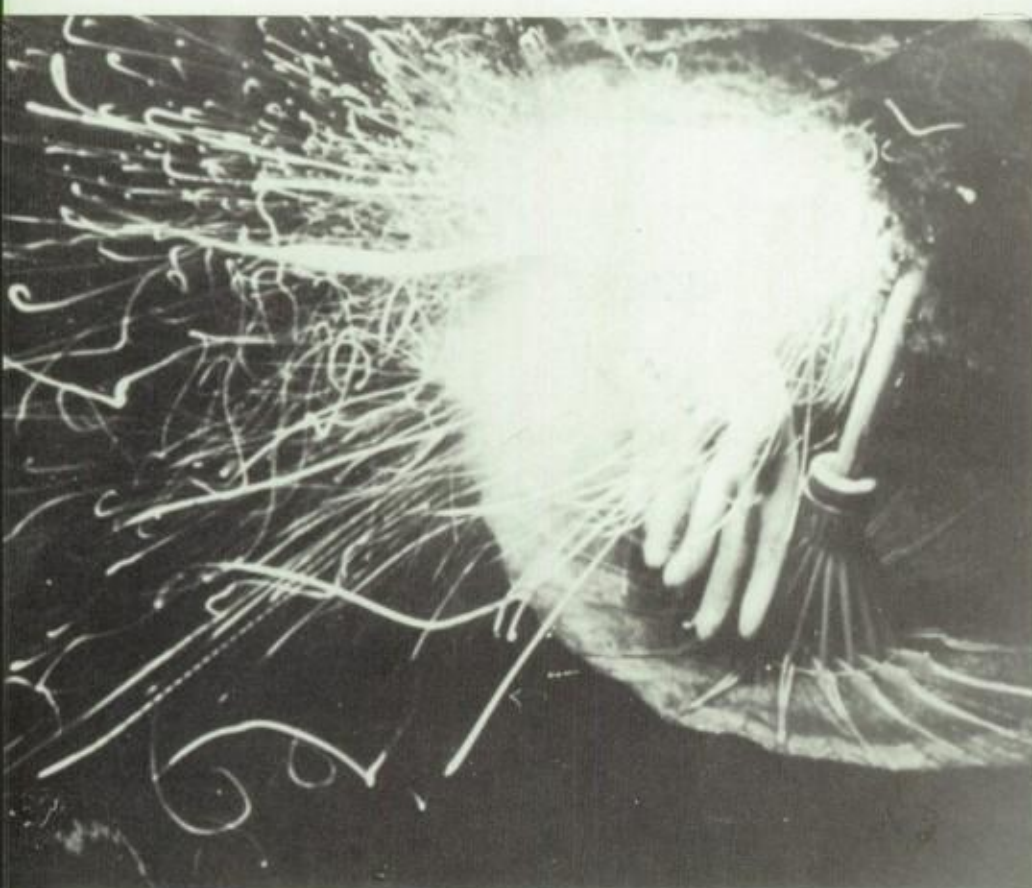

There are approximately 105 students in ROP. In the past 12 years, ROP has served over 72,000 students and has trained these people to go to work in some 42 occupational fields.

The purpose of the program is to provide students with high quality and technical job training opportunities.

Simplified, the ROP is the vehicle which transports the students from the theoretical environment of the classroom to the "real world," where newly-acquired skills can be applied practically.

All high schools in the Orange Unified School District have placement services located in the Work Experience office. The personnel in the offices are on continual contact with businesses in the community, attempting to locate employment opportunities for students.

Schools can be quite effective in job placement because they know students well — their abilities, aptitudes, grades, attendance, records and they provide information on prospective employees' attitudes and personality.

Mike,
I'm so glad that we got a chance to be friends. You are really a pleasure to work with - really professional. It took us a while to get the trust going but, after the sword fight... sorry about the ad lib that one night but - I think we pulled through pretty well. Remember Eisenhower park - that was so fun. I'll never forget Misummer, Jeff S. (Oh God), & full moons. Egous was great! and 2nd place, too. I was so emotionally exhausted after we did that scene! Thanks so being there that day when Paul came to rehearsal. That meant a lot to me. I feel like we've really shared a lot! You are a really special guy & you are so talented. Please, don't lose touch with me.

Take care
Love you

Thanks for everything

Seniors of '84

To the Seniors of 1984:

When we look back at the legacy past generations have left for you, there is a tendency to become negative.

It would be easy to list the failures that your parents, and your parents' parents left for this generation. But rather than dwell on the negative, I think your thoughts and motives should be pointed in the direction of looking at the good there is in the world and then determining how you can improve what you see.

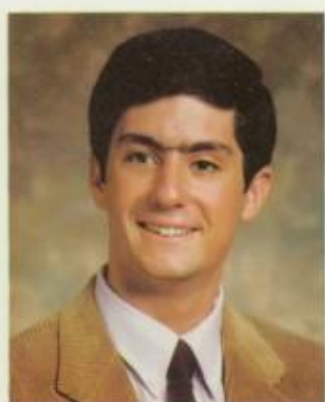

We are living in the most exciting age of all. We truly have much to be grateful for. With our democratic form of government and the Constitution to keep us free, America provides opportunities in which we can excel to the limits we set for ourselves. The future can be what you and other young people make it. Improve on the mistakes that your progenitors have made. Look for the good in other people; emphasize the positive. Be true to yourself.

I have great hope for the future because I have abiding faith in you. You are the shapers of tomorrow. Because of your faith, love and devotion to each other, family, and country, our world will be a better place in future years if you do your part.

You are to be congratulated on achieving this high honor — a graduate of El Modena High School.

Champion Performers

Archery is not a sport that residents of Orange hear about often. Brett Adams practices this avant-garde sport rigorously.

Brett and his brother Terry started to practice with an old bow they found "in the closet." They bought wooden arrows for it, and started practicing with it right away.

As Brett's skill in archery increased, he bought a compound bow, one which consists of pulleys, and joined an archery club.

Brett had to take an eight-hour course to get his hunting license.

He practices shooting at Santiago Park about three times a week. His club, the Oranco, has a shooting range by Prado Dam.

The club sponsors archery tournaments in which Brett competes. He has won four first-place trophies and three second-place trophies. That is outstanding, considering he has only been involved with the sport for less than two years.

Brett would like to share his enjoyment of the sport. He says, "More people should learn to shoot."

Champion Performers

"I love legs," says Todd Brown, explaining why he started dancing. "Life would be boring without them."

Todd attends the Villa Park School of Ballet in Anaheim/Orange. He has been dancing intensively for two years now. He started classical ballet because he liked being around the girls, but he has grown to enjoy it very much. So much so, that he wants to become a professional dancer with a major company.

Todd has advanced faster than would normally be expected because of his natural ability. However, he gives credit to his teacher, Jonette Pettig, who was also a master teacher for the Boston Ballet.

Todd has received full scholarships from three major ballet companies: the Boston Ballet, the San Francisco Ballet and the Pacific Northwest.

To even be considered for these scholarships, a dancer must rank in the top two percent of the nation. And the fact that he has three to chose from is an indication of his proficiency.

Todd Brown demonstrates his ballet prowess.

Anne Galbraith displays her skill on the piano.

"Dedication is the key, otherwise there is just no way!"

This is Anne Galbraith's view on playing the piano and Anne is one who practices what she preaches. She also practices on her piano at home for two hours a day.

Right now, Anne plays just as a hobby, but she has hopes of being a professional concert pianist.

Anne has been taking lessons since she was a little girl. She has always been interested in music, but after she heard Dottie Nix, a premier concert pianist, she became much more serious in her playing.

Anne enjoys playing and sometimes plays to help get rid of anger and stress. Her main interest is classical music, but she also enjoys jazz and pop. Her favorite pieces are Fantasy No. 3 by Mozart and waltzes by Chopin.

It is truly incredible that Anne has time to play the piano. She is an honor student, is on the cross-country team, works at a veterinary hospital, and does it all so well.

Anne has so much going for her, she will surely succeed in whatever endeavor she decides to pursue.

Champion Performers

Performing in the theatre has been very important to Kristen Green for quite a long time.

Kristen enrolled in her first drama class in eighth grade and she was given the lead role in her first performance.

Kristen rehearses for about two and a half to four hours a day. During an average week, she rehearses twenty to twenty-five hours.

For her effort, Kristen has received some outstanding awards, such as two outstanding actress awards and one supporting actress award at El Modena High School.

She also won a second place prize for classical theatre at Fullerton College.

Kristen is now in Drama V, the highest level of drama at El Modena. She is involved with the fall production and with Children's Theatre.

Kristen had a very supportive family. She explained, "I feel that I'm very lucky to have good communication with my family."

When asked her life's dream, Kristen replied, "To improve overall communication, understanding, and acceptance in people."

Kristen portrays Maggie in The Man Who Came to Dinner.

Cathy depicts Lorraine, a flamboyant character.

Champion Performers

"Playing a character means that you have to discover yourself, and once you've done that you can achieve anything."

Cathy Hardman, an honor Thespian, has certainly discovered herself. Her activities include a number of on-and-off campus projects.

Perhaps her most outstanding on-campus activity is her acting. Cathy began acting in ninth grade and even though it was her first year, she received the "Best Supporting Actress Award" at Santiago Junior High.

Four years later and many characters later, she says that the character who resembles her most is Lorraine Sheldon in The Man Who Came to Dinner. "Lorraine Sheldon is like me because she likes attention and she's a flirt, she's bizarre and energetic," said Cathy.

Mrs. Herde, El Mo's drama teacher says that Cathy is a very mature person and a tremendous go-getter. "Once she sets a goal for herself, she'll try her hardest to achieve that goal," said Mrs. Herde.

Future plans include going for a degree in Broadcasting Journalism. And she wants to continue acting as long as she can.

Champion Performers

Everyone has some sort of goal or life dream, and Mariette Jones' is to be on Broadway.

"Broadway is where I'm headed," says the seventeen-year-old senior. To some, this dream might appear too far out of reach, but Mariette seems to be on the right track.

During the summer of 1983, Mariette was hard at work. She auditioned to be one of two lead vocalists for a Christian band called "Potter's Clay" and was hired.

This talented young performer has had quite an active singing career already. Throughout school, she was in the most advanced choir groups possible and participated in the El Modena summer and fall musicals, talent shows and drama productions. And she was one of several students to sing the National Anthem for football games.

Mariette wants to make singing her career. She loves performing, although she is not interested in movies or TV. She plans on going "wherever opportunity takes me!"

Good Luck, Mariette!

Hoan Mai, El Modena's computer "Whiz Kid."

Champion Performers

Coming to a foreign country and learning a completely different language is difficult enough, but mastering an advanced technology is also tremendously difficult.

"The readjustment to a different language wasn't bad, but taking computer classes at El Modena isn't as easy as pushing a button. It's what you call a do-it-yourself class."

Future plans for Hoan include going to college for a degree in Computer Science or Computer Engineering. "El Modena has been a big inspiration to me, and I'll never forget it. Mr. Torkelson in computer class has taught me enough about the computer that I feel prepared for college."

"Every weekend I usually spend a day using a computer at Santa Ana College and practice new programs," says Hoan.

With that tremendous drive behind him, he will surely make it in college or the world. Look out college — here comes Hoan Mai!

How would you like to make 40,000 tax-free dollars doing something you love? Chuck Marsella does. Chuck is a professional three-wheel motorcross racer. He has been all across North America racing for Honda who backs him with a full sponsorship.

Around the track Chuck is known as "Chuck E. Cheese," or plainly and simply, "The Maniac." In three-wheel racing circles, Chuck Marsella is both a well-known and respected name; he ranks number two in the nation in his field.

A rider since he was eight years old, Chuck was not an overnight success. He practices Monday through Friday for three to four hours and has spent endless hours working on racing machine. He has been in literally hundreds of races.

Not just anybody can win such prestigious races as the Riverside Raceway Championships and The Frontier 500.

Chuck tackles the terrain in the Frontier 500.

Theresa holds one of her latest sculptures.

Champion Performers

Born with a paintbrush in her hand, apparently, Theresa Mather has shown exceptional talent in the field of art at El Modena.

Theresa has won numerous awards, while she has been a student at El Mo, several for her drawings at the Orange County Fair. In addition, she is an accomplished sculptress specializing in carousel horses. She won the coveted Adult Sculpture Award at the mere age of fifteen. "The adults were really upset because a high school student beat them," she says smilingly.

Theresa is an open-minded person when it comes to artistic techniques. "You have to try different things. If they come out well, fine! If not, you've learned your lesson."

Maintaining an A average, she draws and sculpts on the weekend or whenever she finds time. When finished with a drawing, she either sells it or keeps it for the portfolio she shows to college recruiters. She plans to earn a Fine Arts degree. As to her memories of student days, she says, "El Modena has been a good experience and it has really prepared me for college."

Champion Performers

Victor Valen started running seriously when he entered El Modena High School. His brother Stephen was very good and Victor figured that he might also be talented in this sport. Victor made the varsity team his sophomore year and also lettered his first year.

Victor holds the record for the El Modena Junior Mile and was on two All-American relay teams during his sophomore and junior years. He placed first in Orange County for the sophomore mile and made the All-County Team his sophomore year.

Victor trains in the summer by running many miles — up to two hundred per summer. He does his hard training at a running camp where he ran eighty miles in a week.

Training is a continual process. For upper-body training, he lifts weights a few times a week and everyday he runs on streets, hills or wherever he can.

He thanks his family for all the support they have given him over the years. When asked why he runs, he simply stated, "Because I'm good at it."

Victor pushes toward the finish line in 106°F heat.

Keith shows his record-breaking style.

Champion Performers

El Mo's answer to Rafael Septien is Keith Vanderhoff, place kicker for the El Modena Varsity football team.

Keith, like many other great kickers, got started by playing soccer. He has played youth football as a quarterback, but did not start place kicking until ninth grade, where he kicked for the Santiago Jr. High Varsity Football team.

Keith has attended classes at the Ben Agagianian Kicking Camp for the past three years and sees a hypnotherapist regularly. While the camp has taught him technique, the hypnotherapist teaches him self-confidence.

"I never believed in myself," says Keith. "If I miss ten field goals this year, I will be better than I was as a sophomore because of my improved mental attitude."

Keith now holds the County Career field goal record and he is highly acclaimed for his consistency. He has had three exceptionally good football seasons.

Mark Woollett, or "Bullet", as his friends address him, is involved in a rare hobby indeed.

When he was very young, he started collecting and trading baseball cards with close friends living in the neighborhood. Mark's collection ranges from fifteen to twenty thousand cards. Although this may be less than what other baseball card collectors have accumulated, he is just as enthusiastic about his pastime as those holding a bigger collection. He attends many baseball card conventions, usually throughout Orange County and Los Angeles area.

Mark estimates that he has approximately five thousand different cards.

He claims, "My most valuable baseball card is a 1964 Pete Rose, worth about $75.00 currently."

Mark is uncertain about his future in collecting baseball cards. He says, "I might sell my collection, but probably card-collecting will remain a hobby for me for the rest of my life."

Mark displays just a few of his baseball cards.

Jeff Wyllie, a former "Sax Maniac."

Champion Performers

"Music is very important to me. It's a form of self-discipline, and it's fun," says Jeff Wyllie.

Discipline, indeed! In addition to Jeff's saxophone playing ability, he plays the piano, clarinet, guitar, synthesizer, and a number of brass instruments.

Jeff's time is limited, since he is also a starting center on this year's Century League Champion football team. Yet he finds time to practice his music at least three hours a day.

In addition to Jeff's musical ability he also writes music for a group called "The Sax Maniacs."

During his sophomore year, the Sax Maniacs entered the El Modena talent show, and even though they had been playing together as a group for only two weeks, they took second place. This award is merely one of the many awards Jeff has received representing the El Modena music department.

"Most of my inspiration comes from El Modena. To me this has got to be the greatest school on Earth," said Jeff Nerds of the world unite as the Pep Boys get down to the sound of the Bee Gees.

Displaying the Senior Class T-shirt, Carrie Gartner, Senior Class secretary smiles her best Peter Pan smile.

Jenny Henry shows that being Senior Class president is no Mickey Mouse job.

Talented Officers Lead Senior Class

This year's Senior Class officers were a tight-knit group, and they worked very hard to pull off another successful Senior Spirit Week.

Working closely with the ASB, these girls planned in great detail and organized many school events.

Only a few of the events sponsored by the senior officers were the Homecoming ceremonies, Grad Night, and the Catalina trip.

Most students don't realize how much time and energy went into the planning of these activities.

Well done, girls!

Senior Class officers (counter-clockwise) Jenny Henry, president; Thuy Nguyen, vice-president; Shannon Spellacy, treasurer; and Carrie Gartner, secretary.

Unforgettable Memories

It's great to remember the times that we've shared,
Unforgettable experiences and friends who have cared;
Times that have made our characters grow strong,
Crazy moments and laughter that helped us along.

Together we've learned to be genuine friends,
Forming relationships that time never ends;
Knowing deep inside that one thing is clear,
No matter the distance, our hearts remain near.

Striving with diligence to give it our best,
Our efforts were finally put to the test;
The competition thought they were second to none,
But at the BIG A, our victory was won!

But now we must put the past years behind,
And look forward with hope to what we will find;
Searching deep in our hearts for the potential that makes,
Each day a new promise as our future awakes.

One parting thought that's tested and true,
It's been heard by all, yet realized by few.
Have we seen ourselves as we REALLY are?
WE have great possibilities, we all can go far!

Fund-Raising is a Major Concern For Junior Class Officers.

For Junior Class Officers.

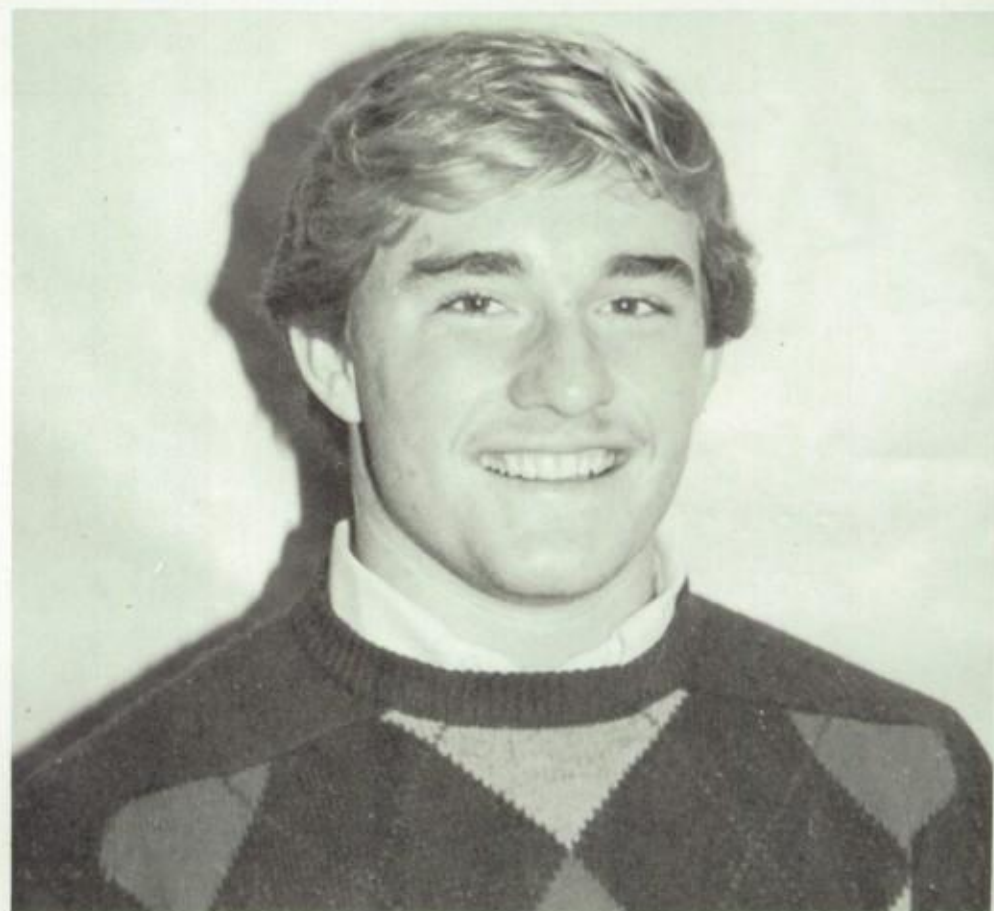

Junior Class Officers (L. to R.): Cricket Taub, Mike McFann, Kelly Yamamoto, and Mary White.

The Junior Class officers of 1983-84 were not only cohorts in school politics but they were also true comrades. As the representatives of the Junior Class, they helped plan the Prom, arrange the student activities which took place during Spirit Week, and raise funds for various school events and activities.

They have also benefited greatly from being able to help their school and their peers.

Junior Class President Mike McFann seems to enjoy the power that comes with the job.

Eager Sophomores Pursue Success for the Class of '86

"I did a lot of helping out at dances and other activities," said Mark Hellickson, Sophomore Class President.

This statement sums up the general attitude of this year's Sophomore Class officers.

Mark, along with Vice-President Henry Chu, Secretary Lisa Haupt, and Treasurer Wendi Hatcher — all enthusiastic newcomers to El Mo, were very willing to learn about and participate in student activities.

Their accomplishments testify to this. Their ice cream social at Open House was a success financially and in terms of experience.

Joining forces with the cheerleaders, they sold bumperstickers saying "El Mo Does It Better," another success.

If the class of '86 continues to learn and accomplish at such a constant rate, their senior year should be one of the most productive ever.

Mark Hellickson, Sophomore Class President.

Hi Dance and Assembly Start the El Mo Experience

New faces flashed by and blended with the old. The slamming of freshly-painted lockers echoed through the halls.

Shuffling feet scurried to the first assembly of the year. A.S.B. President Fred Whittingham started it off with a speech describing the upcoming events and introduced the A.S.B. cabinet.

Mr. Dokos, our principal, welcomed the new sophomores and wished everyone a good year. Leslie McClaskey, Pep Commissioner, presented the song and cheer squads.

Keeping with tradition, the first social Hi Dance was held; and keeping with the beat, the D.J. played student favorites. Although it was hot and humid because of a record-breaking heat spell, the students still had a good time.

“1983-84” Mascot Marvels Jane and Jeff

Vanguard Spirit was led by El Modena Mascots.

Decked out in El Mo's Cardinal and Gold, Jeff Read and Jane Miller did an excellent job this year as mascots.

They worked hard at creating original skits for the pep assemblies and generated school spirit at the games by, among other things, flashing bright Cardinal and Gold toilet seats inscribed with “El” and “Mo” to the cheering crowds, and throwing candy to the crowd.

Jeff and Jane added excitement at the pep assemblies and games.

Who is Count Quackula? Christine Gallo, that's who! All dressed up in her yellow duck outfit, webbed feet and all, she kept the crowds at the games alive and roaring.

Christine's outstanding energy and candy-tossing made her character Count Quackula everybody's favorite!

"Hectic" and "exciting" were the two words describing this year's pep commissioner's job. Leslie McClaskey took on the responsibilities of planning pep assemblies and other special events.

With hard work and a cheerful effort, Leslie McClaskey did an excellent job of promoting school spirit.

Alumni Join with Students for Fun at Assembly

Memories of last year's Homecoming were brought back to the Vanguards as nearly all of the 1982-83 cheer squad returned to El Mo and joined this year's group for the special Homecoming assembly.

The 1982-83 squad had fun performing in front of the El Modena student body. The Vanguards heard again the familiar voice of Becky Baker, last year's mascot, booming out over the amphitheatre. Delia Perez, former pep commissioner, also joined in the reunion of the past cheerleaders.

Present as well as the past cheerleaders performed spectacularly.

Bursting with laughter, the crowd enjoyed the return of the 1983 Pom Pom Girls alias Brian Grisset, Juan Casa, Jeff Boxhorn, Enrique Segura, Chris Roberts and Mike Glenning.

With rosy cheeks and red lips, the guys dressed in full cheerleader regalia and entertained the students with their hilarious routine.

As the students got up to leave, beaming with pride to be Vanguards, they were confident of a victory over Orange.

When good friends get together, let the good times roll!

Homecoming Is Highlighted by Tradition

"Who'll be Homecoming Queen?" was the big question buzzing around campus before the El Mo-Orange game. The question was answered after the first half of the game as the Vanguard's crushed Orange 42-6.

Last year's queen, Cara McAllister, currently a student at the University of Arizona, took the throne for the last time before the formal entrance of the 1983-84 court.

Seated in Mercedes 380 SL convertibles, each candidate, Stephanie Boyce, Heather Jordan, Carrie Lucidi, Leslie McClaskey, Mary Nicolosi, Pam Payne, and Rita Santana, was escorted by her father from the cars onto the field as the crowd cheered and applauded each one.

Cara McAllister, clothed in regal attire, stepped to the microphone as the spectators grew silent and announced, "This year's 1983-1984 Homecoming Queen is Heather Jordan."

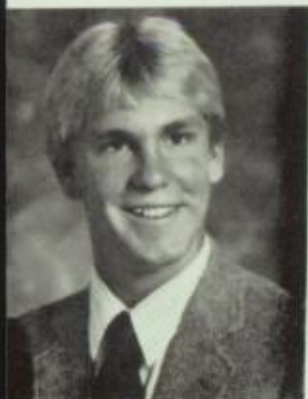

Fireworks burst out into the darkness as Heather was crowned queen. The crowd cheered for Heather then, oo-ed and ah-ed as they watched the fireworks in awe.

After the game, the Homecoming dance was held. Its theme was "Never Going to Let You Go," it was semi-formal, and featured the music of Matrix. The identity of the Homecoming King, Robert Foyle, was announced at the dance and he was crowned in front of a happy mob of dancers.

Congratulations, Queen Heather and King Robert! We will always remember Homecoming and the other good times of high school.

Seniors Transform El Modena into a Magic Kingdom

"Yo Ho, Yo Ho, a Vanguard life for me,
We go, we fight, we always win,
We sail across the sea.
And in the end we always win
a Vanguard victory.
So Yo Ho, Yo Ho, a Vanguard life for me."

Mickey and Minnie Mouse, the Pirates of the Caribbean, the Mouseketeers, and a cast of others became increasingly popular during Spirit Week.

"Elmoland, the Happiest Place on Earth" was the seniors' innovative theme.

Most seniors tossed aside their normal senior look to don costumes of favorite Disneyland Characters.

Hammers and nails and a lot of creative thinking turned the Quad area overnight into a miniature Disneyland, complete with Tom Sawyer's Island, Cinderella's Castle, and the Matterhorn. As always, the seniors came out victorious in the judging of Spirit Week.

Juniors in Pursuit of Excellence

In keeping with the spirit of the Olympic Games in 1984, the Junior Class displayed their version of the Pursuit of Excellence. Dressed to theme, track stars of today mixed with the flowing draperies of ancient Greece.

Chariot races were held at lunch, although the closest our El Mo got to the original was a wheelbarrow.

The Quad was also decorated true to the theme. The base of the flagpole was trimmed with white, red, and blue balloons. Colorful flags of the nations of the participating Olympic teams were displayed on the library walls facing the quad. Miniatures of Olympic playing areas were constructed — a track and field, an ice-skating rink, a swimming pool, and volleyball courts.

The torch is lit, Juniors! Let the games begin!

Sophomores Say “Surf’s Up”

“Surf’s Up!” The grassy area between the 400 and 500 buildings became 86th Street during Spirit Week, where the Sophomore Class spent the day catching the waves on everything from surfboards to inner tubes, and soaking up some good rays on bright bright towels and beach chairs.

Clad in swimsuits and shorts, the sophomores danced to the beat of the Beach Boys and other surfin’ favorites during lunch in the Quad.

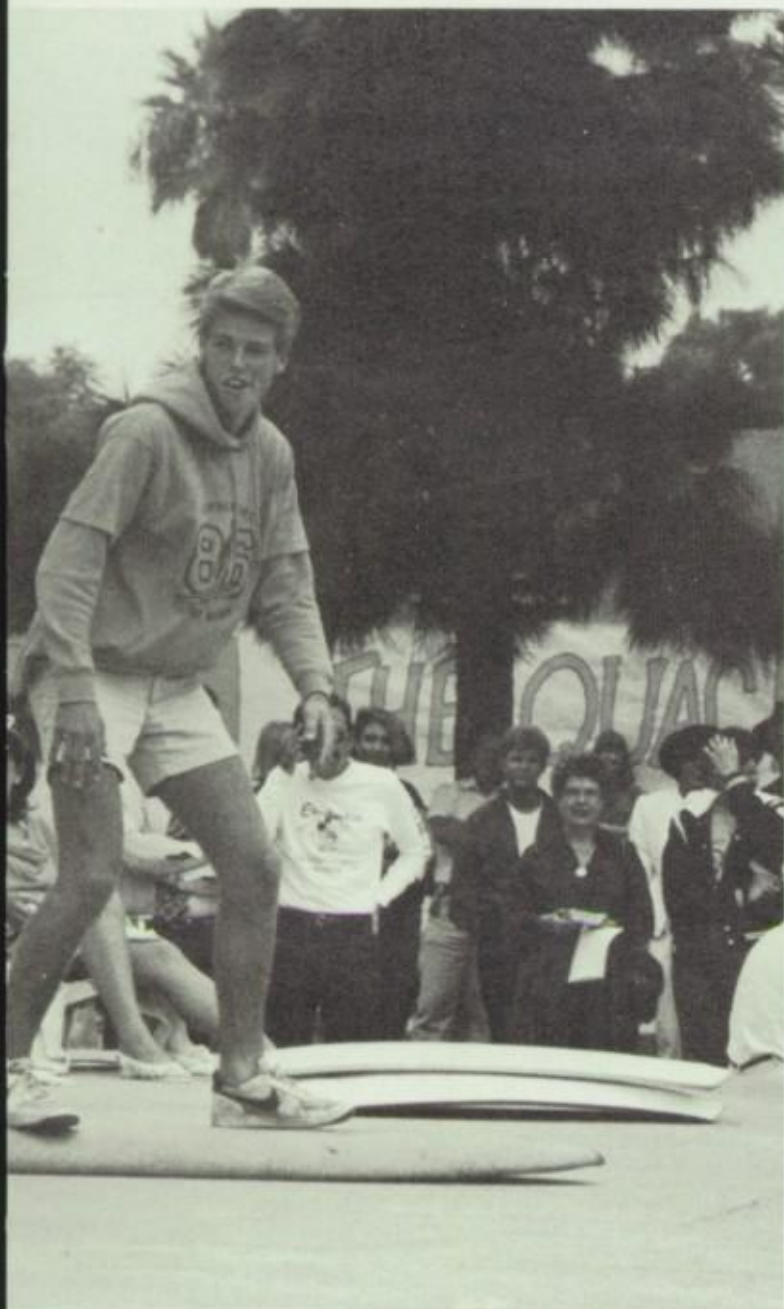

All the action took place during Spirit Week. The sophomore theme was “Sophomore Surf More.”

Varsity Cheer and Song Boosts El Mo Spirit

"We've got spirit! Yes, we do! We've got spirit! How 'bout you?"

The hand-clapping crowd participation at assemblies and games, led by the 1983-1984 Varsity Pep Squad, was proof of the pride that El Modena's student body had in their school!

This spirit was greatly encouraged by our enthusiastic song-and cheerleaders. Dedication and practice was evident through their many complicated and physically-demanding cheers.

Behind their jumps and yells and smiles was a hard-working team. In preparation for the coming year both song and cheer attended one week at camp in the summer learning new routines.

Aside from the squads extra hours of work, their practices were held during both period.

The 1983-1984 Varsity Cheer and Song Leaders, with the goals of promoting school spirit and encouraging our athletic teams to victory, represented El Modena in the best way possible. And we were all proud to have them represent our school.

J.V. and Sophomore Cheer Fire Up the Vanguards

"Vivacious" was the word that defines the 1983-1984 J.V. and Sophomore cheerleading squads. A highly talented, self-disciplined group, they fired more energy into El Mo's cheering section than ever in years past.

It's a lot harder than it looks," exclaims one of the squad. "It's hard getting the synchronization to click together. If you don't mess up, you feel really good when you pull off a great assembly."

The sophomores' routines were clever, original and varied, and these newcomers really showed a lot of promise.

The squad's dedicated efforts were well-received by the junior crowd.

Dedicated and hard-working, both squads are to be congratulated for a job well done.

Red Roses and Black Tuxedos Accent Coronation

Sleek black limousines rolled elegantly into the parking lot of the Disneyland Hotel on the night of January 7, the night of the El Modena Coronation Dance.

Silk, satin, and taffeta gowns glowed under the brilliant lights, as handsome gents in tuxedos escorted their dates to the grand ballroom, where tables gleamed with white cloths accented by a single red rose. The evening was highlighted by the crowning of Queen Jane Miller and King John Finn. The rest of the court consisted of Sabrina Aguilar, Liz LeDuc, Janette Smith, Kris Bergquist, Dana Thompson, Christy Bennett, Jeff Read, Jeff Emenaker, Rod Corn, Keith Vanderhoff, Mike Lasky and Paul Whalen.

The evening came alive with music from the Basics and dancing continued until 12:00. As the night came to a close, the slick black cars drove off, taking their passengers home from an evening that will not soon be forgotten.

Sweetheart Dance Inspires Romance

The flashing circles of light, the strong beams of strobe lights, and the intensity of the music made it seem that there was thunder and lightning inside the cafeteria as the Sweetheart Dance was underway.

A new type of dancing has become increasingly popular at El Modena's dances. Twisting and spinning on the dance floor is known as break dancing. The popularity of break dancing became increasingly apparent at the Sweetheart Dance as students crowded around in a circle to watch the dancers.

The cheerleaders did a great job at decorating the dance. They followed the theme, "Take Me to Heart," by decorating with colorful streamers and ornaments.

Traditionally, the Sweetheart Dance has a court for each class. Jim Henry and Jenny Henry were chosen king and queen for Senior Court. For Junior Court, Larry Nulph and Barbara Haupt were elected, and Bob Reitz and Kristy Jones were named king and queen of Sophomore Court.

As usual, there were as many sweethearts or couples at the dance as students who went stag, giving the crowd a good balance. The disc jockey played many popular songs such as "Heaven" by Bryan Adams, which added to the Sweetheart atmosphere.

Drama Department Has Guest for Dinner

It was another "Broadway" opening at El Modena when the Drama V students under the direction of Mrs. Maryina Herde, staged the witty comedy, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," the Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman smash hit.

Mrs. Herde and her dedicated students spent many hours after school to make sure that the opening show would be a rousing success. Backstage, actors and actresses transformed themselves into characters of the 1930's with colorful make-up, elaborate costuming and well-rehearsed lines.

Curtain time! The lights flashed, the curtain rose, the audience waited in anticipation, and the play began.

Mark Woollett was a proper curmudgeon as the obnoxious and devious Sheridan Whiteside, and Karen Farb and Phil Callas played the roles of the long-suffering couple saddled with an unwelcome house guest. Kristen Green played the part of Maggie, Whiteside's patient secretary, and Mike Hill was the love interest.

The rest of the large cast demonstrated good ensemble playing. With the end of the play and the curtain calls taken, the dazzled audience departed in awe, sure that many of these young performers may surely be seen on day on the real Broadway.

Dear Mary

Mary

Ever since you've learned to correctly pronounce my name and have overcome whatever shyness

it was that you had that kept you from communicating with me, I've really learned to enjoy your company. Our friendship means a great deal to me, believe me. I'll keep in touch. It's you I'm worried about (I know how you are w/ letter writing). This year wouldn't have been as much fun without you. Even though we had our ups & downs, going out with you was quite a treat! I hope we can see more of each other over the summer before I leave for that big University in the snow. Your door step may be desolate, but I'll still play the role of elf & cookie fairy in spirit!...

Maybe someday I can share with you some of my culinary skills. That way you won't waste half your life flipping cookies over in the oven.

Maybe too I can give you make-up lessons too (I wouldn't want you to make your premier appearance on Broadway w/ ton-o-blush on your nose). You still owe me a movie - Kris & I haven't forgotten that!...

Good luck always! Keep smiling if you are so cute! I love you this much!

Take care! Thanks for being the special person that you are!

The Way to Freedom Led by Children's Theater

Children's Musical Theater was founded three years ago as a means of showing some of the many artistic and theatrical talents of the students at El Mo.

This year's production was entitled "Freedom's Way." El Modena students wrote the script for the original play about the Constitution and the three branches of government of the United States. The 4th, 5th and 6th graders attending the play learned much about American democracy, but were also entertained with original songs and dance numbers. Actress Mariette Jones commented on the students by saying, "The kids are easy to please and are an appreciative audience!"

Love always, Kris (Page that is...)

Tall Flags Are Winners

A light morning mist covered El Modena's field as the Tall Flag team met for zero period.

The team along with its adviser, Mrs. Bowden, accompanied the El Mo marching band during practice, and they choreographed their routines to synchronize with the music.

During the football season at home games, they showed their routines to the spectators at the halftime.

The team entered competitions throughout the year. During the first semester, all of the competitions were field tournaments. In the fall semester, the Flags won first place at the Savana and Westminster field tournaments and took third at the Los Altos and Orange High tournaments.

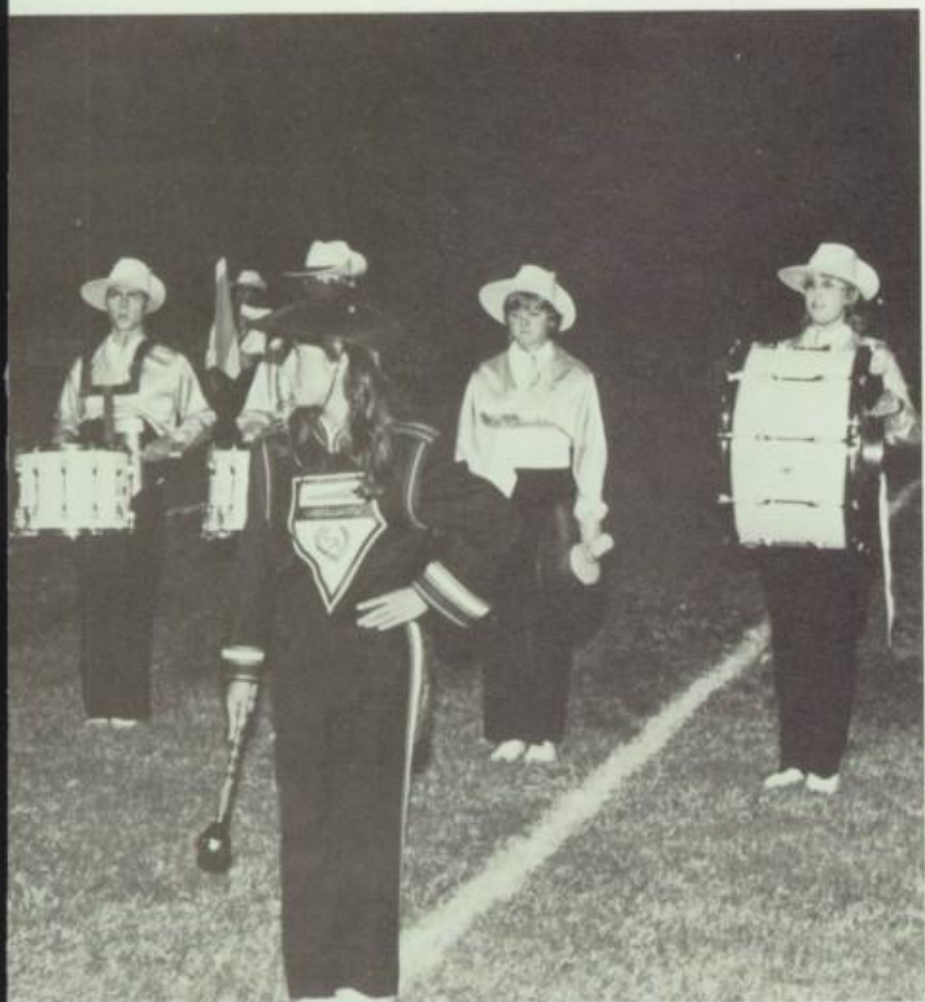

It's a great sight, as the flags twirl in the wind held by their proud carriers, the El Modena Tall Flag team.

Percussion Adds Pizzazz to Band

El Mo's Drumline, composed of a group of hard-core percussionists, was a major asset to this year's Marching Band. As a dedicated group of students, the Drumline began working on their field show two weeks before the start of school.

Their hard work and determination really showed at their many performances such as halftime shows, pep assemblies, parades, and field shows.

In field show competition, the Drumline never missed a beat by placing no lower than third. Among the many competitions the Drumline entered were the Orange High School Field Tournament and the Westminster High School Field Show.

As a whole, this year's Drumline was smaller than in years past, but it lacks in size, it more than makes up for in dedication.

Baton in hand, assistant Drum Major Irene Razo leads the drumline.

Instrumental Music

Scales to New Heights

This year's El Modena Concert Band was comprised of two groups: the Symphonic Band and the Wind Ensemble.

Both groups combined their efforts to perform in the annual Christmas concert, as well as at functions such as the Music Showcase and the dedication of the El Modena site.

The band also performed at Santiago and McPherson Junior High Schools and in the Valencia High School Music Festival.

The Vanguard Orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Greg Bowden, was made up of nine dedicated students who played violin, cello, and bass.

The class practiced very hard everyday for the annual Mount Miguel orchestra festival in San Diego.

This major music event brought together sixty-three orchestras from all over the United States to be rated by judges respected in the musical field.

The El Mo String Orchestra earned another very high rating, as they did the year before.

Mr. Bowden says this has been the very best year in the history of El Modena's string group.

El Modena's Stage Band brought back the nostalgic big band sounds of Tommy Dorsey, Duke Ellington, and Benny Goodman when they performed at the First Annual Sock Hop for El Modena parents in May.

As in the big bands of yesteryear, saxes, trombones, trumpets, piano, bass, and drums were used.

Other activities hosted by the Stage Band were a pizza night at Straw Hat and the Salt and Pepper Clinic where the band played for college students who critiqued their playing.

Music instructor Mr. Bowden makes a musical point with his baton.

Elite Choirs Sing in Harmony

Great talent, along with an excellent director, made El Modena's outstanding Concert Choir and Chamber Singers a proud group.

The vocalists were honored by many invitations to perform in concerts for the public, including the Candlelight Procession at Disneyland during the Christmas season. Their voices blending with hundreds of others created a magnificent atmosphere for the Christmas ceremony.

The Concert Choir excelled at the District Festival, and performed in May at the Orange County Music Educator's Association Festival.

"I'm really jazzed about the group!" exclaimed Choir Director Mr. Poole.

The Chamber Singers were also kept busy performing throughout the year. They took second place in the Great American Choral Festival, competing against their schools in their division from as far away as Arizona and Utah.

Singing for an audience of over 2,000 people, which included many celebrities, at the United Way Victory Dinner at Disneyland Hotel was one of the highlights of the year.

This spring, the El Modena group was also invited to the Chapman Chamber Festival, one of the most prestigious invitationals around, where only superior choral groups from high schools and colleges such as University of Southern California and Cal. State University at Long Beach perform for rating. El Modena performed well and scored very high.

The singers went on tour to Northern California in April. Performances were held for members of Congress and the legislature at the State Capitol in Sacramento.

Mr. Poole, affectionately called "Gumby" because of his odd stance while conducting, was pleased with the talent of this close-knit group.

The choirs gained much experience throughout the harmonious and fulfilled year. Congratulations, choirs! You've made El Modena proud.

Jazz and Women's Ensemble: High-Spirited Groups

To understand why the people of El Modena are extremely proud of the Women's Ensemble and Jazz Ensemble, one need only examine those things that set a performing group above the rest. They are the individuals involved in the group, the leadership qualities of the director, and most important, the quality of performance.

According to Mr. Poole, the director, it would be extremely difficult to find a more dedicated, high-spirited group of girls than those in the Women's Ensemble. Of course, the same can be said for the young men and women in Jazz Ensemble. It is hard to find a group more willing to show up before school to work on vocal performance and difficult choreography.

As for the quality of leadership involved with these groups, the rapport between Mr. Poole and his able assistant, Sheria Koepke, and their respective charges served as a sparkling example of understanding and camaraderie.

As one would expect, the two groups earned respectable placing in several important festivals.

The Women's Choir gave successful performances at the Moms and Pops and Christmas dances. In the future, more performances at El Modena High School and abroad are planned. Perhaps they will even attend a prestigious Palm Springs festival.

Says Mr. Poole, "I am very fortunate to have a group that will work so hard to be the best."

El Modena Musical Theater Presents “Funny Girl”

The Musical Cast's spring production was “Funny Girl,” based upon the life of singer and comedienne Fanny Brice.

With over twelve set changes, Mrs. Maryina Herde hired a professional choreographer for the musical numbers. She did not use the original story for the musical, but used a revised script, one more to her personal liking. Mariette Jones and Brett Adams played the leading roles. Beside appearing in the cast, El Mo students built and painted the sets and helped in the costume and makeup departments.

Mr. Greg Bowden and Mr. David Poole of the El Modena music department also played important roles in the musical. Mr. Bowden provided and conducted the orchestra needed for the musical, and Mr. Poole directed the singing. The musical cast was grateful for the participation and cooperation of these two gentlemen.

“Funny Girl” appeared May 16 through May 19, and proved to be yet another hit for this hard working, energetic, and talented group.

Escena Staff Triumphs in the Pursuit of Excellence

If you mention the name "Escena" to any El Modena student, don't be surprised at the puzzled expression that will undoubtedly appear across his or her face. Only a small number of students really know that "Escena", meaning "scenes" in Spanish, is the name of the school yearbook which seems to come from out of nowhere each June to grace our campus.

Few people realize the many hours of frustrating but also rewarding work that goes into the production of our two hundred and fifty-six page book, sixteen pages larger than last year's. They just see the finished product.

Actually, when the school year began in September, no one knew quite what to expect. Escena advisor Ms. Jacqueline Faas was new to the job, but was ready and willing to take on the awesome responsibility of guiding and teaching a staff of twenty with little or no experience.

What experience there was belonged to Editor-in-Chief Suzanne Christensen, a three-year veteran, and second-year returnees Mary Nicolosi in charge of the Seniors and Underclassmen; Kim Chandler, head of the Activities Section; and Jeff Jones, section editor of sports.

Photo Editor Craig Pengue had the difficult task of coordinating and shooting all the pictures so desperately needed to put the yearbook together. And of course, there would have been no yearbook without financial support through local advertisers organized by Jeff Read, our business manager.

As the year progressed, new staff members discovered how confusing designing layouts, cropping pictures, and writing copy would be. But nothing could compare with the anxiety and desperation caused by a deadline drawing near.

Ken Kamisako photographs Kelly McGinnis and Mike Lasky, "Most Likely to Take Home to Mom," while Suzanne Christensen and Mary Nicolosi supervise.

Celebrating Christmas vacation and a break from deadlines, the Escena staff happily stuffs cake in Ms. Faas' face.

Key staff members spent late hours after school, sometimes until midnight the night before a deadline, putting the much-needed final touches to layouts and copy so the deadline would be met.

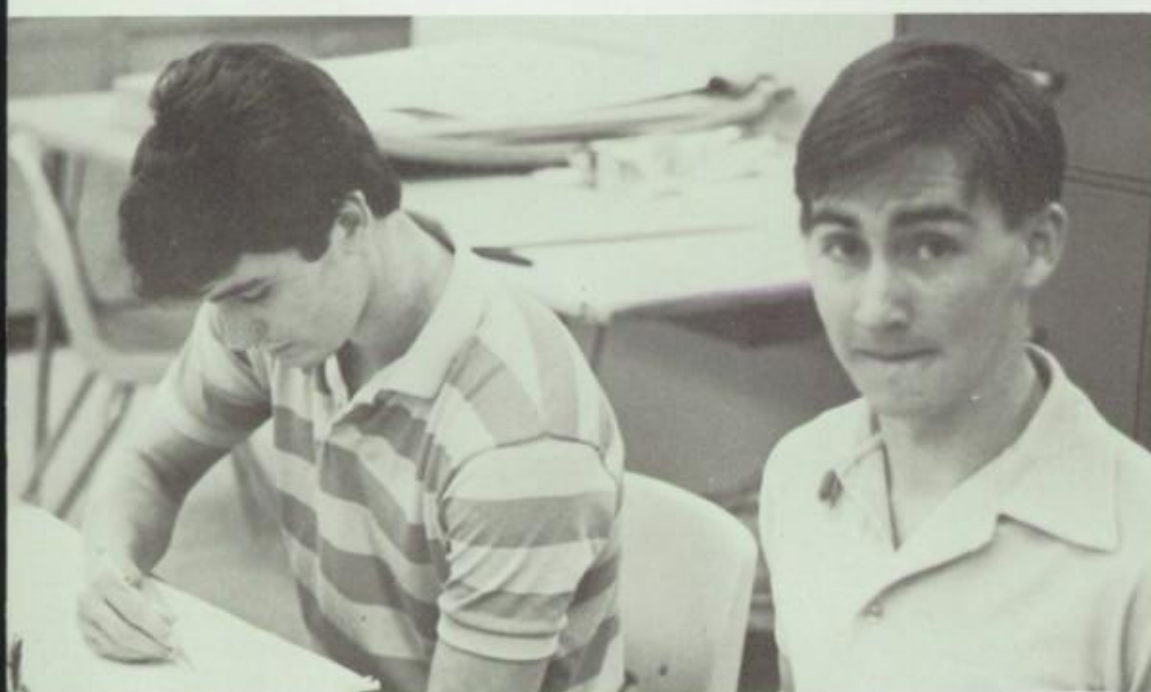

"Meeting deadlines wasn't too much fun, but when the proofs came back, seeing the finished pages in print made me very happy with what this year's staff had done. I hope everyone feels as good about this yearbook as I do," commented Editor Suzanne Christensen.

No yearbook, no matter how good it is, can please everyone, but when the Escena staff began the year, their goal was to produce the best book possible with the facilities and capabilities available. They added some attractive and innovative features to the layouts, such as the graphic lines running on each page and tried to design a good-looking cover.

Overcoming obstacles and accomplishing new ideas made the year clearly memorable for the staff members of the 1984 Escena. As the book is dedicated to the 1984 Olympics and to the "Pursuit of Excellence," the staff feels they have followed that example and learned much on the path toward their goal, the best yearbook El Modena has ever seen.

Exhausted and frustrated at selling ads, Jeff Read takes a breather.

Actually getting some work done, Jeff Jones and Robert Watson finish layouts.

The Vanguardian Joins the Technological Revolution

This year's Vanguardian can only be described in one term, "innovative." The newspaper staff of old was an overworked crew with too many things to do. Everything from selling ads to covering sports and student activities was left up to a class of less than 25 students.

This year the Journalism class entered the technological revolution with a donated Zenith Data Systems Computer/Word Processor with three disc drives and a dot matrix printer. Partially funded by the ASB, the staff then purchased a letter-perfect printer, which cut the work load in half. But instead of slowing down and taking it easy, the staff decided to put out two papers a month.

Jim and Jenny Henry were very helpful in that they were the only two who knew how to operate the computer, and they taught the other students how to use it.

The computer has cut the cost of each issue by $200.

The classes are headed by Adviser Mr. Janet Hayes and Editor Leslie Kushner. They can both attest to the enormous changes within the class.

Mrs. Hayes commented, "I am very pleased to have the computer and I thank Mr. Dokos for an extra period of journalism needed for students to perfect their skills.

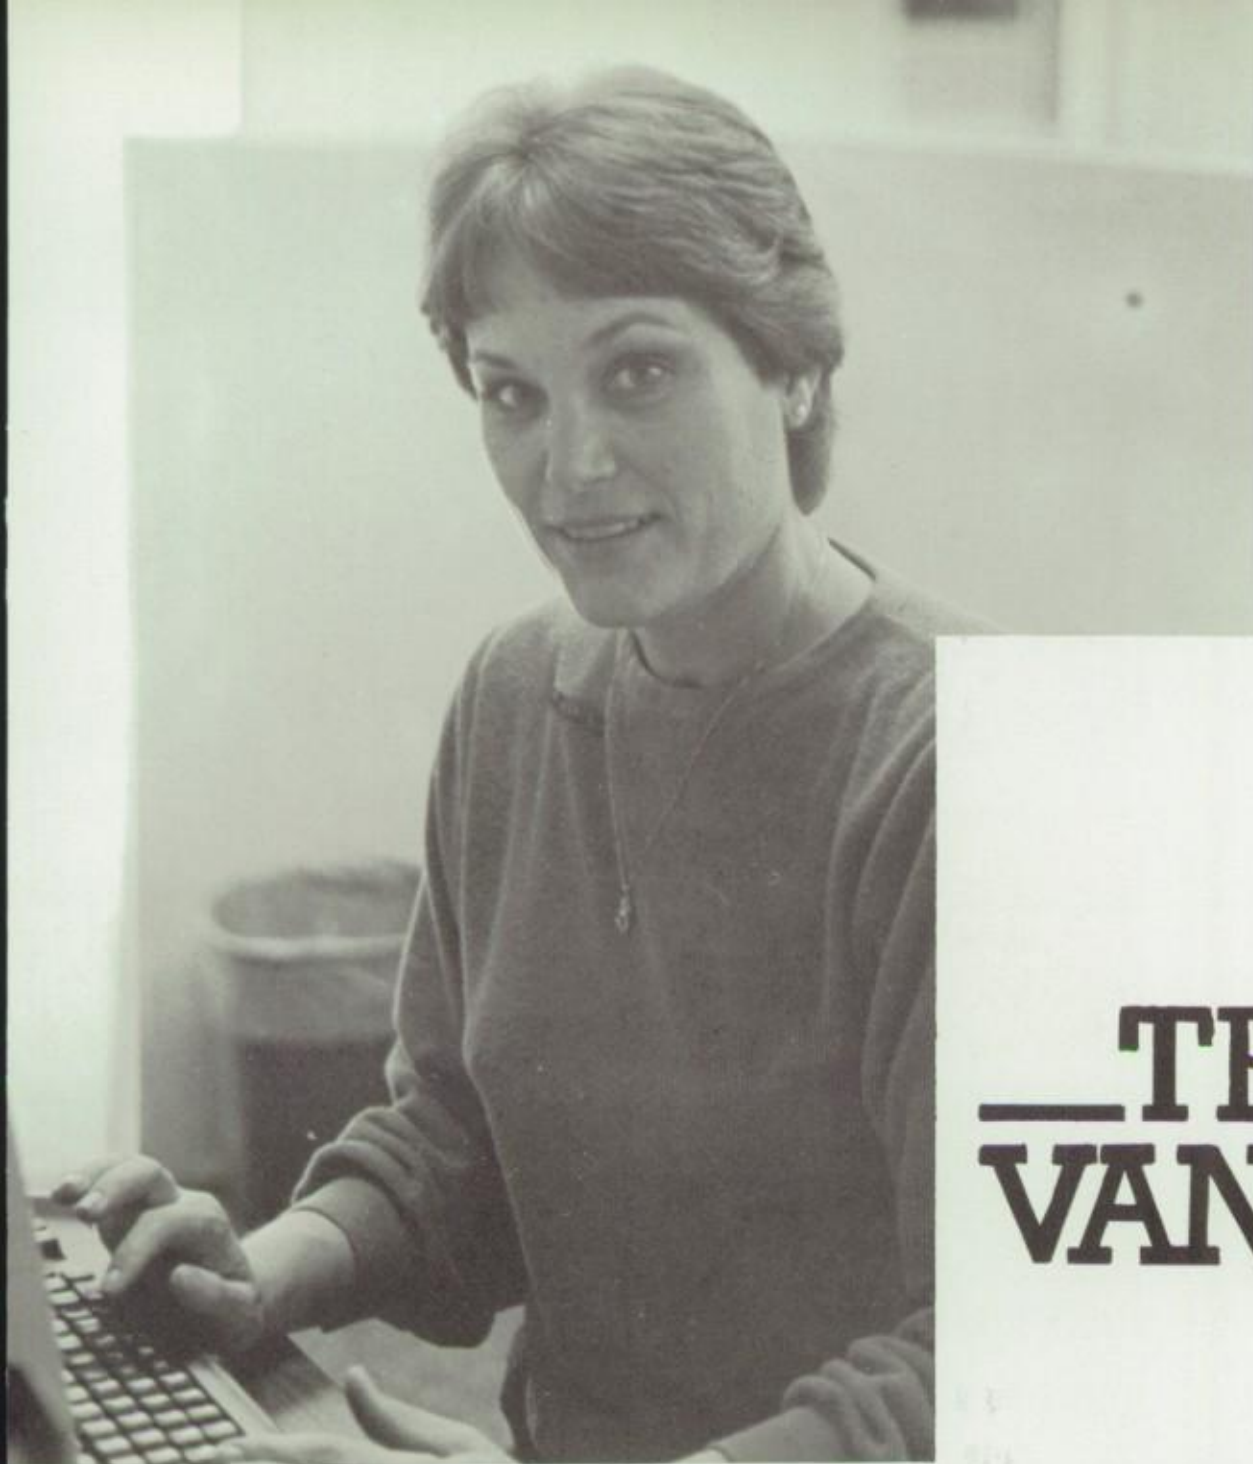

Leslie says, "We are totally changed. We have broken into two entire staffs, both of which put out one paper a month. It's a lot of hard work, but it's very rewarding."

Experimenting with the new computer, Jim Henry looks at the monitor.

THE VANGUARDIAN

A.S.B. Cabinet Improves Campus Environment

The primary function of the ASB Cabinet was to represent the student body.

ASB President Fred Whittingham was spokesman for the student body, and had the greatest power in the cabinet.

Cristin McAllister, who was ASB vice-president, took charge when Fred was absent. Cristin was also in charge of the Senate and she proclaimed herself as the official ASB "Gopher." She also coordinated all assemblies, excluding pep assemblies.

ASB Secretary Stephanie Boyce coordinated the Cabinet meetings. Stephanie also wrote thank-you notes and performed other secretarial duties.

ASB Treasurer Paul Whalen planned the budget and distributed funds to our school clubs.

The ASB cabinet developed a campus improvement plan that is supposed to be used over a five-year period.

Our ASB has made a more pleasurable atmosphere here at school.

Jenny Henry and Thuy Nguyen go over business pertaining to the Senior Class.

Governing Bodies Rule on Issues

The Supreme Court of El Modena was created for the purpose of interpreting the meaning of the school Constitution and to apply this to the cases presented for decision. The Supreme Court worked on two types of cases: judicial review, and cases concerning ASB business.

The Supreme Court was composed of seven justices. These justices were selected by the Student Cabinet, and their terms lasted through graduation from El Modena. The justices selected a Chief Justice to preside over meetings. Decisions were made by a majority vote, and the Supreme Court provided a check on the other two branches of government provided for by the Constitution.

Student Opinions Voiced Through C.A.S.C, S.A.C.B.E

Once a month in a major conference room at the District Office sits Betsy Robertson, representing El Modena High School in the California Association Student Council, county-wide organization.

This is the place where major policy is discussed, set into motion, voted upon, and presented to educators from local to state levels.

In the past, a CASC member from El Modena questioned the necessity of seniors attending PE classes. This question ultimately resulted in the California governor signing law the right of a school district to make attendance for seniors optional in PE classes, which had been mandatory up to then.

This year, CASC members discussed various proposals brought up by students of Orange County schools. Many of the ideas for school activities came from these CASC meetings, and were used on various occasions here on our campus.

El Mo students have every right to thank these hardworking students for their excellent effort.

If you ever thought that a closed campus was unfair, or that you wanted to voice your opinion about the 2.0 minimum GPA requirement to be able to participate in extra-curricular activities, or that you were dying to write your own absence notes after you turned 18; then El Mo's SACBE (Student Advisory Council to the Board of Education) Representative Barbara Haupt was the one to turn to. She was elected by the student body to hold this vital ASB office.

Barbara and her committee worked closely through the year with head district administrators and with students from Villa Park, Orange, Richland, and Canyon. Among their accomplishments were "Health Awareness Week," a volleyball tournament, OUSD Day, programs to reduce vandalism and energy costs, a major youth leadership conference, Youth in Government Day, passage of the 2.0 GPA requirement, and sharing ideas for dances and student activities.

N.H.S. and C.S.F. Acknowledge Student Leadership, Grades

National Honor Society is a nationwide organization which recognizes high school students who are outstanding, not only in scholarship, but in character, leadership and service.

All members must maintain an overall 3.5 grade point average throughout their school careers. The club also provides $250 scholarships to a graduating NHS senior every year.

California Scholastic Federation is another one of the two honor clubs on campus. In order to participate in this club, an overall 3.5 grade point average is necessary, and an application which is submitted and approved each semester.

Four memberships, one of which must be in the senior year, enables a student to become a life member. The student then becomes a seal bearer. CSF and NHS sponsor the Baccalaureate Tea, given to seniors and their families on the Sunday afternoon before graduation. Mr. Roy Grimshaw was the faculty adviser for NHS, while Mr. William Schertle was club sponsor for CSF.

Individuals' Efforts Receive Recognition

Two representatives from the junior class, a boy and a girl, are chosen from high schools all over California to participate in the annual Boys' and Girls' State convention held in Sacramento. Bobby Foyle and Stephanie Boyce were chosen by members of the faculty to represent El Modena during the summer of 1983.

The conventions for boys and girls are not concurrent: boys observed the governmental processes for the first eight days, followed by an eight-day period by the girls.

The groups were housed at Sacramento State College, and even the organization of the dorm reflected the structure of government. Each floor was a city, every four floors made up a county, and all floors constituted an imaginary state.

During this time, students simulated the various processes of state government and learned how our elected representatives function within the governmental structure.

Stephanie was elected mayor of her city. She said, "Girls' State was an experience that I'll remember and treasure the rest of my life. It was a time of growing and learning and something that I wish everyone at my age could have a chance to go through."

El Modena Shares Its Campus With Exchange Students

Have you ever dreamed of living for awhile in a foreign country? Carina Tordsson, Jose Luis Rice, and Carina Steggo did, by visiting the United States for one whole year.

They chose California and were placed in Orange, given host families and were registered at El Modena. "Families" of exchange students are volunteers who act as guardians for the duration of their stay here in the United States, and although students learn about life in America, the families learn from the students as well.

This year's exchange students at El Mo were Carina Tordsson from Sweden, Jose Rice from Mexico, and Carina Steggo from Sweden. After being placed in their required classes, they began their adventure.

Meeting friends was the first challenge. Going from class to class with people, meeting students in common classes, and living with their new families were easy ways to make lifelong friends.

Another challenge was to adapt to their new way of life. Eating habits, entertainment, and school routines were a few aspects of life the students had to adjust to.

After the friends were made and they became more familiar with the American way of life, it was all downhill from there. Going to a foreign country as an exchange student at a high school or as a visitor during summer vacation was a great way to learn about different cultures and making new friends.

The El Modena student body and faculty would like to thank Carina, Jose, and Carina for being a part of the year of 1983-1984!

Exchange Student from Sweden, Carina Tordsson.

Vanguardians:

After one year in Klippan High School in Sweden, I really thought I needed some change. Some of my friends had been over in the United States before and after hearing of their experiences I felt that was the thing for me to do.

I came here mostly to learn English and be an American teenager for a year. I was very excited, even though it was kind of sad to leave my family and all my friends for a whole year. The Monahan family was a very happy surprise for me and I am so glad to be their Swedish daughter. I also got two new brothers, Sean and Darren. Both of them have been great big brothers.

I selected my classes with the help of Mrs. Bridgman. I decided to take pretty easy but interesting classes because I do not get any credit for this year. One of the many things I liked about the school system is you can chose all your classes yourself and I think that made my schedule very easy.

The first semester I took all of the required classes. Now the second semester I had the opportunity to be in the ASB class and cooking class. Those were my favorite classes.

There are a lot of things I know I will remember for a long time about my senior year at El Mo. There is so much going on all the time on the campus. My favorites were spirit weekends and the dress up days. I am also on the swimming team, which I like very much.

I have been to many different places in the United States. My American family has taken me to several places.

In our Easter week, Carina and I are going to Hawaii, which we are looking forward to.

All of you who dream about going to a foreign country, I recommend it. Do not hesitate — do it, you will never regret it!

It is so much fun. You get experience traveling, friends and a lot more. I think I am very fortunate to have two awesome families, I wish we could have more time together. I hope we are going to see each other again, I know I am coming back, not to live here forever, but who knows? I would like to thank all the people at El Modena who helped me and made it a very enjoyable year!

Class of '84
Love,

Carina Tordsson

Exchange Student from Sweden, Carina Steggo.

Vanguardians:

My senior year here at El Mo has been a lot of fun and I am glad that I am a Count Quack fan and that we became CIF champions this year. El Mo is the best! I really like the school here even if it is a lot different than in Sweden. It has been fun to be a member of the ASB. I love your school spirit and all the fun things you do at school. Keep it going. It has been great to have been playing on the soccer Varsity team and to fight and play with the girls on the team and to go to the CIF kickoff and to have the two Gary's as coaches.

I like the way you can chose the classes you want to take and I guess that's why I took so easy classes and fun ones too. I love the California weather — to have summer all year around — but it feels kind of weird when you are used to having cold winters with a lot of snow. It was kind of different to celebrate Christmas without snow.

I hardly got homesick at all during Christmas, and it all depended on my great American family, the Montanos. They are great to me and treat me like their own daughter, and that is very important when you are away a year from your own family. It felt weird in the beginning to call them Mom and Dad, but now it feels natural. I have four sisters and brothers here. They are lovely and they really act like sisters and brothers.

I just love the TV and radio here and it's totally awesome compared to Sweden's two channels. I also love your beaches — they are wonderful! I have been to a lot of places here like San Francisco, Las Vegas, and at Easter Carina and I went to Hawaii.

The things I don't like is your fattening food, and I have strong evidence — my scale! I wish they could make nonfattening hamburgers and fries. That would be a dream for all the Swedes.

I wish that everybody that can or would want to go away for a school year as Exchange Student should go. It is the most fun thing that can happen. I will never forget my senior year at El Mo, 1984.

Seniors are best, El Mo is awesome! I will never forget my new friends here and my great American family, the Montanos.

Love always,

Carina Steggo

Exchange Student from Mexico, Jose Luis Rice

Vanguardians:

I think the United States is a nice place to live and have friends. My year in a foreign country was a nice opportunity for me to have new experiences with another kind of people.

The school here is quite different from Mexico; the schools are harder because each student must take thirteen classes and here only five.

I like El Mo because I have a lot of friends, but I can not be with them the whole day because we have to change classrooms. In Mexico we stay in the same classroom everyday and the teachers are the ones who change.

The food is another different thing here in the United States. Hamburgers and fries are very popular here but that is okay because I like them a lot, especially McDonalds.

I have visited many places here and I enjoyed every one. I have gone to Magic Mountain and Disneyland and a lot of nice shopping places. In Mazatlan where I live, these places are only in the big cities of Mexico. But here in the United States in order to go somewhere you must go far away from your house. In Mazatlan I can go on my bike to any place that I like.

I feel very close to my new family, the Leiningers, who are really nice to me. They have taken me out to the movies or fun places like miniature golf, and sometimes we go camping on weekends.

The thing I miss most is my daily trip to the beach in Mazatlan with my friends and flying a remote control plane.

I have enjoyed my year here at El Modena. I have picked up a lot of fun things which I have never done before. I like the music here like Van Halen, Def Leopard, and Quiet Riot. I also like the girls and dancing. My favorite is breaking and popping.

That's all folks,

Jose Luis Rice

Clubs

Art Council

The Art Council is a campus club devoted to fostering the arts by encouraging all interested students to participate in art activities.

Each year, the club sponsors an annual art sale the first Friday in December. The proceeds are used to buy department equipment and to provide scholarships and field trips.

This year, a new clay pug mill was added to the ceramics lab, and students attended the "Clay" exhibit at SAC as well as an art seminar at Chapman College.

One of the most unique and traditional activities was designing, producing, and selling of "Quack" pins.

Theresa Mather, president, was chosen Youth Artist of the month by "Arts and Activities," a national magazine, where her works will appear.

Keith Wong, club artist, was awarded a scholarship to the Laguna School of Art for his watercolor drawing in the "Color It Orange" student art show in March.

The club contributed many hours to art work for the school and community.

Backpacking Club

The Backpacking Club was organized to give students an opportunity to experience camping and backpacking in an organized manner, with trips to fit the needs of both beginners and experienced youngsters.

Trips were varied to offer many different types of terrain.

This year, the backpackers hit the trail in Morro Bay, several hit the trail in the Sierras, the Borrego Desert, Idlewild, and the Big Bear area. The sponsor of the club this year was Mr. Schultz. President: Paul Bradley.

Girls' League

Girls' League is one of the service organizations at El Modena High School, and all girls enrolled at El Modena are automatically members. The club sponsored many social activities throughout the year including: Date Dad, a dinner for the girls and their fathers, Winter Formal, Sadie Hawkins Dance, and a Mother-Daughter Tea in the spring.

Girls' League also sponsored fund raisers such as the Valentine's Day carnation sale. At the end of the year, the funds were used for college scholarships or for the purchase of a piece of equipment needed by the school.

The club's adviser this year was Mrs. Kathy Brunner.

Officers: President Dana Thompson, Vice-President Kim Rose, Secretary Cynthia Burns, Treasurer Christine Clougherty. Publicity: Kris Bergquist. Senior Rep.: Christi Bennett. Junior Rep.: Christy Sullivan. Sophomore Rep.: Jennie Murphy.

International Club

The International Club is a social club whose purpose is to broaden participating students exposure to foreign customs.

Supervised by Mr. Roy Grimshaw, the group visited exotic foreign restaurants and took advantage of every opportunity to observe various cultures of the world. The club had as its main goal the provision of a scholarship to a deserving senior at El Modena.

Key Club

Key Club is a boys' service club and is sponsored by Kiwanis Club of Orange-Suburbia. The name is an acronym for "Kiwanis Educating Youth."

The aim of the club is to serve the school and community in numerous ways. This year, the club has been very active. Members arranged for the dedication of El Modena's Xeriscape Garden and served refreshments at that function.

They participated in the March of Dimes Walk America and aided the Ladies' Professional Golf Association at their tournament in Costa Mesa. The club arranged for and supervised the annual blood drive at El Modena and handled VIP parking at Graduation.

Ski Club

This year, the Ski Club, affiliated with the Explorers Ski Club, focused on members' two vacation periods. The two groups spent Christmas in Utah for a week of fine skiing and planned an Easter trip to Steamboat Springs in Colorado.

The club stayed four days at the Hilton in Salt Lake City, Utah, about thirty-five minutes from the ski lifts at Snowbird, Alta, Park City, and Park City West.

The group, along with faculty adviser Mr. Steven Altman, took advantage of spring skiing at its best by setting off for Steamboat Springs during spring break.

President: Cristin MacAllister

Vice-President: Carina Steggo

Treasurer: Carrie Lucidi

Secretary: Christy Sullivan

Thespians

The Thespians continued their tradition of quality entertainment and hectic schedules in 1983-1984. The first major production of the year, under the direction of Mrs. Maryina Herde, was the 1930's comedy, "The Man Who Came To Dinner," by Kaufman and Hart. The Drama V workshop class once again combined entertainment with education in repertory style with several productions including assorted scenes from Shakespeare, and a collection of scenes directed by the students themselves.

For the third year, the award winning Children's Musical Theatre proved to be a success in education, entertaining and instructing elementary school students.

Despite an unexpected move of the El Modena Playhouse from room 504 to room 426, the Thespians took on the ambitious project of presenting a full-length play by William Shakespeare, "A Midsummer Nights Dream."

It's a Bummer for Guys When . . .

Your little sister has to tell you about the Facts of Life.

You ask a girl out and she refuses, saying she has to go to Bible study.

You go to a job interview and you can't remember your name.

You don't shave for a month in an attempt to grow a beard, and everyone tells you that your face is dirty.

You wax your car and the paint comes off.

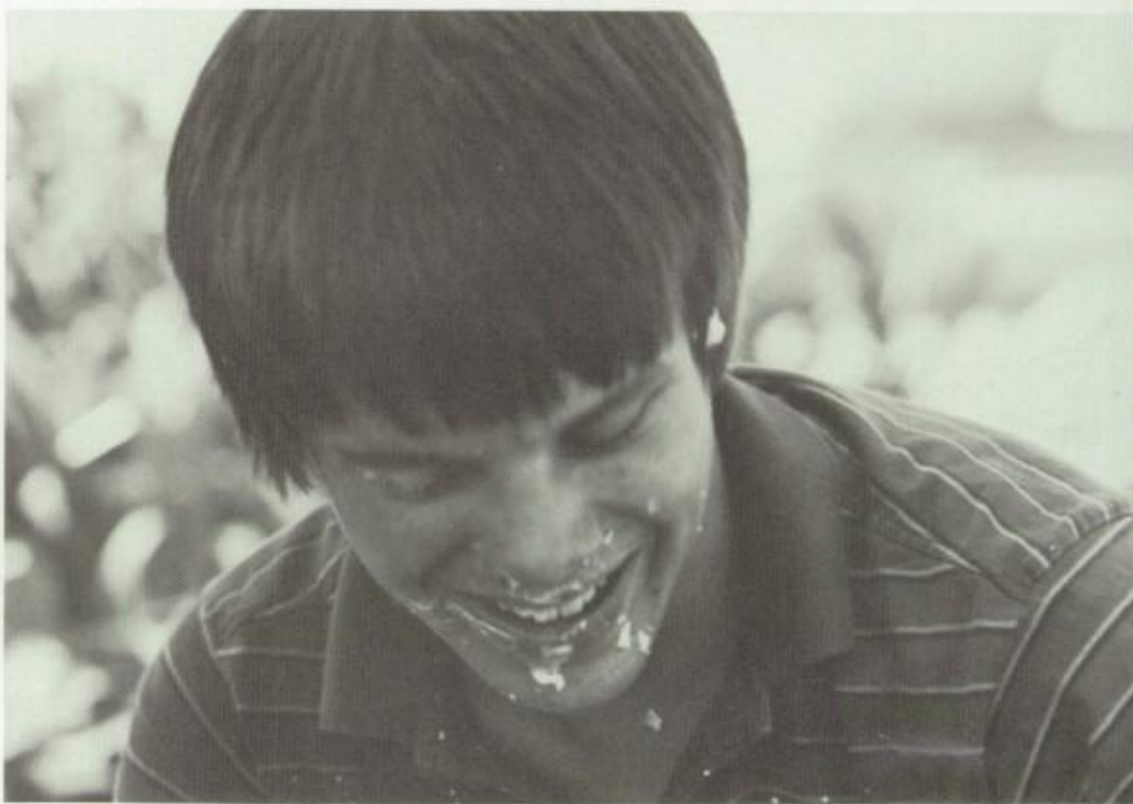

You try to impress a girl by doing a burnout in your truck and you crash into a tree.

You take a girl out on a date to an expensive restaurant and when the check comes, you don't have enough money to cover it.

You shoot your best basket of the basketball season in the wrong basket.

You think you've fixed your car and then it won't even start.

You take your girlfriend out to dinner and the waitress asks you if you're under twelve.

Robert Watson shows one of his many talents.

Typical El Mo student Jeff Walsh, pauses for a light snack.

Jennifer Griffith and Shaun Tompson attend classes in the parking lot.

It's a Bummer for Girls When . . .

You take the American History Achievement Test and you don't even know the name of the first President of the United States.

You send in ten college applications and the only acceptance letter comes from Santa Ana College.

Your mom calls your boyfriend by the wrong name (like your ex-boyfriend's).

You take home every book in your locker except the one you need.

Your best friend waits until the end of school to tell you that your skirt is completely see-through.

You ask your beautician to trim your hair, and she "trims" off six inches.

You are learning to snow ski, and for your first run your friends take you up to "Paranoid Flat."

You can't buy a bathing suit because you need a size 11 bottom and a size 3 top.

You are trying to diet and your dad decides to give you a ten-pound box of chocolates.

You're taking a test in history; the class is totally silent, and you get the hiccups.

El Modena Band Marches to First Place

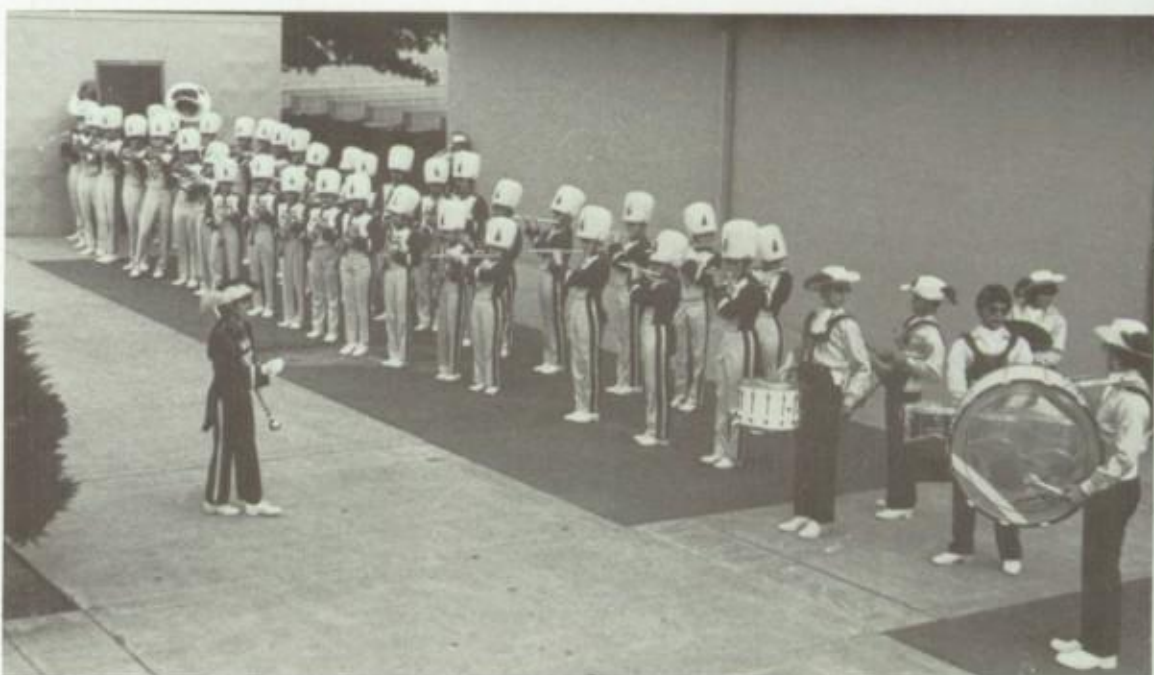

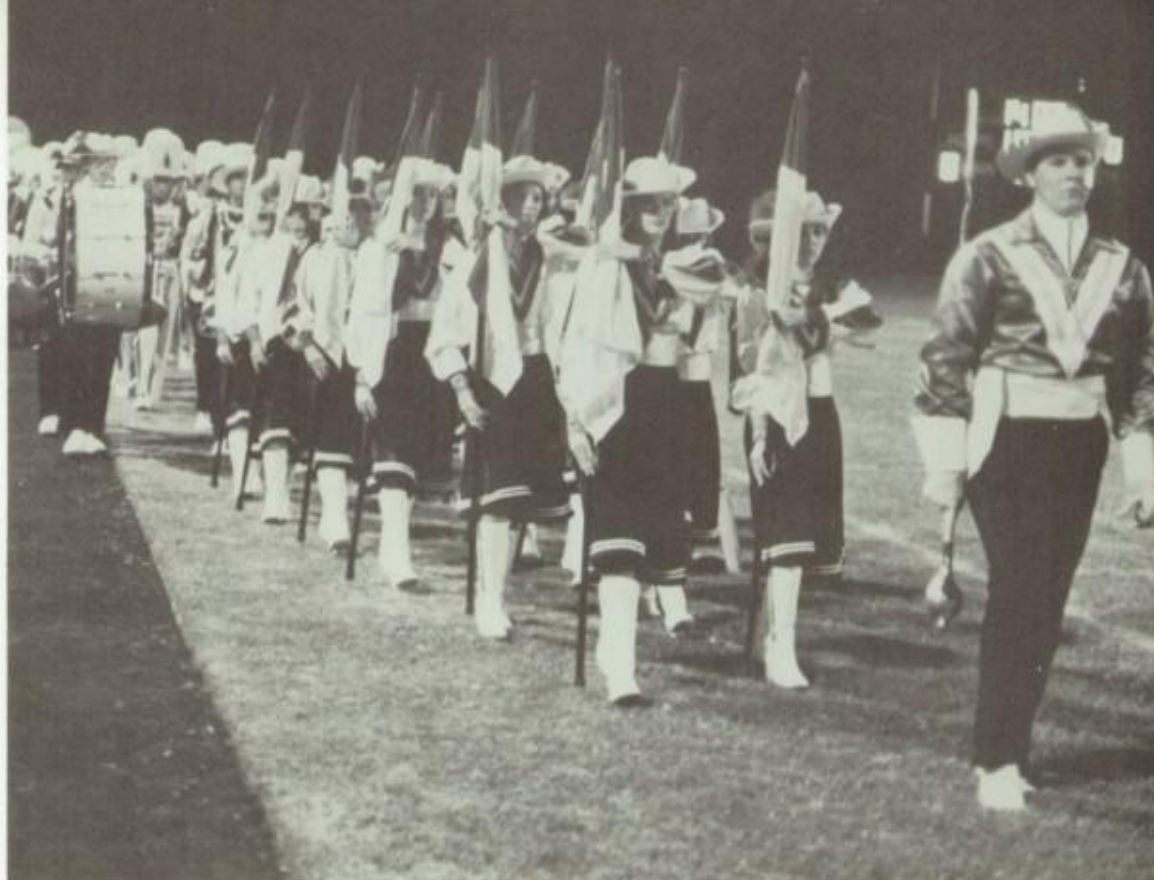

Everyday, the El Modena Marching Band was out practicing at 7:00 a.m. The zero period class was out on the field rain or shine, learning new marching patterns, routines, and music.

Drum Major Randy Driver says, "Most people don't realize the time it takes learning to play an instrument, perfecting the music, and marching in complicated patterns. This is not as easy a task as some people think."

All in all, sixty hours a week were put into learning the complicated marching patterns. Each week a new pattern for the Varsity football game was learned. The last pattern learned was added on to previous patterns to bring a fifteen-minute show for half-time.

Getting into the marching band is just as hard as staying in it. To belong, every band member must go through a "hell week" before the beginning of the year for the privilege of wearing their cardinal and the gold uniforms. They have to go through a six-hour schedule in the weeks before school begins in September, marching, learning music, and practicing their instruments.

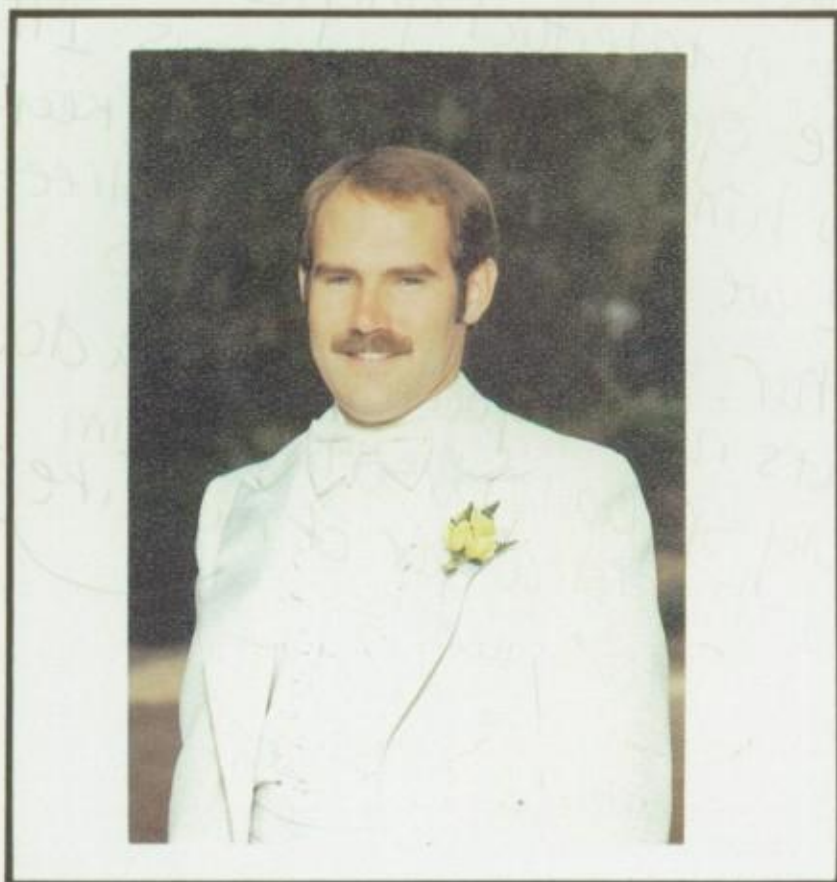

As well as playing at half-time, the band also participated in parades and field shows such as the Irvine Parade, the May Day parade in Orange, Orange High Field Tournament, and the Westminster Field Show. In both of these tournaments, they placed first. They also placed high in the Los Altos and Savanna shows.

Leading the band, Drum Major Randy Driver lowers his baton during a half-time performance.

The band pumps up the crowd for a victory at the Big A.

Mr. Bob Lester: Leader of the Quack

El Modena has been very lucky to have special people coaching the Vanguard football teams. For eighteen years, Coach Bob Lester and his assistant coaches have produced excellent teams, and over the years, they have led their teams to victory with over one hundred wins recorded.

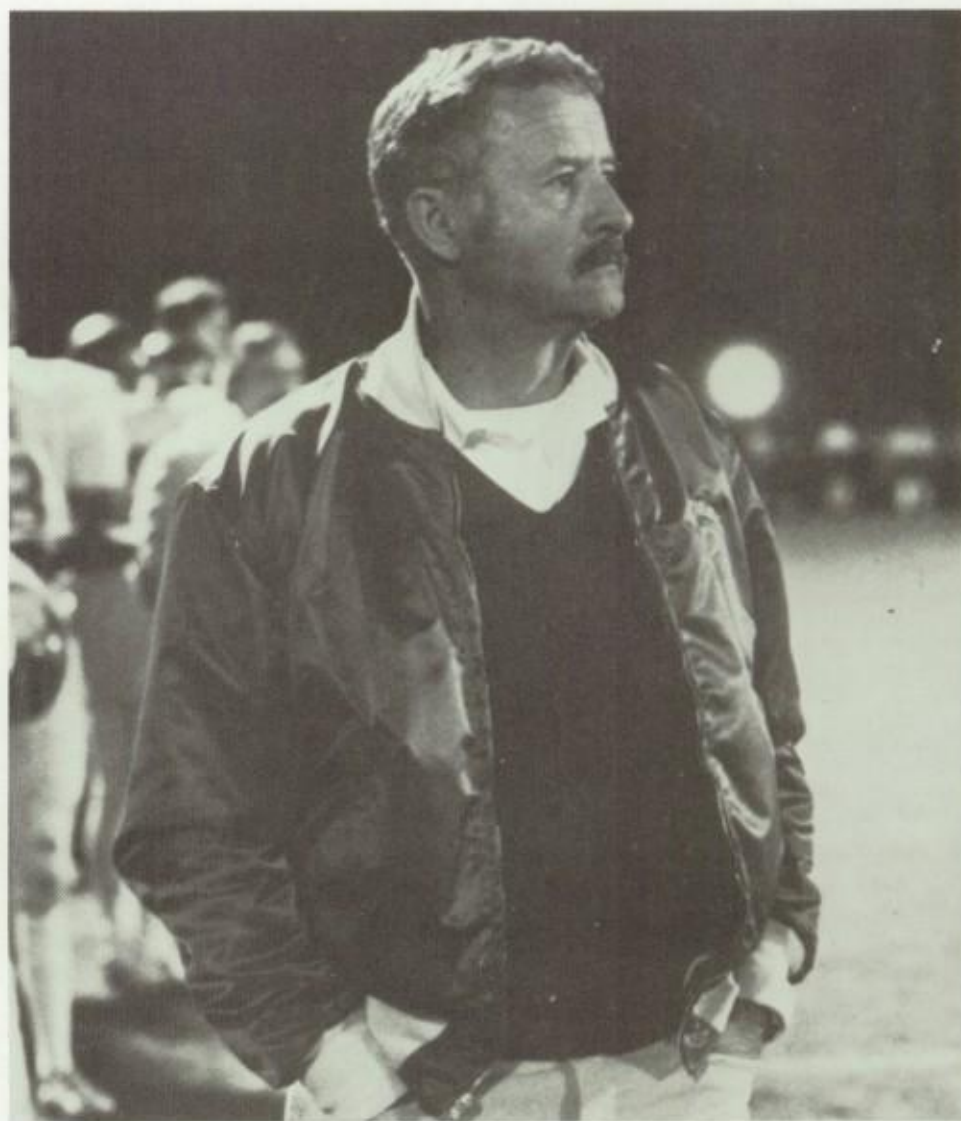

El Modena is like home to Coach Lester. "It's a good school to work at." He thinks he'd make a great millionaire without having to work, but he has no regrets about coaching here at El Modena.

Mr. Lester enjoys the coach-player relationships that are an essential part of the job. All his players are special to him.

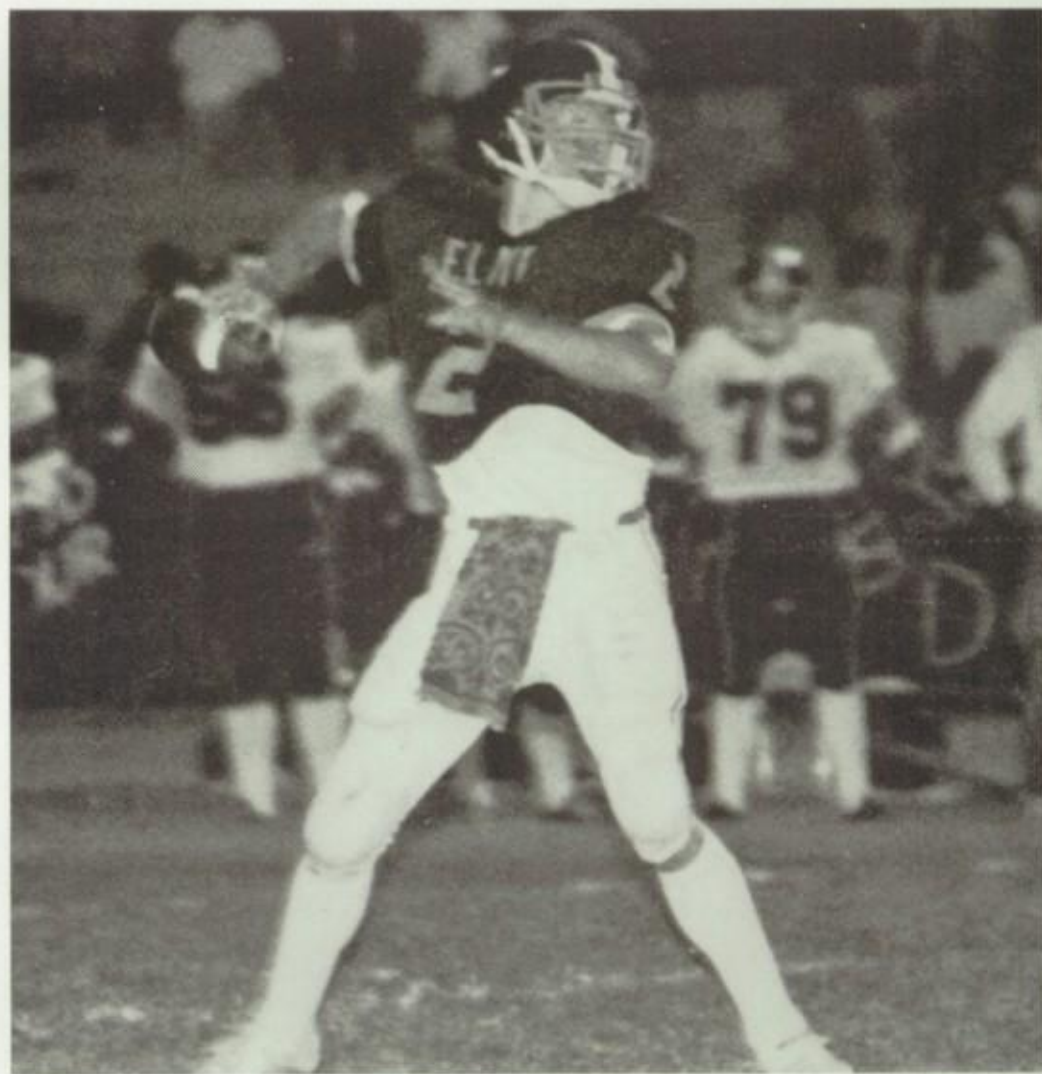

For the eighteen years Coach Lester has been at El Modena, his immediate goal for the Vanguards has always been to make it to the C.I.F. play-offs and win as many games as possible.

It was questionable that we would make it to the C.I.F. finals this year because so many defensive players graduated last year, leaving some big holes in the line. But, with a group of smart, hard-hitting players and dedicated staff, the team made up its mind that the only way to go was up, and that's the way they went.

A former U.S. Marine, Texas-born Lester likes to hunt and fish, he says in that wry, Southern drawl of his that he'll "probably die of old age on the 50-yard line!"

Cheerleaders lead the Vanguard team through the poster to boost their confidence.

Vanguards Rise to Familiar Heights

Once again, the El Modena Vanguards gave their faithful football fans a reason to be proud, ending another successful season with an outstanding record of 12-2.

Under the leadership of Coach Lester, they lost only one league game — to Santa Ana.

Early in the season, the Vanguards lost an excellent running back, Fred Whittingham, but they stayed together as a united team and smashed a clear path to the top of the conference at Angel Stadium. They clashed with the Foothill Knights for the second time in three years.

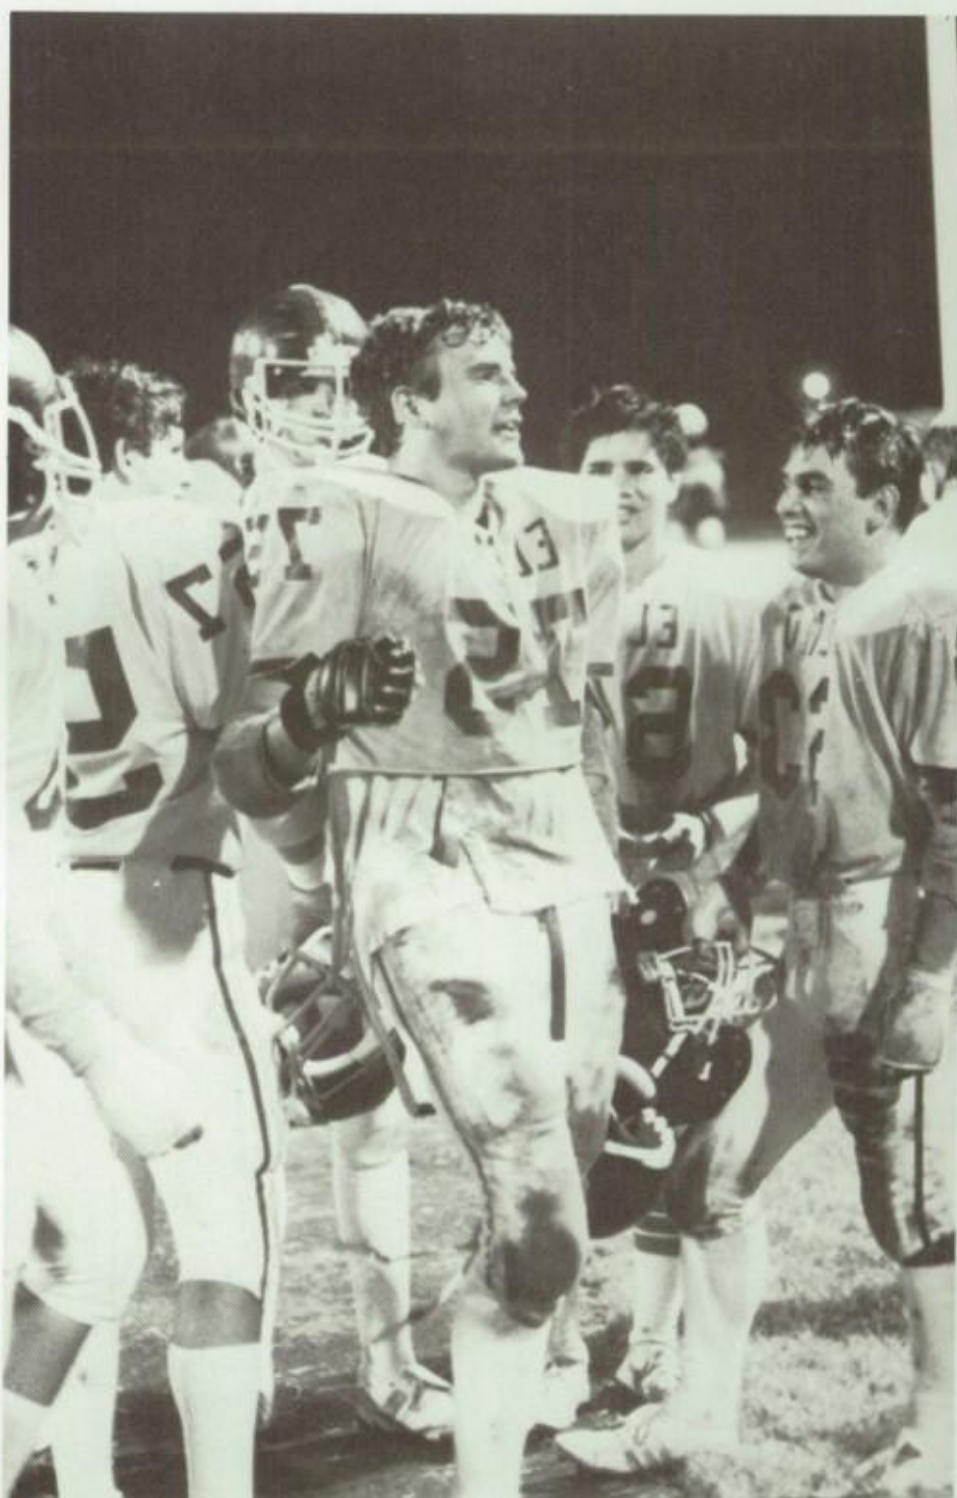

El Modena never gave up, and this year won the C.I.F. Championship. Although each player made his own individual contributions to the success of the team, there are some players who should be recognized for their special abilities. El Mo's powerhouse kicker, Keith Vanderhoff, saved the day many times with his amazingly accurate field kicking. On offensive team, Brett Johnson was outstanding as quarterback, Bob Foyle as lineman, and Dan Baytosh as a receiver.

Rod Corn was a valuable defensive back. Sean Sampson and Chris Scroggin were hard-hitting and aggressive as linebacker and defensive linemen. Named as Most Valuable Player was senior John Finn.

Anaheim Stadium — Home of the Champions!

Anaheim Stadium has become a second home to Coach Lester and his football teams! This year, after a month of intense practice, the Vanguard Varsity football team battled their way through a challenging season with only one goal in mind, and the preparations paid off.

On the first lap of their journey towards C.I.F. supremacy, the El Modena football team rolled over the Rowland High School defense, crushing it in a 42-21 victory.

Waging war on Warren High School, the team conquered the Bears by intimidating the entire offensive line, rendering them incapable of penetrating the strong El Modena defense.

On the last stop before the Big A, the Vanguards crushed the hopes of Los Altos by trampling them into the turf in a night the defeated Conquerors will not soon forget.

The Foothill Knights remained the last team to stand between El Modena and the title of C.I.F. Champions.

Under the dazzling lights of the Anaheim Stadium, both teams exhibited amazing skill, but the Vanguard talent, dedication, and determination simply overpowered the Knights.

As the enthusiastic crowd shouted encouragement, the invincible defensive team maintained a three-point advantage throughout the game, earning a well-deserved 10-7 victory.

Capturing the C.I.F. Championship title, the 1983-84 El Modena Vanguard football team continues the tradition of excellence started in 1978 with its first C.I.F. title.

Running into a mountain of defenders, Sean Sawyer manages to pick up a critical first down.

J.V. Football Faces Tough Competition

Young El Modena football players not participating in the Varsity games get a chance to show their skill and talent in the J.V. games on Saturdays, when they play against similar teams from other schools.

The J.V. team, coached by Mr. Tom Shine and Mr. Peter Parker, led the Vanguarders to a victorious season this year. The offense was led by the quick and skillful quarterback Eric Davenport.

They enjoyed their season and hope to be Varsity stars next year.

Sophomore Football Enjoys First Year

El Modena has the reputation of having one of the finest football teams in the Southern Conference.

But most people don't realize where the Varsity team's talent actually begins.

Our Sophomore team, not as highly recognized as the Varsity team, is where young players begin to mature. They play the same number of games as the Varsity team, and they run their defense and offense in the same way, in preparation for the years to come.

This year, our Sophomore team had a very good season, having a record of 6-3-1, which put them in third place. The Vanguard's offense was led by quarterback Chris Gallego, who liked to pass to his favorite receiver, Jeff Meger.

The Vanguard's again proved to be a strong and powerful team. The guys really liked playing on the Vanguard team for the first year, and hope to play on the Varsity squad next year.

"The Pack" Makes Tracks

"They have worked hard all year long," is the way Coach Tom Weber put it. "The boys really wanted to win."

The Boys' Varsity Cross Country team ended the season in third place with a record of 5-3, just short of a C.I.F. position.

Victor Valen was the one person to go to the C.I.F. Finals. Victor placed 13th in the county with a time of 15:49.00.

The Boys' Junior Varsity team also took a third place in the Century League, with a record of 7-2. "Both teams have done a really good job all season," Coach Weber said. "We only have four or five returning varsity runners, but we have done well."

Girls' X-Country is on the Move

"This team had done an excellent job all year," said Coach John Ahern. "This group of girls has the desire to win, and it shows," he added.

The Girls' Varsity Cross Country team finished in fourth place in the Century League with a 5-4 record, just short of C.I.F. position.

The Varsity team was almost completely carried by the top four runners, Toni Everts, Gaylen Ames, Lesley Franklin, and Liz LeDuc.

"The fifth position was a constant dogfight," Coach Ahern said. "We had a different fifth position runner every week."

The Girls' Junior Varsity Cross Country team finished the season in third place with a 6-2 record.

"We have a very young but hardworking team this year," said Coach Ahern. "The team finished the season in third place, but the girls have improved greatly since last year, although it does not show by their record."

Volleyball Dives for Victory

Sitting patiently on the sideline, coach Gary Edmonston watched the volleyball team win its first five games with ease.

The team was off to a good start with a superb offense and a strong upholding defense.

As the season continued, the team's motivation seemed to slip away and before they knew it, they were in the hole looking for that one win to put them ahead in the league standings.

It never came, but this did not stop the outstanding play of three El Mo athletes. Looking better than ever, Patricia Trumbo, Debbie Shifer and Trina Grove helped the Vanguard score and win.

Although the Varsity squad did not achieve the goal of being number one, the J.V. almost did. They were led by Most Valuable Player Angie Ashley, and the team worked together to put them in second place in their league.

All the girls enjoyed the season and look forward to coming back next year.

Water Polo Catches a Slow Current

Working without guidance and getting prepared for a very uncertain season, the El Modena Water Polo team practiced on their own, and although they played their first two games, they had to forfeit the matches because they had no official coach.

This did not discourage the team; instead, it motivated them to try to improve and have a successful season.

But having a troublesome start, the team lacked players and experience, and even with the arrival of coach Brian Gerold, the team ended up with a 4-6 season, which was not what the team was looking for.

All in all, the team enjoyed their season and hope to have a more successful one next year.

Girls' Tennis Nets Another Smashing Year

Aceing, smashing, and volleying their way to seven Century League victories, the El Modena Girls' Varsity tennis team under the guidance of Coach Art Green upheld the Vanguard tradition of athletic excellence.

The ten talented athletes making up the team earned a fourth place ranking, but this does not accurately reflect their dedication and determination to be triumphant.

Led by third-year varsity member Christine Clougherty, they wielded their tennis rackets with amazing skill, much to the frustration of their worthy opponents.

Although the team did not achieve their goal of C.I.F. supremacy, they anticipate a realization of this ambition next year.

Although they weathered a few setbacks resulting in a Century League record of four wins and ten losses, Coach Patti Clarke and her Junior Varsity tennis team remained optimistic throughout the season.

Comprised mostly of juniors, the young team gained a great deal of experience by means of afterschool scrimmages and late night practices. With each serve and every return, Most Valuable Player Thuy Nguyen and Most Improved Player Kim Appodaca displayed excellent sportsmanship by refusing to be discouraged.

The highly-spirited J.V. team eagerly awaits the coming of next year's tennis season.

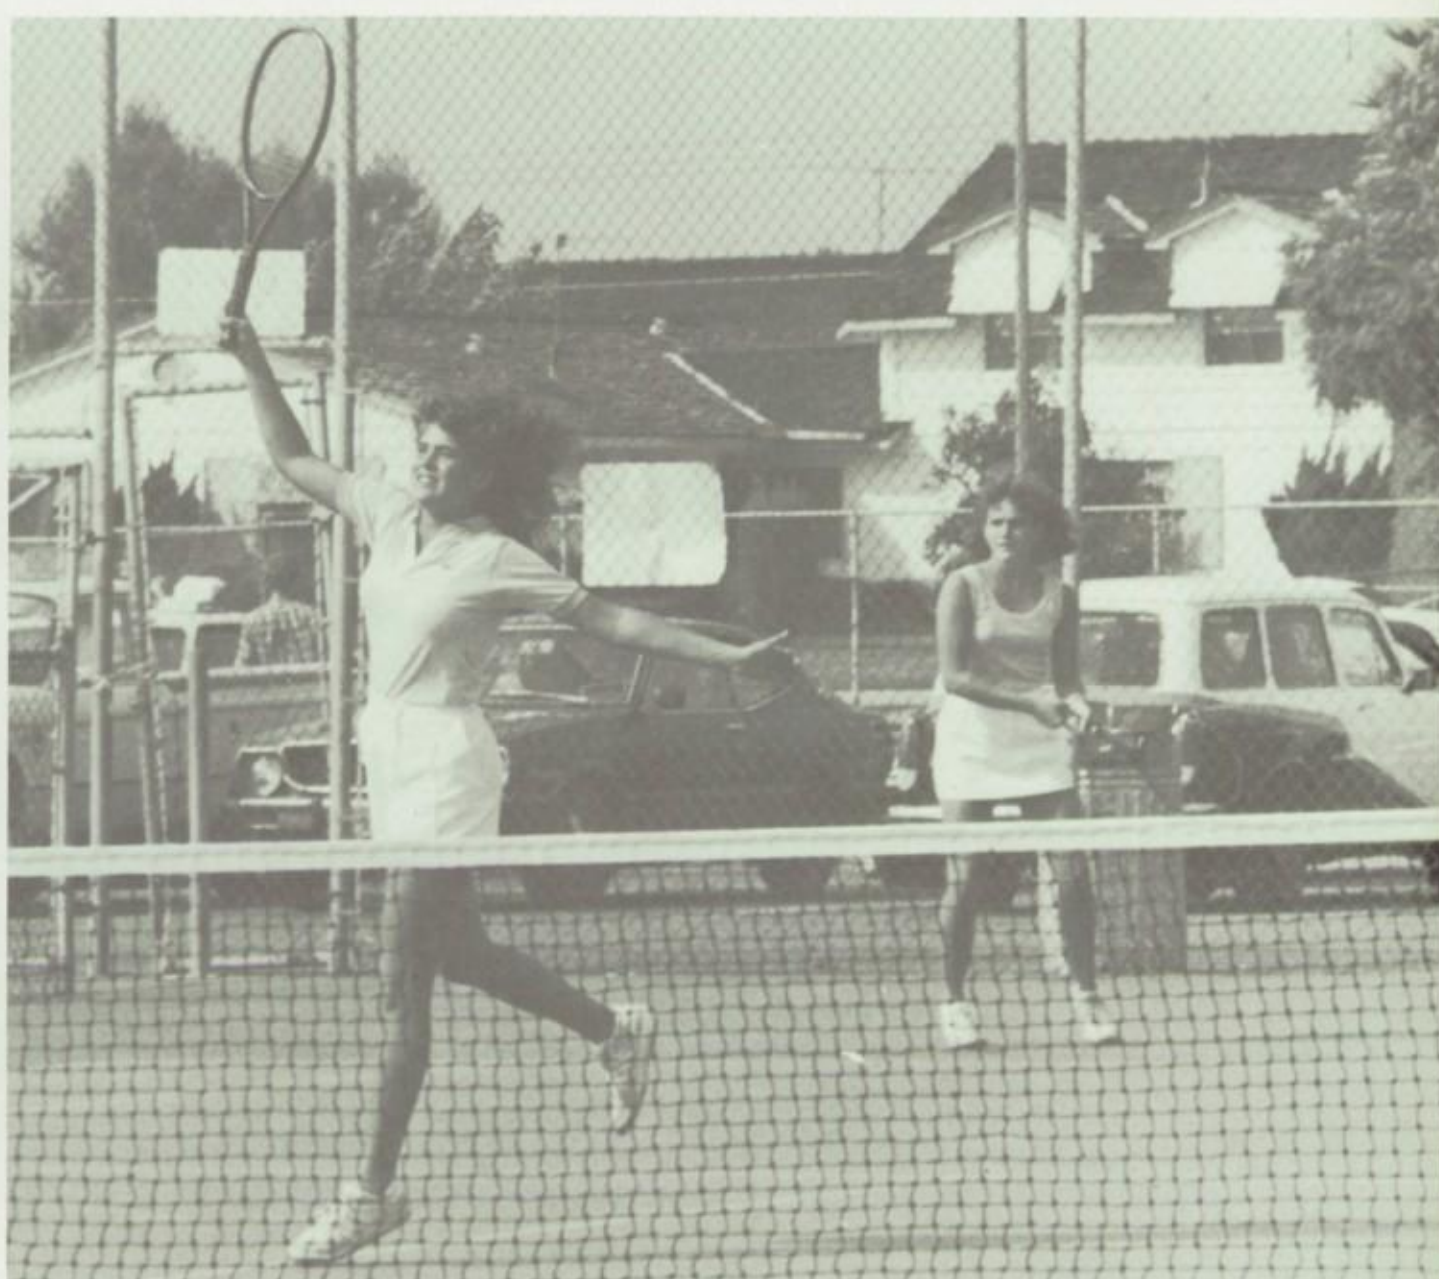

Through practice and vigorous training, they hope to acquire the skills and confidence that will get them to the top next year.

Girls' Varsity Softball Does Their Best

There are many stars on the Girls' Varsity Softball team, all players having at least one year's experience, and they all believe this is to be the best team we have ever had.

The girls play together exceptionally well and are capable of being a first place softball team. Coach Larry Cowden thinks they have the potential to be the winners of the 4A Championship. He says, "I believe in them; they are capable of being one of the best teams in the county."

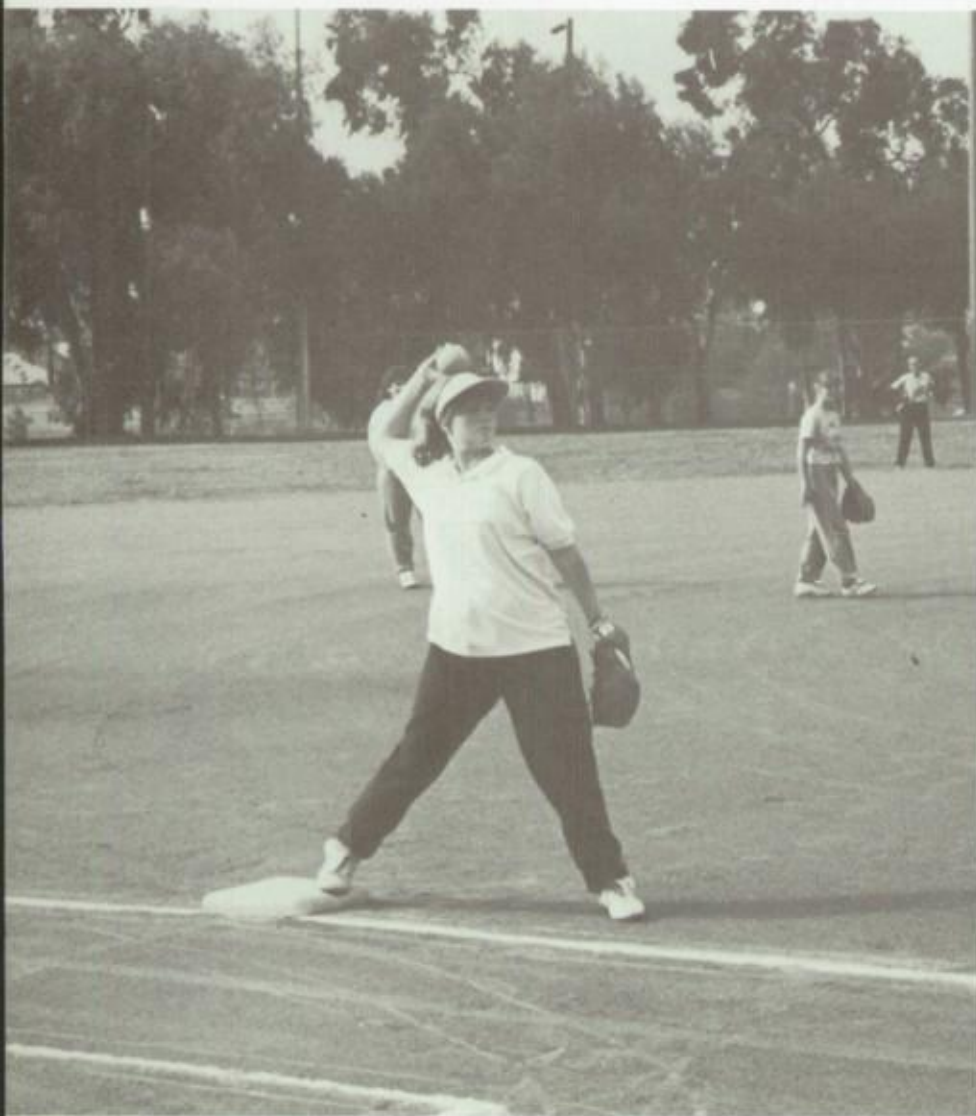

About a few of the outstanding players, the coach observed, "Debbie Shiffer, the senior shortstop, had two years of varsity experience and she was on the All League First Team in 1983. Jane Miller was an excellent senior first baseman, very easy to teach, and was on the All League Second Team in 1983. Jenny Henry was an all around athlete. She was the catcher and team leader. It was her second year on varsity."

Some juniors and sophomores who showed lots of promise were Kristi Jones and Lauri McRae, and Monica Reyes, the third baseman who had a special talent for that position.

The entire team had special talent and they were all winners.

Varsity Soccer is Goal-Oriented

The El Modena soccer team has had outstanding seasons throughout past years.

This year, our soccer team had a tough season, meeting a lot of competition, but they still showed the same class and skill as the years before. They were the finest organized team within the recent past, they worked together well, and they had a very good attitude towards the game. Offense was led by leading goal scorer Paul Bradley, a foreign exchange student from England.

The most important thing the Vanguarders had going for them was their outstanding defense, one of the finest around. Their coach, Mr. Jim Schultz, did an extraordinary job in putting together such a fine and young team.

The team had only four seniors, the balance made up of juniors and a few sophomores, who did an outstanding job during their first year. Senior Paul Bradley made the first team in the All-Century League, and sophomore Jeff Hardman made second team.

The J.V. Soccer team was quite a winning organization, made up of mainly sophomores and juniors.

This year, the J.V.'s became the finest team in the Century League. They lost only one game, which was to Tustin 2-1, but not withstanding that loss they showed the talent and skill of any soccer team El Modena has ever had.

Inexperienced and experienced players worked together to form a superb offense, one which was almost unstoppable. The team's leading scorers were Manuel Gomez and Brian Meyer, both juniors.

J.V. Coach Mr. Gary Meyer did an outstanding job and took his team to league championship.

Team members were glad they could prove that they were the best, and that El Modena always produces the finest of anything.

Girls' Soccer Kicks Its Way to C.I.F.

With eight returning veterans from last year's squad, the Girls' Varsity Soccer team and Head Coach Gary Edmonston expected a good year. "I knew we had potential to be League Champions and do very well in C.I.F.," commented Coach Edmonston.

With high optimism, the girls won their league opener against Foothill with a score of 3-2. The coach and team were surprised when they lost their next three games.

"During that part of the season, we were lacking a winning attitude and team unity. That's when I decided to make some changes," said Coach Edmonston.

Coach Edmonston decided to replace an improving Nikki Grodie with Terry Sehant. With this significant change, the team again destroyed rival Foothill with a score of 5-1.

The team was improving in every game with Team Captain Liz Le Duc and Becky Yurosko leading this new formation to a four-game winning streak against league opponents before entering C.I.F.

"They knew they had to win their last couple of games to enter C.I.F. as a third place team. I think at that point we were really a team," explained the coach.

With little to lose and so much to gain, the girls won their C.I.F. rounds against Long Beach, Wilson and La Quinta. In the quarter final, they defeated Simi Valley 4-3 in an exciting overtime game. Unfortunately, they lost to a tough Pacifica team in the Semi-final with a score of 2-1.

J.V. Soccer Goes Out Kicking

Entering the season, the Girls' J.V. Soccer Coach John Williams expected a good season from what he called an experienced team.

The girls did not disappoint him. They finished second in the C.I.F. finals, and had a great overall record of seven wins, three losses, and five ties.

Led by senior Libby Hoover and junior Tammy Swartz, the team opened their League effort with a tie against rival Foothill. But they defeated Foothill twice on their next two encounters.

Against a tough Villa Park team, the girls never got on track, as they lost two games and tied one to a tough Spartan team. No surprise to any one in the league, Tustin won the title.

The Tillers were undefeated against every league team except one team — El Modena.

"This year's team played with so much spirit and enthusiasm. They always gave 100 per cent to every game, and I expect to have a great season next year," said Coach Williams.

Varsity Boys' Basketball Tries Harder

The Boys' Varsity Basketball team has had a rough but outstanding season this year. Head Coach Bill Ervin was very pleased with his team. "The team has done its best all year," he said.

The five starting players on the team were Ryan Rycraw, Ernie Luna, Colin Moss, Jeff Emenaker, and Darren DeFeo. The player with the highest field goals was Colin Moss, who had a 42 percent average. Ernie Luna had the highest freethrow percentage with a 72. Jeff Emenaker had the highest average of total points with 15.4 and Colin Moss also had the high average for rebounds with a 7.7.

Jeff Emenaker was chosen to be on the first team of the 1983-84 All-Century League, and Ryan Rycraw and Ernie Luna made second team.

The J.V. team consisted of ten players, all of whom have done a great job. Outstanding players are Chris Blake, Erik Davenport, and Robert Ervin.

The Boys' Sophomore Basketball team won third place in the Century League. Jeff Blake, David Weitzl, and Corey Ahart are the leading talents. "The boys have done a great job. They have played very well," said Head Coach Steve Thompson.

It'll Come, It'll Come

"It'll come, it'll come," Coach Sue Baden reflected thoughtfully as a frustrated basketball player watched her shots bounce harmlessly off the rim.

Swish! The beautiful noise made by a basketball dropping cleanly through the net became the trademark of the Girls' Varsity basketball team. With only three returning Varsity players, Theresa Brown, Jenny Henry, and Vikki Nauss, compensated for lack of experience with raw talent and determination.

Every game, the Lady Vanguard's followed a certain style of play. Like Theseus through the Labyrinth, Theresa Brown, Tracy Dissmore and Jenny Henry maneuvered the ball around the defense into a scoring position.

Patiently working the offense, the team immediately took advantage of even the smallest opening to drive the key; whenever time required, Senior Jenny Henry launched the ball from outside the range of most players for another easy two points.

Tina Brown, Shelly Montgomery, and Vikki Nauss provided additional support with their excellent defensive positioning and coordinated passes.

This year, the performance of the J.V. Girls' basketball team was marked by great individual improvements and a fantastic team effort. Theresa Brown was chosen member of the first team of the All-Century League.

Although three of the team members graduated this year, the other nine girls will undoubtedly be valuable assets to next year's El Modena basketball program.

Boys' Tennis Nets Winning Results

El Modena's outstanding tennis team, headed by Coach Art Green and assisted by Coach Bill Backstrom, got off to a good start by having a slate of returning players ready to repeat last year's success on the courts.

Jeff Westover and Jerry Frantz were among the many returnees with plenty of talent and the will to win. These two have the honor of being El Mo's first tennis champions, having won the Century League Doubles Championship.

Huy Dao and Craig Mazzara, two outstanding seniors, and Darin Basset, a very capable junior, were returning team members who played well for El Modena last year. These three excellent players will be the base for El Modern's doubles teams.

Jose Rice and Caesar Estrada, both sophomores, were up-and-coming players who saw some varsity action this year also.

Awards were given in May when the season ended. MVP, highest points scorer, and most improved player were some of the awards given. League honors were also given at the end of the year.

Lunging for a forehand volley, Huy Dao skillfully returns the ball.

Stepping into a backhand, Toby Sharp releases a lethal shot.

Don Verluer show off the winning backhand that has won him many points.

While Don Verluer patiently waits, Peter Gasser hits down the alley with his powerful forehand.

Boys' Track Skips Through the Season

The Boys' Varsity Track team started the season very strongly. "The Varsity team did very well this year," said Head Track Coach Tom Weber.

The top senior and junior members on the team were Victor Valen and Scott Baker for distance, Vincent McDuffie and Ziad Khozam for shot put and discus, Jim Ruiz for high jump, and Sean Sawyer and Peter Godoy for the long jump.

"We had a young varsity team with many new members," Coach Weber said. "Throughout the season they continued to improve."

The team finished third in the Century League.

"The track team for next year should be very good, because a majority of the members will be returning," he added. "All of the track coaches are looking forward to next year's season."

Sean Sawyer prepares for the long jump.

Randy Neubrand finishes a very tough 440 yard dash at Loara.

Cary Honda leaps high to clear the bar.

Jeff Jones, Robert Watson, and Rick Romero warm up for practice.

An Ngo takes the lead in the 330 hurdles.

Junior Varsity and Sophomore Teams Show Their Talent

The Boys' Junior Varsity Track team ended the year with a 8-1 record. "The Junior Varsity team has done an outstanding job this season," Coach Tom Weber said.

A few of the top J.V. team members were Jon Casamiquela and Fred Whittingham for sprints, An Ngo for hurdles, and Tony Fitzgerald for distance.

"The Sophomore team completed the season with a third place finish in the Century League. The most outstanding members of the team were Bob Reitz for hurdles, David Granger and Bob Ervin and Todd Lawson for distance, and Mark Mason and Brian Lagaras for sprints.

Top performers in the jumping events included Humberto Benitez and Joey Aesquivel. Top weight men were Don Gibson, shot put; and Joe Jezek, distance.

"These boys on the sophomore team have really done a great job," Coach Weber said, "and have had an outstanding season."

Girls' Track Fights Until the End

The Girls' Track Team had two main reasons for its success this year: its excellent coaching, and its talented athletes. With the coaching of Mr. John Ahern and Kevin Smith, there were many talented athletes who had a good chance to go to C.I.F.

In the sprint events, the team had returning C.I.F. contenders in Gaylen Ames in the 110 Hurdles and Liz Le Duc in the 400. Both of them had high hopes to make State.

In the distance events, Tony Everts and Robin Strauss did a tremendous job. The field event was anchored by many fine athletes including Cindy Thompson, who gave an excellent performance.

The Girls' Track Team showed some definite changes in number and in strength. With a large increase in team members from last year, Coach Ahern saw success a way of life for the female Vanguardians. "A lot of our talented people were juniors and sophomores. This year we had a large sophomore class and they were all talented." Coach Ahern expects an even more successful season next year.

Racing neck and neck, Gaylen Ames and Tony Everts lead the pack.

Varsity track runner Shannon Spellacy pushes toward the finish line.

The girls' track team finds time to goof around between meets.

Showing winning form, Lorraine Mata and Jerry McLean compete in the hurdles.

Gaylen Ames outdistances competitors in the 110 hurdles.

Boys' Swim for Victory

While most Vanguards lay snuggled comfortably in their beds, the eleven members of the Boys' Varsity Swim Team dashed quickly across the cold cement, flung their towels carelessly aside and dove effortlessly into the warm, steam-covered pool for their early morning practice.

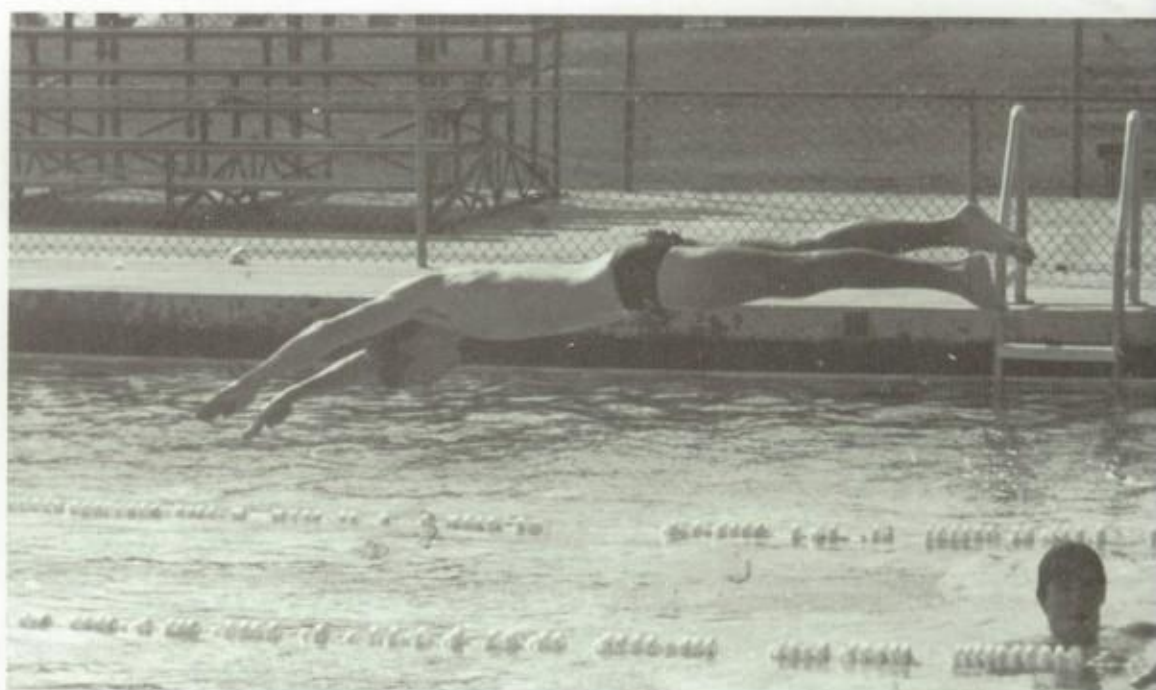

Coach Ian Haskins ran excitedly around the pool yelling instructions and suggesting improvements in technique in preparation for the upcoming meets.

Led by the only returning Varsity member, senior Jeff Read, the team was young and inexperienced, but had high expectations. Jeff said, "In individual swims, we did really well, but we just didn't have the numbers."

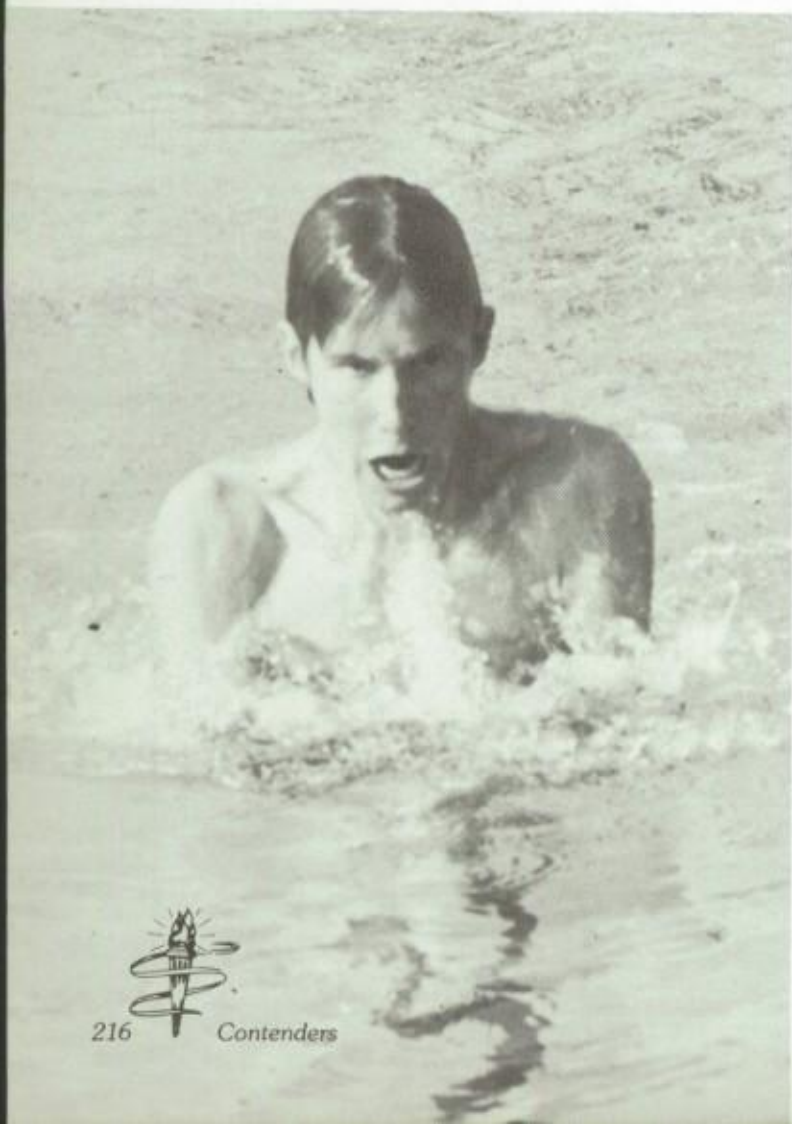

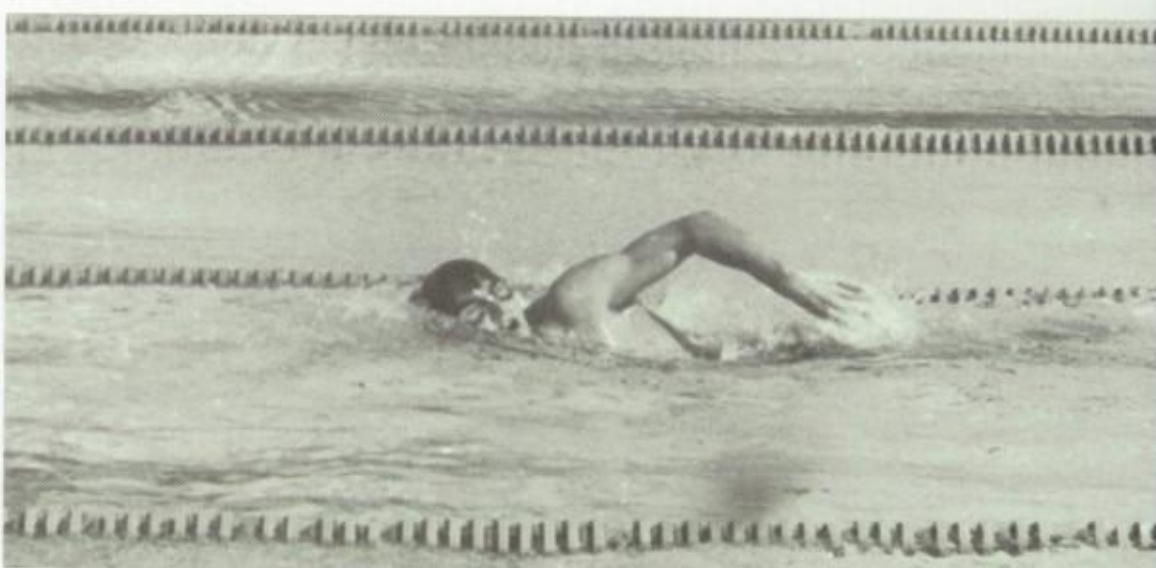

In early morning sessions, Rod Paldi practices freestyles.

Jeff Read perfects his starting dive.

Girls' Swimming Splashes to the Top

Tiffany Wardwell continues the race as her teammate signals for her to dive in the relay.

Wet hair, red eyes and soggy towels have become part of the daily routine for the dedicated members of this year's Girls' Swim Team.

Spending endless hours perfecting their strokes, the Lady Vanguarders, coached by Miss Michelle Bialek anticipated a challenging season.

The individual swims were excellent, but as a team they were not as effective because they had strong adversaries such as The Foothill Knights and the Tustin Tillers.

As the gun goes off, backstroker Jeanine Clasen begins her race.

Showing the correct breaststroke form, Jeanine Clasen comes in for a finishing win.

Vanguard Sluggers Slide Into Season

The El Modena Varsity Baseball team had a tough preseason start this year, and the results of the games were disappointing. Early in the year they entered the Tustin tournament and came in fifth place, winning two out of three games. They pulled together and performed well throughout the rest of the season.

The superb pitching staff consisted of Keith Radcliffe, Oliver Vasquez, and Jim Henry, and they had many outstanding hitters such as Mike Leone, Joey Ledesma, and Kenny Luna. Coaches Larry Bjork and Don Mott enjoyed coaching a very gifted team.

Clarence Hicks, sets up to catch anything that comes his way.

After hitting a double, Kenny Luna attempts to steal third base.

Looking high into the sky, Caesar Madrid keeps his eye on the ball and makes a perfect catch.

Sophomores and J.V. Combine Skills

The El Modena Junior Varsity Baseball team got off to a brilliant start this year winning their first five out of five pre-season games.

The team performed magnificently due to the pitching talents of Bobby Olson, Chris Gallego, and Jon Roberts.

The J.V. team also has some very good power hitters such as Dion Espinoza, Craig Boch, and Caesar Madrid. The team put a good deal of time into this season and are glad that their hard work paid off.

The sophomores did extremely well this season. They also had good players, among them Edmundo Villela, who pitched many outstanding games. The power hitters of this squad were Corey Ahart, Steve Sewell, and Grant Grable. Coach Steve Ledesma enjoyed coaching a good group of boys and looks forward to coaching the sophomore team next year.

A Year of Winners and Losers

Take a glance at the top news events that intrigued a troubled world.

The world's news events piled on top of each other with amazing speed during the year of 1983. Many of us were not really aware of the problems plaguing our nation and abroad. To most, problems at home and in school seemed to be enough to fill our minds.

But the world did revolve, and the school year began with the shooting down of Korean Airliner 007, a passenger plane headed for Seoul, by a Soviet fighter. Then on an early Sunday morning in October, as U.S. Marines on a peace keeping mission in Lebanon quietly slept, a truck laden with dynamite crashed into their quarters, killing 241. For the U.S. Armed Forces, it was the worst disaster since the end of the Vietnam war.

Other headline makers followed: The U.S. Marines were sent to Grenada to free American medical students. Astronaut Sally Ride became the first American woman in space. Controversial Secretary of Interior James Watt resigned from President Reagan's Cabinet. Scandal caused a shake-up within the Environmental Protection Agency. Killer Dan White's release from prison to live in Los Angeles caused a major outcry from concerned citizens. El Niño brought strange weather to the entire nation. War continued between Iraq and Iran with Iran threatening to cut off oil shipping by closing the Straits of Hormuz. The national deficit hit amazing heights, although unemployment was reduced. The economy came out of recession. Education was under fire by critics as SAT scores went down in California. Lech Walesa won the Nobel Peace Prize for 1983. The Space Shuttle Challenger proved to be more successful than anticipated. The AIDs epidemic came under scrutiny by the U.S. Public Health Service. Martin Luther King's birthday was made a national holiday. Vanessa Williams became the first black Miss America. MTV pushed video rock, creating a musical revolution. Cal Tech students sabotaged the scoreboard during the Rose Bowl in Pasadena. And finally, Congress and Reagan ordered the withdrawal of the U.S. Marines from Beirut to ships stationed off the coast of Lebanon. Democrats geared up to select a candidate for the November elections.

From the Oval Office in Washington, D.C. to the Soviet Capital in Moscow, world tragedies as well as triumphs made the year most memorable.

Graduation Day

Today we'll start a new life,
And we'll say our last goodbyes
To all the friends we've grown to love,
With whom we've laughed and cried.
Remembering the fun and laughter,
The problems and the fears,
And watching all our memories grow
Throughout our high school years.
The memories of the dances,
And the new friends that we've met,
Vacations, teachers, talking,
And exams we'd rather forget.
Yes, high school days are precious
but brief,
Where all your dreams come true;
It is not the end, but the beginning
Of a life we'll start anew.

Dear Readers,

As you look through this section, please take notice of the businesses who so graciously supported El Modena High School's Escena. Without the continued support of these fine businessmen and women, it is doubtful if the yearbook could continue.

When the need arises, please patronize these businesses and tell them you saw their advertisement in the El Modena yearbook, or just say "thank you" from El Modena. Either way, let them know we appreciate them.

Thank you,

To the Class of 1984

Can you say, as did William Allen White, "I am not afraid of tomorrow, for I have seen yesterday and I love today?"

In many ways, our world has become a large, impersonal society that has taken the attitude that there is no solution.

May that not be your attitude! Your generation has been called to communicate real leadership.

Take the challenge and perform . . .

Our Yearbook in Review

When I think back to my senior year of high school, I know one word will come to mind immediately, yearbook.

My goal was to make this yearbook one of the best El Modena had ever seen. But I soon learned not everyone shared my determination or interest. At first I could not understand people's lack of caring or sense of responsibility. I began to feel my main job was to nag until the work got done.

Then I remembered something my oldest brother, a former high school newspaper editor, had told me: "You can only expect from your staff as much as you expect from yourself." I was giving my best effort possible and I didn't expect anything less from anyone else!

I would especially like to thank Mary Nicolosi for her indispensable help. She worked so hard, but most of all, I would like to thank her for being my best friend.

Other thank yous go to Craig Pengue for his talent, Ken Kamisako and Jeff Read for their help and friendship, Bob Stephenson, and my adviser Ms. Jacqueline Faas for her guidance and support. I would like to thank my close friends and family, especially my Mom, for being so patient.

I am proud of this book and am proud to be able to say I was Editor-in-Chief of my high school yearbook.

Suzanne Christensen

"Wow!" And Brian said, "There's nothing to it." Working for last year's photo editor Brian Walker during my junior year inspired me to work hard so that I might become photo editor my senior year.

When I was appointed photo editor I was very pleased, but somewhat apprehensive because of the tremendous task and responsibility I was undertaking.

As the year began, responsibilities became more demanding. I often found myself questioning my own ability but with the support of editor-in-chief Suzanne Christensen and adviser Ms. Jacqueline Faas I was able to accomplish the many difficult tasks.

I would like to express my appreciation and thanks to the key members of my photography staff; Frank Prado, An Ngo, Ken Kamisako, Joe Elston, Antony Freeman, Roger Manning, and Chris Schwartz. Their giving of time and effort has contributed the photos for what I feel is the greatest Escena ever.

Our thanks go out to Albert and James for their continual supply of film and processing.

And last but not least, my thanks to my Mom and Dad, family and friends for their support and encouragement.

Dear Mikey,

What can I say? I'm rollin', It's been a blast, the kind, high to that, we're havin' some fun, let's leave, well..., this is it!
This group would have been awfully boring if you hadn't been here.
You are an extremely talented, versatile person - the kind of person that should not be surprised to get a call from an aspiring director at USC to help with a film project! Congratulations on all of your well deserved awards and honors, and let's keep in touch, huh?
God Speed! Friends always, Darryl (DJ) Johnson

Michell

I have been totally mad know what you had there!
so don't get tense and keep in touch and damn it! eat your vegetables - because High Ball takes healthy bones! SHIT MAN - The Core
Love Ya Good
Good
Brown

Mike —

Boy - I Love you so much! I really don't know what to write —

I remember N.Y. I wanted to fully scam with you right then —
Your "binaca finger" was so awesome!
so was your tongue —

I remember the Milford Plaza stairs untill 6:00 am — you were so cool! I loved my dogie card I gave you — what did you think of me when I did that —

We've been through a whole lot together this year and believe it or not it has all been worth it and

I loved almost every minute of it.
we're going to have many great times to come through the years —

Remember I love you very much
& I always will.

Ang. your girlfriend
